LONDON (UP)—Seven U.S. airmen were plucked from the sea in "good condition" today within hours after ditching their KC-97 Flying Tanker plane 95 miles east of the Azores.

SIR WINSTON TO RETIRE IN 3 YEARS?

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Herald says Sir Winston Churchill plans to retire from the House of Commons at the end of the present parliament. Parliament has another three years to run. By then Churchill will be 85.

FIRST SURGERY

Prince Charles Loses Tonsils In Operation

LONDON (UP)—Prince Charles underwent his first surgery—for removal of his tonsils and adenoids—in a specially built operating room at Buckingham Palace today. Two renowned surgeons, an anesthetist and four nurses took part in the operation on the eight-year-old prince, while Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh waited nearby. A medical bulletin afterward said Charles' condition was "very satisfactory." But he will have to spend at least a week in bed recuperating, palace sources said. As is customary in Royal matters, there was no advance announcement that the young heir to the throne was undergoing surgery.

$10,000 Given Safety Council Drive By B.C.

The provincial government will contribute $10,000 to a B.C. Safety Council campaign this year. The money was pledged by Attorney-General Robert Bonner after a four-man delegation from the council conferred with him Wednesday. The council plans to spend $30,000 on promoting traffic safety this year. This is the first time it has received a direct government contribution.

UN Chief's Secret Talks Aimed at Averting War

CONVICTS JOIN BATTLE AGAINST FOREST FIRES

BOSTON (UP)—Convicts joined firefighters today in a battle against runaway forest fires which have seared thousands of acres in parched New England.

The 48 prisoners joined National Guardsmen, firemen and volunteers in the fight as New England mobilized for the worst forest fire peril since 1947, when woodland blazes leveled more than 1,000 homes and killed 16 persons.

A state of emergency was declared in Massachusetts where, a state official predicted, "all hell will break loose" today. (See also page 8.)

Teamsters' Boss Linked With Big Beer Franchise

Brewery Official Charges Beck Used Pressure to Swing Deal

WASHINGTON (UP)—A brewery official said today Dave Beck used his power as a teamster union leader to get a mammoth Budweiser beer distributorship for his son, Dave, Jr.

The official, general counsel Dwight D. Ingamells of Anheuser-Busch, Inc. of St. Louis, testified before the Senate subcommittee which is investigating Beck's financial activities.

The distributorship was described as the company's largest in area covered—much of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. Beck was said to have arranged for his son to be put in charge of it. The committee produced documents in which officials of the brewery pictured husky Dave Beck, Jr., as "an overgrown spoiled boy" whose indulgent father demanded that he get $1,000 a month plus a nickel a case on all Budweiser sold in Alaska.

Ingamells told the committee that Beck's power in the Teamsters' Union "certainly had something to do" with the fact that Beck, Jr., got distribution rights for Budweiser in the northwest area and Alaska. Ingamells said a majority of the brewery's 8,000 to 10,000 workers are members of Beck's union. He said company files showed that the elder Beck carried on most of the negotiations which won the far-ranging distributorship for K & L Beverage Co. of Seattle, a firm in which Beck junior was a stockholder, vice-president, and later president. The elder Beck helped finance K & L but was not listed as one of its officials.

Committee investigator Pierre Salinger read documents from Anheuser-Busch files, including an inter-office memo in which one brewery official told another that the firm had already given Beck and his firm "more territory than anyone else in the United States."

GIVES UP LEAF

Conny Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, today turned over control of the Maple Leaf Hockey Club to his son, Stafford, and a committee of six others. Smythe said he would sign the players, coach and manager to contracts in order to hand over to the committee a complete team on or before Sept. 1.

Food Prices Probe Promised By Tory Chief

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said today that if his party is elected June 10 the government will set up a royal commission to investigate price spreads on farm products.

In a statement issued aboard his campaign train, Mr. Diefenbaker said the royal commission would be asked to provide consumers with "full and complete information" on what happens to food prices between the farm and table.

He said farmers now receive a little more than 50 per cent of what is paid by consumers for food products, compared with a 58 per cent share a few years ago.

The promise to establish a royal commission was a major point in a summary of Conservative agricultural policy issued by Mr. Diefenbaker on the second of six days of campaigning in Ontario.

The statement reiterated the Conservative promise of flexible price supports to assure farmers "a fair price-cost relationship" on returns for their produce.

For Prairie farmers in particular it proposed that:

1. The federal treasury help farmers carry the loss when wheat is exported at below domestic prices to "good customers" in the Commonwealth and elsewhere.

2. Cash advances be paid on farm-stored wheat, since the Canadian wheat board was the only marketing agency for Prairie wheat and, in effect, owned it.

3. Develop "a more realistic crop insurance plan" for drought, flood and hail in co-operation with the Prairie provinces.

Dave Beck Jr., Pals Reported in Vancouver

(BUP and CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Three of four witnesses being sought in connection with Teamster boss Dave Beck's financial affairs were reported today to have been in Vancouver this week.

United States Marshal Bud Parsons said at Seattle his office had known for about 10 days that Dave Beck, Jr., Norman Gessert and Joseph McAvoy were in Vancouver. This trio, along with Fred Verschuuren, Sr., have been sought by the United States Senate labor

CAPTIVE SAVES CAPTOR

Forgery Charged—Heroism Genuine

MADRAS, Ore. (AP)—County Sheriff Jesse Woodruff has a special reason to ask the court to be lenient with one of his prisoners.

The prisoner, 21-year-old Norman Shepard, saved the sheriff's life, and helped rescue a California family of four from a flood.

Woodruff said that if Shepard is convicted on the forgery charge he faces, the sheriff will ask leniency because of Shepard's heroism.

The rescue came Tuesday when Woodruff was transporting Shepard from Chicago to jail at Prineville, Ore. When they were about 15 miles north of this Central Oregon town, a flood generated by a heavy storm rolled out of ravines and across the highway.

When he saw the water approaching, Woodruff stopped his car, took the handcuffs from one of Shepard's wrists and the two men started running for safety.

But Woodruff saw another car on the highway—the four persons in it apparently unable to run, because of fright.

Woodruff dragged from the car Edgar Martin, 32, Delano, Calif., his wife Betty, 22, and their four-year-old daughter, Debra. Then the party again started to run for safety.

But Shepard—the handcuffs still dangling from one wrist—heard two dogs barking in the car. He ran back to the vehicle and found—huddled in the front seat—the Martins' two-year-old son, Danny.

Shepard grabbed the boy and ran, moments before a wall of water washed the vehicle down the highway.

As the sheriff led the party to higher ground, he stumbled into a swollen creek and was swept 30 feet downstream before he was plucked from the raging water by Shepard, who had raced after him.

Hammaraskjold Meets With Israel PM On Egypt Threat

(UP and AP Dispatches)

JERUSALEM — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold arrived today in Jerusalem for secret talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion in hope of preventing another Israeli-Egyptian war.

Even before the two sat down for private talks, Ben-Gurion let it be known he would ask Hammarskjold to demand that Egypt end the state of belligerency against Israel.

Ben-Gurion met first alone in his office with Hammarskjold. They were to be joined after by UN Undersecretary Dr. Ralph Bunche who worked out the Israeli-Arab armistice agreements on the Island of Rhodes in 1949, and Foreign Minister Golda Meir and their advisers.

Israeli military sources said again today Egypt already was preparing "fresh adventures" in Israel.

Hammarskjold faced these charges by Israeli military officials:

1. Egypt is concentrating troops near the Strait of Tiran, guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, in preparation to taking over the fortress of Sharm El Sheikh from the UN emergency force.

2. Egypt is repairing an airfield near the Gulf of Suez and has men in training there. Planes from the airfield could strike at Israeli shipping.

3. Two full battalions of former Palestinian troops have entered the Gaza Strip disguised as "returning citizens."

Other mid-east developments: Suez, Egypt — The 7,637-ton American freighter President Tyler arrived today for transit of the Suez Canal; the first Dutch ship transited the canal Wednesday since the canal was reopened.

Oslo, Norway — Reports received in Oslo said the Norwegian freighter Vernhill had been stopped at Suez in a dispute with Egypt over payment of canal tolls.

London — The Suez Canal Users Association today rejected Egypt's terms for operating the waterway as "insufficient," but the group cleared the way for member governments to let their ships use the canal.

ENGINEERS IGNORED

PGE Like Circus Says Sinclair

NELSON (BUP)—The Pacific Great Eastern Railway is being run like a circus, according to Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

He told an election meeting here that the Sinclairs "were divinely inspired" when they decided to build the PGE from North Vancouver to Squamish before building the Squamish Highway.

"They didn't bother with engineering advice," he said, "and now they have been blasting rock down on the railway for months."

Mr. Sinclair said other railroads don't "have constant slides like our provincial railway, which is run like a circus."

Highways Minister P. A. Gagliardi said today the government is not concerned about "exaggerated" reports of interruptions in PGE service because of highway blasting along Howe Sound.

"We're not worried about anything," Mr. Gagliardi said.

The minister emphatically denied that "political expediency" was involved in pushing the southern PGE extension through before the highway was finished.

Residents of the area have complained that rock slides from blasting on the road, which runs above the railway line, have frequently disrupted service.

Both jobs should have been completed together, they say.

CO-ORDINATIVE LACK

Mr. Gagliardi admitted there had been a lack of co-ordination between the railway and highway construction projects when work should have been going ahead side by side.

"I was not informed of the difficulties at the time," he said. "But it's not the PGE's fault and it's not my fault."

The situation is no worse than in the Fraser Canyon where CPR and CNR operations are continually disrupted by blasting on the new Trans-Canada Highway section, the minister said.

"The inconvenience on the PGE isn't one-tenth of what people think it is," Mr. Gagliardi said. "It's just that it's close to an area where people can see it."

The minister said the roadwork is scheduled for completion in about eight months and there was no need to shut the railway off for a period as has been suggested in some quarters.

OL' VIC SAYS:

Mister Sinclair's right about th' PGE bein' like a circus. It has death-defyin' slides, a Big Top (of overhead), an' even funnymen.

Durin' an election th' farmers git promised everything' but good weather, an' even that's hinted at.

Attendance at th' fair is much more than fair.

Opposition Must Be Stronger, Says Sinclair

The need for a strong opposition in the House of Commons was stressed Wednesday night by Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

Speaking to a rally at Trail, Mr. Sinclair said:

"We definitely need stronger opposition in the House. But it is not the fault of the present government that we have been chosen for the last 22 years to represent the people. The fault lies with all opposition parties."

Mr. Sinclair took to task Canadians who do not exercise their franchise to vote or attend political meetings.

"No matter how much publicity we give the forthcoming June 10 federal election, some 25 per cent eligible Canadian voters will not cast their ballots."

The fisheries minister said earlier in the day he thinks the government will choose a public agency to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"I think they will choose public development," he told a luncheon meeting of Liberal supporters at Nelson. "Not the Wenner-Grens who sold guns to both sides in the war and were black-listed by the Americans and the British."

"That's not the type the government wants."

Mr. Sinclair officially opened a new $250,000 federal building

3 ELECTION MEETINGS TONIGHT

Three election campaign meetings are on tap in the Victoria area tonight.

A. De B. McPhillips, Progressive Conservative candidate in Victoria, will speak at South Park School in James Bay.

Maj. Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, seeking re-election on the Conservative ticket in Esquimalt-Saanich, will be at View Royal Hall and;

Defence Minister Ralph Campney and Dr. F. T. Fairley, Liberal candidate in Victoria, will speak at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard.

All meetings start at 8 p.m.

at Trail in a special ceremony witnessed by more than 200 persons.

The building, of brick with granite and limestone trim, is in downtown Trail.

Canadian Democrats to Run 20 Candidates

Gerry Goejeun, leader of the Canadian Democrats, a new political party, said Wednesday the party hopes to run about 20 candidates in the June federal election.

"We're beginning to catch fire but we're still lacking supporters of candidate material," he said in an interview at New Westminster.

The 31-year-old law student at the University of British Columbia said the Canadian Democrats expect to have 18 candidates in B.C.

If they have that many—and Mr. Goejeun says "we'll be nominating candidates right up to the May 27 deadline"—they will surpass the Labor-Progressive Party. The LPP ran 18 candidates in B.C. in the 1953 election but so far has nominated only one and is expected to run no more than six at most.

Mr. Goejeun said the Democrats are "like the Liberals, but in opposition. Unity is our platform. That sums it up."

He said the party's slogan is "One Flag, One People."

The flag the party suggests for Canada has 10 gold bars—one for each province—on a red background with a maple leaf in the centre. There would be no Union Jack or coat of arms.

Even Toothpicks to China Would Help B.C.

Harry McQuillan, Progressive Conservative candidate in Comox-Alberni, says that if "every one in China even used a toothpick, B.C. could benefit by supplying this vast population."

Mr. McQuillan made the statement at Campbell River in support of trade with Communist China as he outlined his election platform.

Canada must have its own foreign policy and should "not be forced to yield to the United States," he told a campaign rally.

He promised to work for expanded roads in the northern section of Vancouver Island and for a highway link between Campbell River and the West Coast through the Gold River valley.

K. Liss Installed As Camosun Gryo Club President

Camosun Gryo Club of Victoria installed Ken Liss as president at the eighth annual club installation dinner and dance, held at Victoria Golf Club.

Other officers installed were Jack Hawkes, vice-president; Brent Alley, treasurer; Directors are Murray Blandin, Al Daysmith, Reg Elliott and Gerry McKee, and past president is Les Osborne.

Atomic Chief Denies Nevada Fallout Danger

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Atomic Energy Commission today brushed aside a charge by Reporter Magazine that thousands of Americans "may yet turn out to be victims" of nuclear tests in Nevada.

The commission said its tests are conducted under rigidly controlled conditions and all available evidence has "confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

The magazine made the statement in a copyrighted article, "Clouds from Nevada," which comprised most of its current issue. It said residents and visitors to Nevada and Utah have been exposed to radioactive fallout despite AEC precautions.

In response to a query from the United Press, the AEC said "precautions are taken to keep the amount of local fallout to as low levels as possible, and to measure and record the radiation exposures which might be received by persons in the area around the test site."

"The many measurements which have been taken have confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

The commission also said it makes no attempt to keep secret information on radiation exposure levels in the Nevada test area or anywhere else in the United States. It said such information was available in the AEC's semi-annual reports and other publications.

Diefenbaker Criticizes Third Parties

Unity Threatened By Sacred Moves

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—John Diefenbaker has said the CCF or Social Credit parties have no hope of forming the government at Ottawa and are contributing to undermine the parliamentary system.

Third parties had set up regional groupings in the Commons and ruined the two-party system, the Progressive Conservative leader said here Wednesday night.

"No Parliament divided in that way can function. Unity can only be maintained by preservation of the two-party system."

He raised the issue in referring to the recent entry of a Social Credit candidate in Leeds constituency here against a Liberal and a Conservative candidate.

SPLITS OPPOSITION
He said third parties have no hope of achieving power at Ottawa "within the ordinary period of contemplation." Only the Conservatives were able to form an alternate government and every vote for a third party "has the effect of assuring the return of the Liberal party."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who opened a six-day Ontario tour here, speaks today at Wallaceburg in Lambton-Kent and at Windsor, focal point of three Essex County ridings. All four were held by Liberals in the last Parliament.

His speech here referred to a recent Liberal party publication which listed federal government expenditures in each constituency for old age pensions, family allowances and disability allowances.

"That's Pied Piper philosophy," he said. "They gave nothing but what they took from you and me. That type of Roman holiday at the expense of the people will ruin democracy."

WOULD KEEP BENEFITS

He criticized what he said was a "whispering campaign" that a Conservative government would reduce social security benefits. All benefits would be maintained under the Conservatives.

The Liberal government had degraded Parliament in recent years and merely went to the people every four years to tell what had been spent.

"It would simply be easier to elect Mr. Howe as number one, Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Gardiner and then as philosopher and pundit Mr. Pickerskill," he said with sarcasm. "There's no reason to elect the rest of them. These are the men who determine what Parliament does."

Sacred Chief's Charge 'Downright Lie'—PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has accused Social Credit Leader Solon Low of uttering a "downright lie" about undisclosed contents of telegrams Mr. St. Laurent sent to then British prime minister Sir Anthony Eden during the Suez crisis last fall.

He also offered — though it was more in the nature of a challenge — to have a Privy Council member, after reading the classified telegrams, assure Mr. Low that the prime minister is telling the truth when he says there was no threat in them.

He made his statements to reporters Wednesday night on his return by air to the capital from a 12-day campaign for the June 10 federal election that took him some 5,000 miles across Western Canada.

Today he attends an afternoon cabinet meeting, then leaves for his Quebec City home for the weekend. He is to speak there Monday.

The 75-year-old Liberal chief looked fit and vigorous as he was met by Resources Minister Lesage, Privy Council President Chevrier and some 20 others. But he left them for a few minutes when newspaper men approached.

It was windy and threatening rain. So he drew the reporters to a sheltered spot on the edge of the tarmac. Then he tugged a newspaper out of his coat pocket and read a Victoria report of an interview with Mr. Low last Monday.

The report quoted Mr. Low as saying Mr. St. Laurent "told Britain that if it did not withdraw its troops from the canal zone within a specified time some very drastic action would be taken — possibly Canada's withdrawal from the Commonwealth."

"I can't imagine any justification for Solon Low to make any assertion of that kind," Mr. St. Laurent said heatedly. "In fact it amounts to a downright lie."

Macmillan, Adenauer Stand Firm On Reunification of Germany

BONN (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer today ended their talks here with a call for German reunification and Atlantic Pact solidarity.

The statesmen, in a final communique issued after their three-day talks, said they "were in full agreement on the main aims of their policies after thorough discussions of international problems."

The talks ranged from European integration to Britain's decision to slash her forces in West Germany by more than 20 per cent.

At a press conference before he left by train for a brief visit at British army headquarters in Germany on his way back to London, Macmillan told reporters he has reached "broad agreement on the main issues" with Adenauer.

DOUBTS AT REST

He said there has been uncertainty in Germany over Britain's intentions but that the talks "have been able to get these doubts at rest—on both sides."

He told a questioner Adenauer fully realizes that the British defence cuts would mean no lessening of "Britain's former position."

On German reunification Macmillan said Britain "recognized there can be no permanent settlement in Europe while Germany is divided... the British government will do everything in its power to help you achieve the unity which is your heart's desire."

"If the Russians would get out of East Germany the Western allies would not use this territory to gain some military advantage," he declared.

The communique said Britain "reaffirmed that the reunification of Germany remains one of our main political aims."

Both agreed on the need for the Atlantic Pact (NATO) to retain "an effective deterrent against aggression, including an adequate shield of land, sea and air forces for the protection of the territory of member states."

Macmillan and Adenauer agreed that European unity would best be served by early ratification of the European common market and Euratom treaties. They also agreed that it is necessary to establish as soon as possible a British-proposed free trade area as a complement to the common market.

PROFILE OF FREE WORLD'S ADVERSARY

U.S. Ready to Lift Ban on Yugoslav Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is reported about ready to resume military aid, including jet planes, to Yugoslavia after banning any weapons shipments for nearly a year. A top-level decision to end the existing embargo is understood to be near, subject to President Eisenhower's final approval. Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland, a vigorous foe of major military aid to Yugoslavia, is reported to have been advised by administration leaders that they are sympathetically considering such a move. Under the ruling now taking shape, however, Yugoslavia would not get the full backlog of about 300 American jet fighters previously earmarked for delivery.

The Yugoslavs would receive an undisclosed number of them—a few at a time—over a period of several years.

Under congressional pressure, the U.S. banned all military aid to Yugoslavia last Aug. 15, mainly because of suspicion that President Tito might be patching up his eight-year-old quarrel with Moscow.

New Anti-Rojas Riots Threaten Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP)—More gas. Reports reached Bogota that today for Colombia following the re-election of President Gustavo Rojas Pinilla by the government-picked constituent assembly.

Ignoring widespread demands for a popular election, the assembly voted Wednesday night—76 to 1—to give Rojas another four-year term beginning in August, 1958.

Violent protest demonstrations and strikes have kept the country in an uproar since Friday. Troops and armored cars guarded the capital as the assembly met.

The assembly, which Rojas named to rewrite the constitution, voted two days earlier to suspend constitutional articles requiring popular election of the chief executive and forbidding a president to succeed himself.

Before and after the assembly meeting police broke up several scattered demonstrations with tear gas. Reports reached Bogota that from 15 to 50 persons were killed today and more than 100 injured Tuesday in anti-Rojas riots in Cali, 185 miles southwest of here. Unconfirmed reports said police used bayonets and gunfire against the crowd. Five persons were officially reported killed in Bogota and Cali over the weekend.

How to Smear Canada

FOR SHEER IRRESPONSIBILITY nothing in the present election campaign can equal Mr. Low's statement that Canada threatened to leave the Commonwealth in the Suez crisis.

There is, says Mr. Pearson, not a word of truth in that statement. No public man except Mr. Low ever said there was.

He could not know, of course, the contents of the notes sent by the Canadian Government to the British Government during the Suez crisis. These documents have not been published, at the request of the British Government. But Mr. Low does not hesitate, in smearing Mr. Pearson, to imagine the contents and thus smear Canada.

During an election campaign the voters expect a good deal of what Mr. Bonner, the master-mind of the Social Credit campaign, once called "poetic license" in the case of a former colleague's speech to the Legislature. A certain amount of distortion of domestic affairs—like Mr. Low's promise to increase expenditures and reduce taxes on a huge scale—is normal in domestic debate.

It is quite another thing for a politician to distort the nation's foreign policy before the world.

In Canada we know that Mr. Low represents a small political splinter which, on his own word, can hope at best only to create confusion in the next Parliament. The world, however, hears of Mr. Low as the leader of a Canadian party and takes him quite seriously.

Thus a few days ago the news cables carried a report of Mr. Low's speech in Victoria, his charge that the Canadian Government seriously threatened to withdraw this nation from the Commonwealth. Doubtless this ugly canard was widely believed by millions of people abroad who will never hear the denial.

Nothing could be better calculated to bring pain and doubt to the people of Britain and other Commonwealth countries. Nothing could be better calculated to bring comfort to our enemies. But the same Mr. Low professes to be the friend of Britain and the Commonwealth and our chief defender against communism.

To elect a handful of candidates and disrupt the official Opposition—for that is his maximum hope—Mr. Low apparently is ready to say anything. To damage the Government and especially Mr. Pearson, he is ready to damage Canada's good name throughout the world.

His desperation in this election is easily understandable since the Social Credit campaign is going very badly. Few Canadians, even among his followers, will excuse his affront to the nation, his attempt to play cynical politics with the affairs of the Commonwealth. Yet this is the gentleman whom the candidates of Social Credit hope to make prime minister a few years from now.

Powers Too Sweeping

THE MINING INDUSTRY HAS protested strongly against new provincial legislation covering its operations.

Some of the adverse results of that legislation have been reported. Exploration and development in British Columbia has been curtailed because interests which planned such projects are disturbed, unsure of their position and not satisfied that their tenures will be secure.

Alaska apparently likes the new law. According to an official publication there, B.C. amendments are driving mining interests out of this province to Alaska. For that the people of the United States' far northwest are grateful.

The changes in previous law cover two points: An alteration in the terms of tenure, introducing the leasing principle instead of the old Crown grants; and a provision for a tax on minerals in the ground—a charge aimed specifically at iron ore but not yet applied.

The mining men seem to have a strong case. They are justified in asking revision of the amendments.

Certainly they are entitled to an assurance of security which they feel they lack under the leasing arrangement. Development can be highly expensive. Mining capital, though prepared to take risks, is not prepared in many instances to go as far as the 1957 legislation seems to force it.

Moreover, the tax provisions create a particular hurdle. They are aimed, say the authorities, at iron ore specifically and are intended to discourage heavy export of that commodity, or at least to yield a substantial revenue to the province for the ore extracted and sent out of the country.

But to remain constitutional, the legislation could not be restricted to one ore only. Had it been, the legislation would have been thrown out on the grounds that it was discriminatory.

As a point of fact, the provisions made for levying a charge on minerals in the ground are so broad that they could lead to the bankruptcy of an operating company.

Both changes in the old mining act give the Provincial Government sweeping powers. The argument may be advanced that no government would use them to kill the industry. That argument cannot, however, overcome the fact that a rapacious administration, or one intent on collecting as much revenue as possible—and the Social Credit government shows an unusual appetite for revenue—could tax the industry into serious malaise.

The objectives of the new legislation are reasonable enough in two particulars.

The Government seeks to establish firmer control over British Columbia iron ore deposits.

It seeks also to establish leases—which it claims need be no more onerous than present Crown grant arrangements for honest mining—in order to eliminate a policy which leaves many claims inactive when more energetic interests could develop them.

These objectives seem to make sense. But the means by which the Government plans to reach them can impose too heavy a hand on the industry. That is the point on which amendment is essential.

The Government apparently recognizes this fact. The minister has invited industry to get together with the province in an effort to work out arrangements suitable to both. The reaction of those interests most directly concerned—the interests which will carry on the mining development of British Columbia—has been recorded. It is not being ignored by the minister. If it were, he would not have invited industry to offer suggestions.

There is a simple escape from the difficulties created by the amendments. Next year the Government plans to bring in an entirely new and up-to-date mining act. Why not withhold operation of the two amendments until that act is drawn, debated and finally passed in a form which will protect the public interests and earn the confidence of the industry?

A Shifting of Support

A STABLE GOVERNMENT DURING the past two years, plus a brighter economic situation, had combined to solve many of Italy's most pressing problems. A setback is in store, however, as a result of the recent preliminary move toward a breakup of the Italian coalition administration. It follows closely on the resignation of Premier Segni.

The Democratic Socialists have voted tentatively to withdraw from the joint government, subject to ratification by the party congress next month. This will leave the Christian Democrats—the largest single group although it does not hold a majority—without sufficient backing to cope with opposition parties including the Communists. The Democratic Socialists would hold a balance of power and continue their strong anti-Communist stand, but the Government would live only from day to day.

Another possibility emerges in current feelers extended by the Democratic Socialists toward a restoration of close ties with the Italian Socialists. The latter have been too favorable toward Communism for the Democratic Socialists up to now, but Giuseppe Saragat, the Democratic Socialist leader, has offered to co-operate with them if they would break their extreme leftist connections. This is not likely, but if it happened would open a whole new left-of-centre approach to Italian politics.

The past two years have been unusually quiet for a country in which so many different parties bargain for power. It would appear that a serious threat to continued stability has now arisen. Democratic government cannot achieve its full stature under the multi-party system.

LOOSE ENDS

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Of Soap and Immortality

THE ordinary Canadian elector, terrified by an election campaign of concerted confusion, plain and fancy, may well turn to the solace of books. But if he encounters a new book called "The Hidden Persuaders" by Mr. Vance Packard, his terror will be increased. For according to this shocking study we are all being manipulated by unseen hands not merely in election campaigns but all the time.

Hutchison

We have a new science called Motivation Research (or M.R. for short) which undertakes, for a reasonable fee, to exploit the public's subconscious without disturbing its conscious mind. M.R., it seems has learned to make putty of us all.

ACCORDING to a review of Mr. Packard's book in The New York Times, M.R. has discovered eight hidden principles that dominate us, and through us, the rich American economy.

Thus (I quote The Times) "to sell freezers, forget their function and play on the need for emotional security; the freezer as a bountiful mother should be your message."

Now, I have never bought a freezer, though I grow plenty of fruit and vegetables to freeze, but I see why my friends buy them, though they grow nothing. They are looking for security in this dangerous world. They are putting a few scraps of comfort on ice. The housewife who freezes a pound or two of green peas is not really trying to save money; she is shutting an impervious door against a mad society.

AGAIN, "to sell detergents forget about cleanliness—stress, instead, the dignity of housework." At last we know why women have such an obsession with soap and spring cleaning. It builds up their dignity.

There is nothing so masterful, regnant and powerful as a woman turning the house upside down at this season. Hell hath no fury like a woman soaped. No man can stand up to her in this humor. She towers like a giantess over the dwarfs of politics. But in fact, she is manipulated by higher powers. She buys detergents by the secret laws of M.R.

Or "if you want to sell a bulldozer, it's all right to picture the machine as a mighty monster, but be sure to feature a man as its potent master."

Until now I had always wondered why men bought bulldozers. They buy them, says M.R., for "ego gratification." We all need a little ego gratification now and then, but a bulldozer is a little too expensive for most of us.

However, I think I may buy a mechanical lawn mower of the cheaper sort. These machines make my friends' muscles soft but they are doing a lot for their egos. Why, you can see their egos swell and their spirits expand as they dominate a powerful machine while a man pushing a lawnmower develops not only a sore back but a warped nature and a permanent inferiority complex; just as a poor mouse of a fellow becomes a lion behind the wheel of a new car, horsepower now being the accepted measurement of human worth.

M.R. has a lot to say about new cars. "To sell a new car annually, equate it with a renewal of potency. Exploit man's need, for a sense of power, for a sense of roots, for a feeling of immortality."

YOU may think, this spring, that you are buying transportation. In fact, you are buying a soul, a long, shiny one with fishtail fenders like those of our remote ancestors in the swamps of evolution. By a long circle we always come back to where we started, poor fish.

Immortality, one gathers, lies at the root of M.R. For example, "in selling life insurance stress the fact that the lives of legatees will be dominated by the insured after his death."

Domination, no doubt, is a strong force but inflation is stronger. It is cutting down the value of insurance every day and undermining not only our investments but our immortality.

FINALLY, says M.R., "gear your product and your pitch for the built-in sexual overtone. Don't sell cosmetics, sell hope. Don't sell shoes, sell pretty feet. More important, if you want to sell beer, employ a singing commercial that will appeal to children—they'll sing it all day at no cost to you and they can't be turned off like T.V."

Clearly our politicians have hardly begun to master this new science of psychic manipulation. They have no sex appeal, no intimations of immortality, no sense of security like a good freezer, no power or shine like a new car and regrettably few voters will listen to their commercials.

MARKED for READING

Democratic government is the most difficult of all forms of government to sustain. It requires sound and honest administration. It needs the spirit of tolerance and the practice of co-operation. And it also—at all times—calls for the realization that governments—and parliaments—are not ends in themselves. They are the means to an end—the establishment of conditions, and the creation of opportunities that will enable all the people of the nation to live out their lives in security, prosperity and dignity.

—James Griffiths, Deputy Leader of the British Labor Party.

From Our Files

May 9, 1897—Lieut. Col. Peters has just visited Vancouver where he inspected the mainland companies of the Fifth Regiment, and found their drills excellent.

May 9, 1917—A fine body of young men who have returned from the trenches, most of them showing visible marks of their service, asked the Executive Council today to count soldiers' votes in the prohibition referendum and investigate charges of irregularities.

May 9, 1937—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harris Jeffery were rescued from the waters of Seymour Narrows today by C. P. W. Schwengers, formerly of Victoria.

As Our Readers See It

Heart of Victoria

Brig. C. B. Cockburn has asked for further views in reference to the rebuilding of Government House.

After reading his letter, which typifies the opinion of the CCF party, one can only excuse it by realizing that he is not a true Victorian. Without a fitting residence for the representative of our Queen, the capital of British Columbia would lose all dignity and tradition.

By all means rebuild Government House on exactly the same site and as soon as possible.

"A NATIVE DAUGHTER."

But Some Stay Open

So the municipality has issued a decree, viz.—That the majority of corner stores be closed by 6 p.m.

It would be revealing to know in whose interest this arbitrary law was conceived and put on the statute book.

Certainly not the people of Victoria and its vicinity who are being treated as though they were the obedient servants of those in office at the present time, regardless of the fact the latter were elected to serve, not dictate, and are getting away with legislation of questionable value to the people, as a whole.

What a state of affairs we should have reached when we can't buy a bottle of milk, or a loaf of bread at the time the government is doing an enormous trade in liquor.

But that is a horse of another color, what? This law, unfair to the small shopkeeper (who has to live) and the general public (which has to be served) must be quashed if the limit to our freedom is to be safeguarded.

FRANK AYRIS.

2625 Graham Street.

Residence Clause

Referring to the letter written by Mr. J. Knight regarding the residence clause in the present Old Age Pension Act.

I entirely agree with his remarks and for his information would advise that last year I wrote to the Hon. Paul Martin at Ottawa to have the pension payable in all countries, with certain exceptions, and I received a reply from him stating that a committee was then studying all phases of the Old Age Pension Act and he felt sure the question of eliminating the residence clause would be very favorably considered.

I presume the committee has completed its work and apparently considered the residence restrictions should not be changed so insofar as the Liberal party is concerned in this matter we surely know where they stand.

It would be interesting to know what the other parties have to say regarding this question.

W. F. CRESSALL.

Avon Court.

Decision for Voters

Your leading article on Saturday, entitled "Safety in Saanich" is, to my mind, a very remarkable performance.

In attacking a speech by Gen. Pearkes you make a great many statements. In one case what you say sounds plausible—but I would like to hear Gen. Pearkes' explanation. A great deal is very much open to argument, but there is one main contention which you make which would appear to me to be quite inadmissible. You accuse the general "of dragging the nation's foreign policy into partisan debate."

I would suggest that you would be wise to realize that the policy of the Canadian Government in siding with the U.S.A. and Russia and condemning the British and French intervention in Egypt was only that of the St. Laurent government. Whether or not the voters of the country think this policy was wise or right should be shown to quite an extent by the results of the coming election.

In the meantime surely the opposition is entitled to criticize the foreign policy of the government.

I don't think that the British and French Suez intervention should be considered a failure. That it was not the success that it might have been was solely due to the action of Russia, backed by the U.S.A. and Canada. Nasser's control of the canal situation is obviously something that the States doesn't know how to handle but if the British and French had been allowed to complete their occupation of the canal he would at that time probably have only lasted a few days longer. The Liberal Government has nothing to boast about for what they did.

E. F. WATHERSTON.

65 Marfield Avenue.

$28 and Higher Taxes

Some time ago when Mr. Bennett promised the home-owners a little relief in the form of $28 off their taxes, a lot of people squawked. Some people just hate to see anyone else getting something that they are not.

However, I think most of us more cynical home-owners realized that it was just a pipe dream and that our taxes would promptly be raised more than enough to cover the $28. So I hope we here in Oak Bay are not really supposed to believe that it is sheer coincidence that our taxes are to be raised by three mills this year.

Perhaps it is also coincidence that the other day I was told that there were seven houses, including mine, on our street with "For Sale" signs on them.

Now perhaps all those people who were so unhappy about that $28 will feel much better.

"HOME OWNER WHO HAS HAD IT."

Centennial Cold War

Victoria is far more than living up to its reputation of being "A Little Bit of Old England" in spirit and in action. It seems we are determined to "muddle through" at the last split second, or wind up doing almost nothing about the centennial project.

The various municipalities of Greater Victoria have been behaving as highly independent factions, with opinions and objectives they are loath to relinquish at any price. My own municipality, Saanich, is the worst offender, clinging with tenacity to a proposed new wing for the hospital. This is a necessary community addition, but it is rather like holding a birthday party and serving cold vegetables. We cannot live without vegetables, but when we have a party, let's have a flossy birthday cake worth remembering!

We have been in the midst of a centennial cold war, lately progressed to a war of nerves.

Which project will win? Which municipality will give in? The eleventh hour is imminent, when all must amalgamate or go it alone on various small projects. The latter would be a pity, yet the cost of pushing through one big project may be too high. It would involve the supreme sacrifice of individual municipal ambitions.

Never have so many been so bewildered and bewildered by so few. Now is the time for citizens of Greater Victoria to get together, put their shoulders to the wheel, give the tools of authority to a small working committee, and let them get on with the job.

In the Kaaba's Shadow

THE latest and not the least extraordinary scene in the vast Middle Eastern drama has now been played in Holy Mecca, according to deeply interesting and apparently authentic recent reports.

The cause of the scene was the discovery by King Saud of Saudi Arabia that the Egyptian military attaché in his capital was briskly engaged in organizing and financing armed leftwing terrorist activities ultimately directed against the Saudi Arabian government.

King Saud's emotions, on learning of this latest manifestation of the loyal affection of his Egyptian ally, can be easily imagined.

Because of his discovery King Saud refused to receive Egypt's President Nasser when Nasser wished to confer with him about the Jordan crisis. He was too busy, he said, making his devotions in Mecca.

Therefore Nasser sent his satellite, Syrian President Shukri Kuwatly, whom Saud particularly likes, to conciliate the Arabian King by all means possible.

The means adopted was not to deny the activities of the Egyptian military attaché, which were undeniable. Instead, Nasser's knowledge of those activities was passionately denied.

Denial Scene

In part, at least, the grand denial scene was played in the very shadow of the sacred Kaaba, where King Saud had gone to pray. And at one point, apparently, an Egyptian member of the delegation accompanying President Kuwatly actually clutched the Kaaba's great embroidered curtain, to give force to his oath that Egypt's right hand knew not what Egypt's left hand did.

The episode so completely belongs to the ornate tradition of Middle Eastern politics, that its hard practical significance may perhaps escape attention. But it has the very greatest and hardest practical significance all the same.

The discovery of an Egyptian military attaché in full career as a leftwing terrorist organizer is not the truly significant feature. Indeed, this has become almost a monthly occurrence in this part of the world.

Already there have been similar episodes, usually with such melodramatic trimmings as the disclosure of large bomb or dynamite caches in the Egyptian officer's possession, in Libya, the Sudan and Lebanon. And in Jordan, the Egyptian military attaché, Fawad Hilal, was well known to be a leading organizer of the plot against King Hussein.

The real point of the marvelous scene in Mecca was, rather, the sharp emphasis it gave to a major reversal of the role that is deeply affecting the whole Middle Eastern political situation.

It was not so long ago—as late as last September in fact—when Egypt's military attaches and other agents were working, all over the Middle East, in closest collaboration with the Saudi Arabian embassies.

Not to put too fine a point upon it, Saudi Arabian money was everywhere being used to finance Egyptian political and propaganda activities. Furthermore, the largest part of King Saud's dollars was going to extreme leftwing Arab Nationalists, and particularly to the Communist-linked Baathists, in Syria and Jordan.

Export Terror

Very probably, indeed, the terrorist bands which the Egyptian military attaché was training and equipping in Saudi Arabia were originally intended for export. They were only turned against King Saud himself when the King finally grasped the danger to his own government of the pro-Egyptian, leftist and revolutionary activity that his dollars were paying for in so many other countries.

This important awakening occurred last October. But it is now abundantly clear that when King Saud turned off the tap of his oil-earned dollars, the Egyptians at once called on the masters of the Kremlin, who turned on the tap of their rubles.

The same underground, terrorist, pro-Egyptian activity that was once financed by Saudi Arabia is now financed by the Soviet Union.

This raises two kinds of questions. First, the changed relationship between King Saud and Nasser, like the Jordanian crisis, raises the gravest questions about the future of Nasser's quadripartite Arab alliance of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Saudi Arabia.

Second, Nasser's vastly increased dependence on the Soviets raises even graver questions about the extent to which he can still be considered a free agent. But answers can only be attempted in a subsequent report.

The Difficult Question

WHAT'S that, my boy? You have to explain the word "culture" and then write an essay on Canadian culture?

Well, I wish you luck with it, and am I ever glad that my school days are over!

What line are you going to take? The Massey Report idea that culture is the part of education which refines the taste and elevates and ennobles the mind? That would cut out Elvis, wouldn't it? And Bugs Bunny, Little Orphan Annie, Jayne Mansfield, Gina Lollobrigida, a lot of the movies you see, and most of the pocketbooks on the newsstands?

Or are you going to be flippant and silly and say that culture is what eager-beaver wives drag reluctant husbands off to? You know, the symphony when they want to watch the fight, and wandering round the Arts Centre with a hang-dog look of "I know what I don't like."

Or are you going to take the broader view that culture is the character of a people which reveals itself in every aspect of their national life?

This would include the Massey Report idea of culture, and the purpose of the nation's economic activity as well as its general social mores.

That's the angle I'd tackle it from.

Now what do you know about the Canadian way of life? Well, what about our marriage customs and our funerals? If you were writing about the culture of the Aztecs, the Incas, the Maoris, the Eskimos, you'd write about the customs that go with marriage, birth and death.

What about transportation? What about the automobile and the airplane, and the part they play in our cultural pattern?

Ruth

What about our attitude towards government? Our relations with the State? Are Canadians vitally interested in politics? Or are they politically apathetic? Does the average Canadian understand the workings of democracy, or give two hoots about the struggle this country had to achieve responsible government?

Do we have any real feeling for the history of our country, or do we tend to neglect the past?

What about our architecture? Are our finest buildings put up for the glory of God, the glory of Big Business, or for the State, for education or for sport and entertainment?

What is the purpose of our economic activity? Why does the average man want to get rich? So he can have a bigger, better home; a bigger, better car; a bigger, better television set, and a bigger, better bathroom? Or so he can travel and enrich his mind through the sort of activities the Massey Report recommends?

How do we use our leisure time? What is our attitude towards women, towards children, towards the old folk in our midst? Is our society geared for the young or for the old?

Do we have parks and statues and fountains in the centres of our cities? Or do we consider that these are useless luxuries since they don't bring in the dollars?

Who are the heroes of our culture? The business tycoons? The scientists? The statesmen? The athletes? The humanitarians? The creative artists of different kinds?

Well, you have an enormous subject on your hands, my boy. I don't see how you can assess our culture when you're living in the middle of it. Try to imagine that you're looking at 1957 from the viewpoint of 1857 or 2057. That will maybe give you some perspective.

And, now that I've thoroughly muddled you, go off and write your wretched essay. I'm not going to do it for you!

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

New Drug for Pinworms

Dr. Walter C. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

It is estimated that pinworms infest some 16,000,000 persons in the United States alone. In the past, there has been no good remedy with which to kill them off. A while ago, Drs. H. W. Brown, Kam-Fai Chan, and Kathleen L. Hussey, of Columbia University, reported that, today, with the drug piperazine citrate (which is obtainable in drugstores in the form of a syrup or wafers, either of which is acceptable to children) in 58 or 60 cases the patient was cured in a week. It was found important to give one large dose a day every day for a week. The medicine also is very good for the killing off of round worms.

In any treatment of pinworms it is well to combat the reinfection of members of the family by having the child wear at night a snug pair of panties. These have to be boiled every day to kill the eggs. During the night the mother worms come out on the skin of the buttocks and lay their eggs. If care is not taken, eggs will get into a child's food by way of his finger nails or through the air, and then the cycle of growth of the worms will begin all over again. All the members of a family who are infested with the worms should be treated at the same time. Otherwise, reinfection is likely to take place.

A CENTRE FOR BLOOD STUDIES

In the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, there is a remarkable "Serum Exchange" which, since its founding in 1934, has specialized in helping doctors with problems connected with blood diseases.

One of the troubles that is combatted is due to the Rh factor of mothers. Dr. Neva Abelson, director of the Exchange, said recently that the well-known A and B factors in blood are just as likely to cause trouble as is the Rh factor. Today, by testing a new-born infant's blood with a special spectrophometer, experts can tell how an Rh baby has to be treated. In about a third of the cases the child will not need any transfusion; in another third, he will need one transfusion; and in another third he will need more than one transfusion.

In the Exchange, Drs. Joseph Stokes, Jr., and Joseph Smolens have perfected a method of withdrawing blood from a donor, taking the cells from the plasma (liquid of the blood) and putting them back into the donor. With this method a donor can give blood as often as once a week. The body can replace the plasma overnight, but it takes time to build new red cells.

PSYCHIATRIC TREATMENT BY NIGHT
Since 1954, the Montreal General Hospital has had a "night-centre" where they have treated more than 200 mentally troubled patients. Most of these persons could not afford to stop their work, as they had to earn a living. Now they come to the hospital about 6 p.m.; they spend the night, and they leave at 8 in the morning. They do not get the social stigma of having been in a mental hospital.

The patients are helped by psychotherapy, insulin shock, electroshock, or occupational, recreational, group or social types of treatment. The average duration of the course was, for women, 28 days, and for men, 21 days. The treatment usually starts with insulin, which tends to remove anxieties.

A SOUND THAT QUIETS BEES

Dr. Herbert Frings and Franklin Little, of the University of Pennsylvania, recently reported in Science that bee-keepers no longer need to be stung; all they have to do is to get a loud buzzer with a frequency of 600 cycles a second, and the bees will remain frozen in their tracks as long as the sound continues.

I have some sympathy with the bees, because certain high-pitched sounds or certain squeaky sounds will nearly drive me crazy. Some people can be thrown into an epileptic convulsion by the flashing into their eyes of a rapidly interrupted beam of light.

AVERAGE U.S. FAMILY INCOME $5,736 IN '56

NEW YORK (AP)—Sales Management magazine, in its annual survey of consumer buying power, reported today that the "average" United States family had a 1956 income of $5,736.

That's $271—or about 5 per cent—more than the "average" family income of $5,465 reported by Sales Management for 1955.

HOME GARDEN

By JACK BEASTALL

Act Now for Full Supply of Greens

Pardon my interrupting your gardening schedule, but it is important to act now if a supply of "greens" is expected from fall until spring.

The reason for most of the poor crops of Brussels sprouts is planting too late. They need a long season of growth if good buttons are to form, and the plants should be set out as soon as possible.

The green and purple sprouting broccoli should be set out by mid-June, therefore an immediate sowing in a coldframe or indoors should almost hit the date.

There are early, mid-season, and late varieties of sprouting broccoli, so be sure to obtain the ones which will suit your cropping scheme.

It is the flower buds of broccoli which are eaten, and there is such a short period between bud and full blossom that loss often occurs when too many are planted out at once.

Setting out a couple of plants at 10-day intervals helps to extend the cutting season, and six plants will provide quite a few meals because laterals develop over a long period.

Late May to early June is approximately right for setting out the fall maturing cauliflowers, mid-June for those used in March and April.

Cabbage plants of the fall maturing varieties are set out in June, but those for use in January will sometimes head up in November if planted before mid-July.

Kale, the leaves of which can be picked from under snow and still make a delicious dish, are set out during June.

These appropriate planting-out dates will help the home gardener decide whether to place an order for plants or to raise his own from seed.

$40,500 Aid For UBC Man's Heart Research

VANCOUVER (CP)—A University of British Columbia anatomy professor has been given three grants to aid his research into heart disease.

Dr. Paris Constantines, 36, who has been working since 1951 to find a chemical treatment for arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) received grants totaling $40,500.

Fatty deposits in artery walls are involved in the disease which is one of the key factors in coronary heart attacks and strokes. It attacks all ages.

Dr. Constantines' work has attracted the attention of Ciba Company Limited, Swiss drug company, which is making a grant of $20,000 for the testing of drugs developed by the firm.

The Life Insurance Research Fund of New York is boosting its annual grant made to Dr. Constantines for the last two years. The fund will provide $16,500 for further work in the next two years.

The National Research Council also is renewing its annual $4,000 grant.

Edmonton Bishop Beatification Nearer

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Vatican's congregation of rites Wednesday carried a step forward the process of beatifying a 19th century Canadian bishop—Bishop Vitale Justin Grandin Omi of Saint Albert's diocese, now the diocese of Edmonton.

It was announced that the congregation has considered whether the bishop had heroic virtues sufficient to justify his beatification. Although no announcement was made, it is believed the congregation decided favorably.

Prominent Brandon Citizen Dies

BRANDON (CP) — Brigadier-General James Kirkcaldy, 90, one of Brandon's leading citizens, died Wednesday.

Born in Fyfehire, Scotland, he came to Brandon in 1891. The following year he became chief constable and held the post until 1905. He was elected to council in 1907, then resigned to become city assessor.

In the First World War he went overseas with the rank of major as adjutant of the 8th Winnipeg Rifles, renowned as the Little Black Devils.

During the second battle of Ypres, Major Kirkcaldy suffered a severe shrapnel wound in the chest.

Brig. Kirkcaldy is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters.

NO MORE 'THROW-AWAYS'

Candy To Be Handed Out At Victoria Day Parade

There will be no throw-aways of candy and advertising from floats in the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association parade this year, on May 20.

Last year one spectator was hit in the eye with a miniature bottle and there were occasions when small children missed out in the scramble for peanuts and candies.

Any hand-outs will be distributed by clowns walking the parade route, officials said today.

GVCA secretary Captain Norman Foster said the parade is shaping well and quite a few more entries have arrived since last week. At that time response was described as "disappointing."

Victoria Elks are organizers. They are still in need of additional floats and marching units and will accept more entries by youngsters or not.

Hungarians Jailed For Liquor Sale To Russ Soldiers

VIENNA (Reuters) — Fourteen Hungarians have been sentenced to terms of 10 to 15 years in Russian prisons for selling plum brandy (schnapps) to Soviet soldiers, it was reported here today.

Refugees from the Hungarian town of Keskemet, 50 miles southeast of Budapest, said military courts of the Soviet garrison there sentenced the Hungarians.

The prisoners all claimed they sold the schnapps to the Russians under duress after the soldiers broke into their homes. Russian military police claimed the prisoners confessed they sold the schnapps "of their own free will."

English Pacifist Departs For Nuclear Death Date

LONDON (AP) — Harold Steele, a British pacifist, kissed his three children goodbye Wednesday and set out to do his bit against what he regards as the evil of Britain's scheduled H-bomb test.

A 63-year-old retired poultry farmer who was a conscientious objector in the First World War, Steele said he is prepared if necessary to die alone on a Pacific atoll in protest against the explosion British scientists expected to touch off at Christmas Island next month.

Steele leaves London by plane today for New Delhi on the first stage of a trip he hopes will take him to the danger area in time to subject himself to the hazards of blast and fallout.

Willing Sacrifice

"I willingly sacrifice myself to prove to the world the horror of this devilish thing," he told reporters.

He wanted to ship aboard a suicidal "peace fleet" which the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs proposed to send in. But the council, in the face of Britain's warning to all shipping to stay clear, dropped the cruise idea.

Reporters here told Steele of the cancellation.

"Then if necessary I will sail alone into the Christmas Island area," he said. "I can still handle a sailing craft. Or perhaps I could get some vessel to drop me on an atoll in the area where I could sit out the tests and if necessary die in them."

Steele's wife Sheila, 40, accompanied him to London from their home at Malvern, Worcestershire. She once expected to accompany him, but plans for having their children looked after fell through. So she decided to stay in England.

Got To Be Done

"I feel the same as a soldier's wife when the soldier goes away," she said. "It has got to be done."

Two British students—Jan Dixon, 21, and David Graham, 25—are meeting Steele in New Delhi. They will help him rally Indian support for the project and may accompany him on his voyage.

The venture is backed in Britain by an organization, supported by the Quakers Society of Friends, known as the Emergency Committee for Direct Action Against Nuclear War. So far it has collected the equivalent of $2,240.

Steele is not a Quaker, but worships in a meeting house of that faith.

Steele denied any Communist leanings. In response to a question, he said he would be quite prepared to travel to Siberia, if that were possible, to protest Soviet H-blasts.

Women in Black

Veiled women in black began a daily vigil at the House of Commons Wednesday. They buttonholed members of Parliament and called for a ban on all nuclear tests "to prevent worldwide massacre."

The first contingent, made up of 23 women from nearby Hertfordshire, paraded before Prime Minister Macmillan's official home 10 Downing Street, and handed in a letter saying: "It is women throughout the world who will be the first to be polluted by genetic degradation through radioactive poisoning."

The group was led by Mrs. Renee Short, 38, labor member of the Hertfordshire County Council. She told reporters the mourning garb was worn "for the thousands of people already affected by H-bomb explosions."

PREPARED TO DIE ALONE in H-bomb test protest, pacifist Harold Steele is photographed today with his wife just before leaving family in London. (AP Wirephoto.)

ROME (Reuters) — A huge crowd, including more than 2,000 priests and nuns, gave an enthusiastic welcome Wednesday night to Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, primate of Poland, as he arrived for his first meeting with the Pope in six years.

Under a blaze of television floodlights and photographers' flash bulbs, the churchman was formally welcomed by high prelates of the Papal secretariat of state and members of the Polish Religious College in Rome.

The Vatican weekly newspaper, Osservatore Della Domenica, denied that the cardinal has concluded any agreement to cooperate with Poland's Communist government.

It rejected as "tendentious" a report that the Pope will recognize such an agreement when he meets the cardinal.

Wyszynski is the first cardinal to come to Rome from a Communist-ruled country since the war. He will report to the Pope on the crucial role he is believed to have played in saving Poland from the same fate as Hungary last fall.

Vatican will be an account of his release from prison last October by Wladyslaw Gomulka, who took over leadership of the Communist party only a few days before. At that time, Poland seemed in danger of being overrun by Russian troops.

The cardinal will also tell of the support he gave the Gomulka faction in last January's election when Gomulka consolidated his power.

During his visit, the Pope will confer on him a red hat at a private ceremony in the Vatican palace.

Rains Dampen Fire Danger in Ontario

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Major forest fires in Northern Ontario have abated slightly following heavy rainfalls and a rise in the humidity. But in many areas fire fighters were still battling to confine the blazes.

The worst-hit area was around Sudbury where, until heavy rain fell during most of Wednesday, 80 fires were scorching the countryside.

In Skead, 20 miles north of here, 88 persons were made homeless when fire cut through an 8,000-acre strip destroying 20 homes. Relief stations were established and arrangements made to feed and clothe the stricken families.

Rain also helped firefighters restrict 11 fires in the Cochrane region, northeast of Timmins. It is expected most of the fires will be extinguished within a few days.

In the Timmins area the worst fire was in Matheson Township. At least five buildings were destroyed. The fire was restricted to 350 acres.

An outbreak 24 miles south of Sudbury ran wild over 500 acres of Laura Township bushland. Inmates of Burwash industrial farm and volunteers battled to check the flames. Fire at Garson Township, near Sudbury, destroyed 12 homes.

The lands and forests department described the fire hazard as ranging from "extreme to high" across the top of the province.

Four fires were reported in a 70-mile radius of Port Arthur. Three were brought under control and the fourth is out.

Other fires were reported in the regions of Pembroke, Lindsay, Sioux Lookout, Gogama, White River, Kenora, Swastika, Tweed, Parry Sound, Kapuskasing and Geraldton.

The fire situation in Quebec, however, was becoming worse. High winds fanned blazes out of control near a summer resort east of Quebec City Wednesday. Two camps were destroyed at Bois Chatel and all available men were sent to the scene of the fire. At Alexis des Monts, Que., 150 miles northeast of Montreal, more than 100 fire rangers and volunteers fought a fire reported out of control.

Forest Fires Plague Northeast U.S. Area

BOSTON (AP)—Forest fires continued today to threaten parched woodlands of the northeast United States.

In Michigan, firefighters kept an anxious eye on tinder-dry sections after a winning fight over one of the worst timber blazes in years.

During the month-long dry spell in New York State 30 forest fires have blackened almost 8,000 acres of woodland.

Massachusetts declared a state of emergency and Maine clamped restrictions on its forests Wednesday night as fires gutted thousands of woodland acres in those states, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut and New Jersey.

In Michigan, a 750-acre fire in the big Huron National Forest near Lake Huron was brought under control Wednesday night after a half-day battle by 400 persons.

Minister Buchanan said a similar ban may be imposed in that province if dry weather continues.

R. H. Burgess, chief Nova Scotia forester, said restrictions will stay in force until rain comes.

At least 14 fires were reported Wednesday in southwestern Nova Scotia. Most of the blazes were small.

In New Brunswick, Lands

Crew Held to Blame For CPA Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (CP)—The five-man board said it could find "no structural failure or malfunctioning of the aircraft or its components, so far as could be determined, prior to ground impact."

The board determines that the probable cause of this accident was the full retraction of the wing flaps at low altitude during a circling approach without necessary corrective action being taken by the crew.

Reporting on its investigation into the Aug. 29 crash in which 15 persons were killed, being taken by the crew.

Cocktails for 2—Honeymooners Hum New Ditty

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Niagara Falls voted Wednesday in favor of having cocktail bars and dining lounges licensed to serve liquor.

In each case about 65 per cent of those who voted were in favor of making this honeymoon resort city of 24,000 wet.

The vote on cocktail bars was 5,734 for and 3,061 against, representing an affirmative vote of 65.19 per cent.

The ballot on dining lounges was 5,776 for and 3,016 against, 65.69 per cent affirmative.

An affirmative vote of 60 per cent was required in each ballot.

Some 13,800 persons were eligible to cast ballots in the referendum. Close to 9,000 persons exercised their franchise.

'CLIP AND TRIM' COSTS 6 PENCE MORE

CONSETT, England (CP)—Youths in this Durham town will have to pay more for elaborate hair styles now.

Hairdressers say that the "clip and trim" with scissors for teenagers takes much longer than the "short back and sides" preferred by more conservative customers.

Consett branch of the National Hairdressers' Federation has decided to recommend that members charge extra for modern styles.

Ordinary haircuts in Consett have gone up to two shillings—and there will be an extra sixpence to pay for those who want film-star hair styles.

Rebellious Convicts Spend Cold Night on Empty Stomachs

BISMARCK, N.D. (UP)—Rebellious convicts, who rioted at North Dakota state penitentiary, spent a cold and hungry night in a cell block with broken windows.

The 200 inmates tried to sleep on empty stomachs when the mercury spiralled downward to near the frost point.

None of the prisoners had eaten since breakfast Tuesday shortly before a sitdown strike in the prison wine factory erupted into a four-hour riot that finally was subdued by a flying wedge of guards with guns blazing.

Amusement Tax on Bingo Unnecessary, Say Kinsmen

Extension of the provincial 10 per cent amusement tax to bingo games is "unnecessary" for charitable organizations, a spokesman for the Victoria Kinsmen Club said today.

Stanley Mossop, president, said his group was "completely surprised" by the move but will make no official protest.

A government spokesman disclosed Wednesday the tax will go into effect immediately.

ASK REFUND

The Kinsmen, who have staged five giant bingo games in Memorial Arena, and plan another June 3, will apply for a refund provided for under the tax legislation.

A government official said charitable organizations usually have one half of the tax refunded.

RAISED $25,000

The Kinsmen have raised a total of $25,000 in the five games they have operated. Twenty per cent goes to small appeals and the balance is being held in the bank for a "community service" project.

Imposition of the new tax will not affect the bingo planned on June 3 when a new car will again be first prize.

Future games are dependent on attendance.

NEED FULL HOUSE

"We have to have almost a full house to make a go of it," Mr. Mossop said.

Mr. Mossop admitted the tax, which is applied to gross receipts, would "hurt" because of the heavy expenses in prizes and arena rental.

Admissions usually total $45,000 and profit amounts to one-third of this.

That means the 10 per cent tax would be $1,500 and if half was refunded, the Kinsmen will lose about $750.

The tax measure, which was urged at the last session of the legislature by Social Credit Minister Bert Price, who said bingo had become "big business," is designed to give the government tighter control over bingo operations.

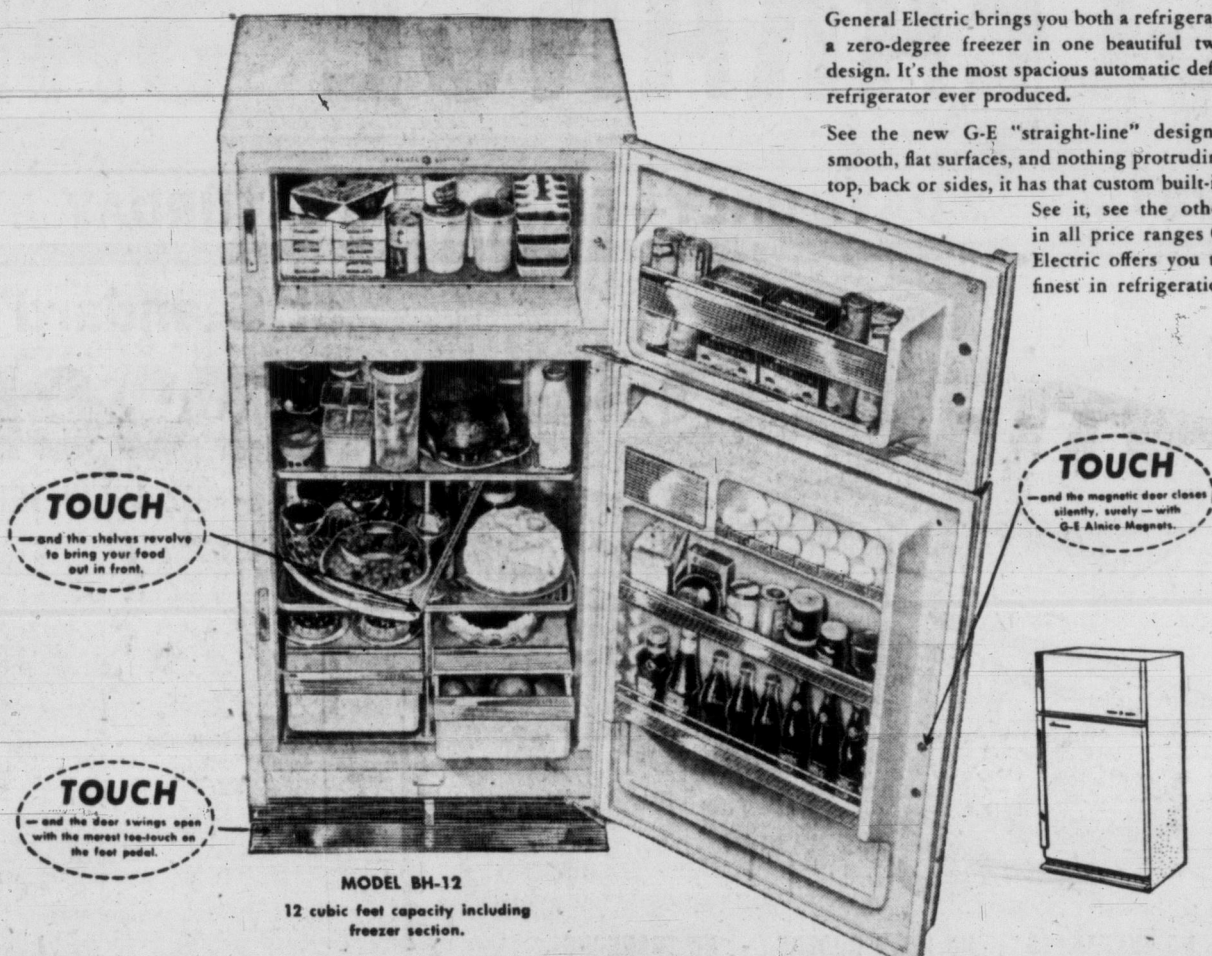

It will apply to all bingo games, including those operating on the fringe of the law, but a government spokesman said "We're not after the penny-ante ones."

Books of bingo operators must now be opened at the attorney-general's department for examination.

Penalties for evasion of the tax include fines and a 30-day jail term.

FRANK HAD HIS OWN VIEW

This is how Terry O'Reilly looked to cameraman on third of his four dashes over B.C. line during rugby match at Macdonald Park Wednesday night. But fullback Frank Gower, sprawled in wake of Irish speedster, will best remember view of O'Reilly from different angle. Despite Barbarians' 51-8 victory, Gower played well, but received little defensive help from his mates.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

It is seldom you see a rugby player, whose team has just come out on the shabby end of a 51-8 score, stretch out on a dressing-room bench and remark, "Man, I never enjoyed anything so much in my life."

But, of course, it is seldom a rugby player is given the opportunity of being on the same field with The Barbarians. The B.C. All-Star side, as could be expected, were a little shell-shocked immediately after the match, but on recovering themselves they were unanimous in agreeing that having their noses rubbed into the springy turf of Macdonald Park was a rare privilege.

And you couldn't blame them in their enthusiasm. For here was the greatest rugby team to play in Victoria since the days of the old All-Black teams. And you can argue with authority that these dashing Baa-Baas may have been the greatest of all the touring teams that have touched this little western bureau of Twickenham.

They had everything in spendor amounts. Pick any man on the Barbarians' team and you could pen a rhapsody to his rugged talents.

You would have to start, of course, with Tony O'Reilly, the Dublin-born wing-three.

Devilishly handsome, built like a Greek god and possessed with devastating speed, O'Reilly slashed through the inadequate B.C. defences like a razor blade, leaving rags and tatters in the wake of his churning heels.

At 20 years of age, O'Reilly has the raw products and the time to develop into one of the greatest. For him, it will be a short transition.

Or take Scotty Doward. Yes, you take him. The B.C. side tried many times last night but were seldom successful. Physically Doward looks like a thinned-down Anthony Steele. (Anita Ekberg's husband, you fool.)

Sitting in the Coronet Room Wednesday morning, sipping a beer laced with lime juice, the urbane former Oxford captain looked the perfect picture of a tweed business representative, which in fact he is.

But on the field he was a magician with a surgeon's hands. As the Baa-Baas scrum-half, he consistently plucked the ball from scrum and sent it crackling out to his three-line with the speed and crisp precision of an electric circuit.

In contrast, there was Eric Evans, the 32-year-old B.C. Barbarian hooker, who has been capped 22 times and glowered at by opponents thousands of times.

The florid, craggy-faced Evans, who appears to be eternally angry, was the driving force behind his mates, at whom he railed, shouted, cajoled and, if he thought they were being negligent, shook his fist.

Early in the game, on the first line-out, Evans held his hand up for silence and in a voice like a buzz-saw cutting a hickory knot, told his team, "Now, boys, we'll take this. Right?"

In the scrum and line-outs Evans displayed contrast of the grace of a gazelle and the heavy-handed touch of a dock-walloper when he found freight that needed moving.

You had to feel a little sorry for Frank Gower, the veteran Victoria fullback, who did a great job of tackling an almost impossible job.

When the Baa-Baas were bearing down on him in the middle of a railway yard trying to stop trains with his bare hands, I liked the way the game ended, with the B.C. side forming a double line to the dressing room and applauding the Barbarians to their quarters.

It was one of those things you could only see on a rugby field, where they respect perfection.

SLAYBAUGH NEVER RETURNED

Score Not First Pitcher Injured

NEW YORK (AP)—An accident similar to that suffered by Cleveland's Herb Score ended the promising baseball career of Bobby Slaybaugh five years ago.

One something like it but not as serious turned Dizzy Dean, one of baseball's greatest, into just another pitcher and eventually into a sports broadcaster. Jim Wilson, now with the Chicago White Sox, had his skull fractured by one batted ball and his shin splintered by another but came back to resume pitching in the majors.

There has been only one fatality in the history of major league baseball. Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, died of a fractured skull after he was struck by a pitch thrown by Carl Mays,

New York Yankee "submarine ball" pitcher, on Aug. 16, 1920. Slaybaugh, a 20-year-old rookie from Hartsville, Ohio, was pitching in batting practice for St. Louis Cardinals March 24, 1951, when a hard liner from the bat of Jim Dickey came right back at him. Slaybaugh was hit squarely on the face, suffering multiple fractures of his left cheek bone, nasal bones and other bones near his left eye. Two weeks later his left eye was removed. Dean, one of the all-time great pitchers with the Cardinals "craz-house gang," suffered a broken toe when he was hit by Earl Averill's drive in the 1937 all-star game. Dizzy continued pitching in spite of the injury and changed his delivery in an effort to keep from putting his weight on the broken toe.

Ireland's Robin Roe (8), who in turn jars an opponent off balance. At right, B.C. player casually grips arm of Barbarian rival to help equalize difference in size. Tourists dominated play in lineouts. (Photos by Irving Strickland.)

There's a Bit of Devil In Wales' Terry Davies

By DOUG PEDEN

At first glance Terry Davies looks like a quiet schoolboy possessed of just enough devilment to have had his nose flattened a couple of times.

But don't let that boyish expression fool you. Terry is a veteran of the rugby wars. The 24-year-old Welsh fullback was only 19 when he won his first international cap with Wales and he had been playing in the country's toughest club league before that.

He showed touches of greatness during the rare demands on his talent while helping the touring Barbarians whip a B.C. club, 51-8, at Macdonald Park Wednesday night. He completed his few chores with a minimum of effort and had lots of time to sympathize with Frank Gower at the other end.

"I felt sorry for your fullback," he said later. "Our boys were coming at him from all directions and he wasn't getting much help. Your tackling wasn't very good."

Like the rest of the Barbarians he is strictly an amateur and plays around 40 matches each season with a club team and attends about two practices each week to keep in condition. Davies is in the lumber business with his two brothers who are "working like blazes while I'm playing out here."

In the Welsh League, he plays with Llanelly, which he claims is the best club team in Britain. A record of 40 wins in the last 43 matches adds substance to his loyalty.

Arch rival of Llanelly—it didn't come out the way it is spelled, when he said it — is Cardiff, led by the great stand-off Cliff Morgan, an oil firm representative on working days who should be a great salesman, judging from the way he sold "dummies" Wednesday night.

Those who thought the Barbarians were saturated with speed merchants, should see Arthur Smith, who was picked for the tour but stayed behind to complete some extra studies at Oxford. Davies rates the Scottish three-quarter the fastest thing in rugby shoes.

Reg Marques, biggest of the Barbarians at six feet, five inches and 225 pounds, who sat out Wednesday's game, agrees that no player can beat Smith over a distance but picks Morgan for 10 yards from a standing start. And, he says, nobody has the dash of Terry O'Reilly. After watching O'Reilly in action, who won't agree.

And don't let those meek little lambs on the Barbarian crest and the Baa-Baas' impeccable off-field manners fool you either. Those gentlemen are a rugged aggregation in rugby togs.

There were several elbows flying around in lineouts Wednesday... tch, tch, Mr. Ernie Evans, owner of 22 international caps for England. And some B.C. boys were tossed roughly aside when they weren't playing the ball.

Could it have been the fault of Rhys Williams, "strong man" of the Wales pack? One white-jerseyed laddie came a cropper over an outstretched foot... where were you at the 36th minute Mr. J. T. Greenwood, four times captain of Scotland? And it was surprising how often Ireland's Terry O'Reilly happened to be between a possible tackler and Gareth Griffiths, his running mate from Wales.

Almost to a man the Barbarians have been greatly impressed by Canada, but none more than Rhys Williams, a metallurgist and official at a steel plant.

Williams likes his job but thinks he would be willing to switch occupations for a chance to settle in this country.

Barbarians' all-out effort Wednesday was prompted by a desire to show they were better than the 19-6 score against the B.C. All-Stars at Vancouver last Saturday indicated. It will be interesting to watch the result of this Saturday's match against the same club.

It seemed possible that the switch occupations for a chance to settle in this country.

Barbarians commented favorably on the refereeing job turned in by John Murphy.

Barbs Prove It's All True

Barbarian Side Thrills Overflow Rugby Crowd

By DOUG PEDEN

The Barbarians played like Barbarians. When you've said that, most of the story about a rugby match has been told.

But for those who need a bit more convincing, the Baa-Baas ran around, through and over a British Columbia side at Macdonald Park Wednesday night to make the fourth successive triumph of their Canadian tour a 51-8 romp.

More important than the actual score, they did it in the style that has made the Barbarian Football Club one of Britain's famed sports organizations.

Barbarians are required by tradition to play a brilliant, wide-open game with speed and power on attack. They did.

They are supposed to play for the sheer fun of competition with spontaneous departures from orthodox rugby manoeuvres. They seemed to enjoy every minute of it—even the fierce exchanges of elbows and head butts in the loose scrum.

Proud of their status in the rugby world, Barbarians are supposed to play with a rugged fury from whistle to whistle. They did—almost. They rated the "almost" for forgetting about their defensive chores after building up a 43-3 lead in the closing stages and giving B.C. the opening for its lone try.

But the Baa-Baas bounced back with a vengeance and Ireland's Tony O'Reilly showed the already-convicted crowd why he is rated one of the greatest wing three-quarters in the game by streaking 40 and 35 yards for the Barbs' final tries.

When it was all over, the Barbarians had scored six goals, five tries and two penalty goals to a goal and a penalty goal by the British Columbians. O'Reilly, a six-foot two-inch, 200-pounder with wings on his heels, accounted for four tries and 12 points while Welshman Gareth Griffiths, who made most of the openings for his red-tinted wing, crossed the B.C. line on three occasions.

Visitors Did Excellent Job of Selling

Fullback Terry Davies, of Wales racked up the highest individual point total of 14 with four conversions and a pair of penalty boots. Forward George Hastings added four points with two conversions and single Barbarian tries were scored by Captain Ted Woodward, Peter Thompson, E. J. Michie and A. Robson.

Stew Smith, who split the up-rights on a penalty kick to pull the home club into a 3-3 tie at 13 minutes and converted John Newton's try late in the match, was high point man for B.C.

Newton gained credit for the three-pointer when he fell on the ball behind the Barbarian line after Harry Turner, Ray Burnett and Graham Budge broke through on a dribbling rush while the tourists were having their defensive lapse.

The Barbarians accomplished what they set out to do—sell rugby. Many new fans must have been convinced of the potential spectator appeal of the game. All must have been enthused by clever ball-handling, dummies and reverses of the visitors. Despite their speed, they fumbled only two loose balls and gathered in bouncing balls with the confident dexterity of major league infielders.

Speed was their sharpest weapon and it cut the B.C. defence to shreds. The threees habitually ran across the field, forcing the B.C. backs out of position by their very swiftness and always ready to cut through for long gains.

Tackling Weakest Part of B.C. Effort

Scotland's scrum half, Arthur Doward, and the great Cliff Morgan of Wales at stand-off were elusive targets for tacklers to find and sent the threees away with amazing speed.

The power-running Woodward on the wing and the unselfish Thompson at inside were as effective in the backfield as was to be expected from an all-international side, but it was Griffiths, with his change of pace and baffling side-step, and O'Reilly, with his flying feet and ability to shake off would-be tacklers that drew the most attention.

Weak tackling by the B.C. squad helped the Barbs run up their lopsided total and was probably the one unhappy note in the game. Fortunately, the weakness was shared by only a few and among those who merited a pat on the back for their all-out efforts were forwards Paul Beck, Turner, Budge and Gerry McGavin, wing Hugh Burnett, scrum-half Gary Webster and fullback Frank Gower.

Except for some of their tackling, the British Columbians battled all the way. Their biggest trouble was that they happened to be playing the Barbarians.

Regals, Aces Agree: Nine Games Too Many

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces and Brandon Regals agree on one thing—this May weather is for golfers, not for hockey players.

While the weatherman forecast a high of 80 for Quebec today, the two teams prepared to do battle again in what could be the windup of the best-of-nine series for the Edinburgh Trophy. Quebec leads the series 4-1.

Although playing coach Don Raleigh of the Regals says his team is not out of contention yet, players and officials of both teams give the impression they will be happy to have the whole thing over with.

Raleigh says the season now runs "far too late." He feels the Quebec Hockey League and the Western Hockey League should arrange to get the series under way earlier in future years.

Both general manager Punch Imlach of the Aces and Al

Leader, president of the Western Hockey League, favor a seven-game series in future.

"This is the last time we'll play in any series longer than a best-of-seven," says Leader.

Victoria May Have Interest In Famous Gold Cup Races

Given a certain amount of hard work, inspiration and racing luck, Victoria will have a stake in the Gold Cup race for unlimited hydroplanes on Seattle's Lake Washington August 11.

It will be in the form of an engine and gear box to be worked over by Grant King, local expert on dirt track racing car engines, and used in a radically different hull now under construction in Seattle.

Driver will be Del Fanning of Seattle, well-known driver of sprint cars and popular Western Speedway competitor. Designer and builder of the hull is Armand Swenson, a Seattle cabinet maker and gunsmith, who will call his novel craft "Miss U," after the University district in which he lives and works.

Swenson calls the craft a "one-pointer," as compared to the conventional three-point design in common use in racing circles. Actually most of the weight will be carried on the twin propellers, revolving in opposite directions and set only one-third of the way back from the bow.

FLYING BOAT

This craft resembles a flying boat more than anything else. It has horizontal "wings" to give it lateral and fore and aft stability, and a huge air fin that is supposed to keep it on course and banked properly into turns.

Under speed it will ride on a small portion of the keel set well forward, and will be steered by a conventional submerged rudder.

In my opinion the hull is unstable and will not be successful, but people accustomed to the old Miss America X type of hydro-plane would have laughed at Slo-Mo-Shun IV, and the old "Slo-Mo" set a few records before it was wrecked last year in Detroit.

But there should be no doubt about the engine. It is a six-cylinder Ranger aircraft motor of 441 cubic inches piston displacement, that will be eligible for racing in both seven-litre and unlimited classes.

"RIGHT SIDE UP"

An inverted motor, with the crankshaft on top, it will be turned upside down for use in the "Miss U," therefore will be right side up compared to other motors. It will be adapted for fuel injection and other means of building its horsepower up to about 400.

"We'll use race car methods to hop it up," the Victoria mechanic said.

Mr. King also designed the gear box, now being cast of magnesium in Portland, Ore., and will do all assembling.

It is of simple design, with one big straight-cut gear on the shaft where the air propeller normally would be, and two smaller gears that will give shafts running backward down each side of the engine a three-to-one step up.

One of the shafts, of course, will be driven through an idler gear to give it the opposite rotation. Object of the twin propellers is to eliminate the tendency of conventional three-pointers to "crawl" sideways. As much as 20 degrees of rudder are required to counteract this effect.

Theory of this particular design is that a tiny boat with a small engine will perform better than a big boat with a big engine. "Miss U" will weigh only 1,200 pounds, ready to race except for fuel, oil and driver. The big Gold Cuppers, although boasting up to 2,500 horsepower, also weigh in the vicinity of 5,000 pounds or more.

It is hoped to baptize Miss U at the Lake Tahoe race meet in June, and to have her ready for Gold Cup competition in August. This boat, by the way, will not be the first of this type to have some interest to Victoria and Victorians, since the best of them all was almost a part of the city.

Thirty years ago, or more, the conductor of the pit orchestra in the Pantages Theatre, later the York, and still later the Totem, was violinist Tony Jensen, whose hobby was boat building.

He and Mrs. Jensen lived on Avebury Avenue, and their youngsters were born here. After a few years they moved to Seattle. Tony became the operator of a small boat repair yard, and when he retired after the Second World War, he turned it over to son Anchor Jensen.

He, of course, is the third man of the team of Stanley Sayres-Ted Jones-Anchors Jensen that created Slo-Mo-Shun IV and Slo-Mo-Shun V. The "IV" now is a derelict, but the "V" is still very much in the racing picture as "Miss Seattle."

KEY POINTS IN DISPUTE between long-time enemies, Nicaragua and Honduras, are Mocoron and Cruta, spotted in map. It was claimed that 35 Nicaraguan soldiers had been killed in the initial attack on Mocoron by Honduran troops. Air strafing of villages in the disputed area (shaded) has been reported since. (NEA Situational Map.)

Woman Dies At Age 128

ATHENS (AP) — Press reports from the island of Corfu Tuesday said Wilhelmina Constantas had died at the age of 128. Mrs. Constantas, whose father served in the household of Otto, first king of Greece, is survived by 13 children, 22 grandchildren, 30 great grandchildren and three great great grandchildren.

Actor Peter Lawford Suffers Back Injury

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Peter Lawford has suffered a back injury which will prevent him from starring in the CBS television program "Cimex" next Thursday, producer Edgar Peterson said today. Lawford incurred a sacral displacement Tuesday night when he stepped from his car at his home. Peterson said he is looking for a replacement so the show will not have to be cancelled.

British Newcomers Said No 'Weaklings'

Times readers in Duncan, Nanaimo and Victoria have sent in their views on the subject: "Is Canada getting Britain's weaklings?"

The story, published in The Times last Saturday, quoted several local British immigrants as saying they did not agree with Gilbert Harding, the BBC broadcaster, who said Britain's "weaklings" are coming to Canada because conditions at home are not so "soft" as they were.

"Mr. Harding is not a fair reporter on such a topic and to quote him is not a true indication of the circumstances," wrote H. W. F. Whiting, of Victoria.

"Generally speaking, I believe the majority of immigrants from England are those who seek a wider field of opportunity and are not afraid to work for such an objective."

"Such people are not over keen on the security of the social welfare state beyond reasonable limits," Mr. Whiting wrote.

J. W. Tapley of Nanaimo isn't so sure. "There's no doubt the calibre of British workmanship has been weakened by the welfare state introduced by the Labor government in 1945," he said.

A Duncan resident using the nom-de-plume "Faget Beaver" says:

"English and Scottish settlers were the back-bone of Canada in the pioneer days and I don't believe they have changed. The old country always produced first-rate craftsmen—and that is what Canada needs today."

12 Die in Crash Of Spanish Plane

MADRID (Reuters) — Twelve of 14 passengers were killed and two others severely injured Wednesday when a Spanish paratroop transport plane crashed at Sidi Ifni, a Spanish possession in north-west Africa. The plane was on a training flight for paratroopers when it burst into flames in the air and crashed.

Labor Council Bars Press From Session

WINNIPEG (BUP)—The Winnipeg and District Labor Council Tuesday barred the press when a resolution urging union support of CCF federal candidates came up for discussion.

Prior to the eviction of reporters, a Canadian Pacific Railway Express Workers' Union delegate of being afraid of discussing politics in front of press representatives.

The in-camera session also dealt with a motion asking that all future council committee members be compelled to take the oath they neither belong to nor support a totalitarian organization.

Six Persons Die Violently

(FROM TIMES NEWS SERVICES)

Six persons have died violently in British Columbia in the past two days, as soaring temperatures brought hundreds of persons out of doors and to unsupervised swimming pools, lakes and ponds.

The dead include a boy drowned at Chilliwack, two boys drowned at Osoyoos, one man killed in an industrial accident and an elderly couple killed in a traffic accident near Hope.

Bernard Pomerantz, eight, from the Chilliwack district drowned while swimming in an unsupervised pool after school on Tuesday. The boy disappeared while swimming with his brother and touched off a wide-scale search. His body was recovered from the pond Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Palmer of Kamloops were killed when their car crashed into a loaded log truck 18 miles east of Hope Wednesday.

Two young boys, Bob Tweedy, seven, and Bobby Reinhold, nine, drowned at Osoyoos Wednesday. The boys were playing on a raft in a slough on the outskirts of Osoyoos. Both youngsters could not swim.

Police applied artificial respiration but were unable to revive the boys.

Jack Boyce, 29-year-old millwright, died in Vancouver, Wednesday, when he was crushed on a conveyor belt.

SURVEY "STALLED"

VANCOUVER—Robert Maitland, parks board chairman, told city boatmen Wednesday that a federal government survey of harbor facilities for pleasure boats has stalled "somewhere" between here and Ottawa.

Prompted by Royal Vancouver Yacht Club demands for additional launching and mooring facilities at the city's harbor, Mr. Maitland said the federal department of public works survey of the harbor and English Bay had been completed.

SPORTSMAN KILLED

KAMLOOPS—One man is dead and another is in serious condition in hospital following an accident involving a jeep near here.

Dead is Miles Thompson, about 60, a widely-known outdoorsman and member of the old B.C. provincial police force.

His brother-in-law, Alan Smith, also about 60, is in Royal Inland Hospital here.

NEGLIGENCE CHARGE

VERNON—Chiropractor Charles W. Huffman of Kelowna was charged Wednesday with criminal negligence in the traffic death of a Kelowna widow and was remanded indefinitely.

Huffman was allegedly the driver of a car in which Mrs. Helen Janson was a passenger and which collided with another car March 24 two miles south of Osoyoos, B.C. Mrs. Janson was killed.

DAMAGE CLAIM SETTLED

VANCOUVER—A Bellingham motorist has settled for $3,800 the claim of William Hunt, 20, New Westminster millworker, for compensation for a broken leg.

Hunt was injured March 17, 1956, in a collision near Bellingham with the car of Melvin A. Wroman.

Earl J. Vance today obtained the approval of Mr. Justice Manson of the settlement offered by Wroman. It covers $1,736 medical expenses and gives Hunt $7,164 general damages.

TRAPPED IN CARS

NORTH VANCOUVER—Two women and an 18-months old baby were in good condition Wednesday after being trapped for more than 20 minutes when their car plunged nose first off a 20-foot embankment at their waterfront home.

Mrs. Pamela Hamilton, 74, was in hospital suffering from bruises, a possible fractured collarbone and a shaking up. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Barbara Hamilton, 29, and grandson, Stephen, escaped with only cuts and bruises.

DEAD IN BATHTUB

VANCOUVER—A 26-year-old woman from San Francisco was found dead Wednesday in the bathtub of her apartment.

Police said Phyllis Joan Christian was found by her husband Maynard, who is attending medical school here. Both were from San Francisco, where Mr. Christian was scheduled to interne after his Vancouver studies.

INJURED IN BRAWL

NORTH VANCOUVER—Bernard McCallum, 47-year-old construction worker, was brought to hospital here Wednesday by boat and ambulance from Brunswick Beach with severe facial injuries.

McCallum, a former resident of Prince Edward Island, is reported to have been badly beaten in a brawl at Brunswick Beach, about six miles north of Horseshoe Bay, where he was employed on construction of the North Vancouver-Squamish Highway.

Another man was taken by railway speeder to Horseshoe Bay where he is being held by police for questioning.

HOW GOOD ARE YOUR EYES?

Can you see through steel? Unless you have X-ray vision you can't be sure whether or not there are hidden defects which will show up later in that used car (and involve you in big expenses for repairs.)

But you CAN BE SURE you'll have NO REPAIR BILLS to meet if your eyes look first for the U.A.B. seal.

The U.A.B. seal on a used car means it has been thoroughly checked by a strong, independent Canadian company and bears a written guarantee covering all repairs, as outlined in Warranty Certificate, for ONE FULL YEAR.

Also available - 2 year's guarantee on new cars.

$60,000 Worth Of Tulips Hit By Blight

TOWN'S TALLEST TULIP, 44 inches high, nods above the head of Barbara Griffin, three, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Griffin, 1437 Clifford. Tulip topped all others in garden of E. G. Porter, 2802 Foul Bay Road. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

At least $60,000 worth of tulips have been rendered unfit for shipping to commercial markets by "fire blight," officials of the Dominion Experimental farm, Saanichton, estimate.

The loss was confirmed today by G. M. Vantreight and William Mattick, two of the largest commercial growers in the Saanich area.

"The tulips may look alright in the field," Mr. Vantreight explained, "but they die quickly when boxed."

The blight is caused by rain followed by warm sun, he said. "A drop of rain is left on a petal, the sun comes out, the droplet acts as a magnifying glass and the blight starts."

When the tulips are shipped, the confined air in the box encourages the blight, and fungus starts.

Mr. Mattick said he had never seen "fire blight" as bad before. "It ruined a whole field in a matter of hours," he said.

NOT SOFTIES, SAYS ESQUIMALT INN PROPRIETOR

Britons Come to Canada For Children's Future

Most British people who contemplate emigrating to Canada are thinking of their children's future.

That is the opinion of Sam Lane, proprietor of the Old England Inn, who has received more than 60 letters from would-be migrants in England and Scotland during the past few weeks.

Mr. Lane, himself a successful immigrant, has been a target for inquiries from Britain since he wrote his own story for the federal department of immigration.

The department prints immigrants' stories in leaflet form and circulates them in Britain and Europe. They are also published in the British weekly "Canada Review."

Scaffolding Collapses, Crushes Two to Death

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—

Two women were killed in the collapse of steel scaffolding on a department store in Wellington's main business section Wednesday. Nine persons were injured. Six autos were crushed.

"Most of the people who write to me are in their 30s," Mr. Lane said, "and in the majority of cases the have young families."

"The dominating theme is that they feel their children will have a better chance in Canada—and particularly in British Columbia."

"Most inquiries, however, reveal a woeful ignorance of conditions in Canada and have little idea of the distances involved and the difference, say, between cities like Victoria and Toronto."

IGLOOS

"Many seem to have the impression we live in igloos out here and wear snowshoes most of the year round. To combat this impression, I send them copies of The Victoria Times and The Daily Colonist."

Mr. Lane believes everyone in Victoria with friends or relatives in the Old Country should do the same.

"It costs little to roll up your newspaper after you have done with it and send it to people you know in Europe."

Typical inquiries are a London chef, a captain in the Royal Army Service Corps, the manager of a hotel at Thames Ditton, Surrey . . . a lawyer and a Manchester bus driver.

"The fact these people are willing to start all over again in a new country when they have settled employment at home proves they are not the type who are looking for a soft living," Mr. Lane said.

"There is far too much of this tommyrot talk about rats leaving a sinking ship . . . Britain is not sinking and Britons who come to Canada are not leaving the British Commonwealth."

"Britain is overcrowded and they are probably doing the Old Country a service by emigrating to a sister Commonwealth country."

Yellowknife Looms as Major Polar Airport — If CPA Bid Approved

VANCOUVER (BUP)—

Yellowknife, long renowned as a colorful Canadian mining community close to the Arctic circle, is destined to become a major international airport on the polar route to Europe, if the government approves a new application by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

President G. W. G. McConachie announced in Vancouver today that CPA has applied for permission to pick up traffic at Yellowknife on the polar route from Vancouver to Amsterdam.

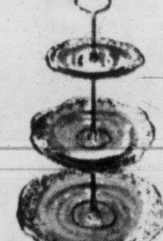

Actual inauguration of the Canada-Europe flights via Yellowknife will depend on government approval, a CPA spokesman said. It is hoped to begin the service next fall.

Last year CPA carried 9,000 passengers on the polar route between Vancouver and Amsterdam, and the airlines estimates that some 12,000 passengers will use the service this year.

JORDAN RIVER-PORT RENFREW ROAD SOON A REALITY

By DON INGHAM

Mile by mile, and link by link, the West Coast Road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew is becoming a reality. The road is a three-way venture shared by the provincial government, Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Co. Ltd. of Jordan River, and B.C. Forest Products at Port Renfrew. The two lumber companies are building their portions of the road under terms of forest management licences, and the government will build the connecting link of 3.9 miles. B.C. Forest Products already has finished its five miles of road, and contractors for the government are making their way from Port Renfrew toward Jordan River. CPS has graded its share of the road, and now has a fleet of gravel trucks putting the final surface on the last three miles of the road. "End of the line" for motorists going west from Jordan River is at Sombrio Creek, seen in the picture at the far right. Truck, owned by CPS superintendent Ole Dale, is parked at the extreme limit of the company's holdings, 17.3 miles from Jordan River. "We can hear the power saws of crews clearing right of way south from Port Renfrew," Mr. Dale said Wednesday while escorting a Times reporter and photographer over the new road. "That is when we realize that the road is on its way. Target date for completion of the link is the end of August, according to highways department officials. When finished the drive between Jordan River and Port Renfrew will be about 26 miles, and will skirt some of the more rugged terrain on the west coast. Only view of the ocean will be that seen from the first 10 miles of the road past Jordan River, when one can look past Cape Flattery to the Pacific, and even see tiny Tatoosh Island, at the tip of the cape. The road then turns inland and travels through virgin timber, and will climb to about 1,000 feet at the highest point between the two settlements, but there will be some spectacular views to thrill even the most jaded motorists. One of them will be the long view seen in the centre picture above, looking down hill toward the valley of Loss Creek, that extends eastward into the distance. This portion of the road was chewed out of solid rock to the bottom of the hill, where it turns across the river flats to the bridge seen in the picture at the left. "It is 10 feet above the water surface now, but at one time during the winter there were 18 inches of water over the bridge," Mr. Dale said. This road is not a first class highway yet, and will not be for some time, but grading and maintenance gradually will bring it out to the full 18 feet required by management licence terms.

MONTE ROBERTS

People in the newspaper business are forever being called on to estimate crowds. When crowds line the streets for a parade, or flock to the station to see a visiting celebrity, or jam the curbs to rubber-neck at a fire, the newspaper reader expects to read an account of how many people were there. Some newspapermen are excellent at this. But I'm not. I have tried various methods of estimating crowds. I have often asked a policeman, but the reply usually is "move along now." Usually I ask another newspaperman, who says he doesn't know, either. The two of us then agree on a nice round figure and . . . But I am giving away trade secrets. All I meant to do was mention I did not know much about estimating crowds, so I am very pleased to hear of a new method. This method shall hereinafter be known as the counting-the-number-who-stayed-home method. And all honors for inventing it go to Mr. Eric Charman, a drum-beater for one of the candidates in the current election campaign. In referring to a recent meeting, Mr. Charman is quoted as saying: "We know many people stayed at home because they feared they would be unable to gain admission to the hall." Thus you can see it was a very successful meeting. In the Greater Victoria area alone, more than 100,000 people showed their enthusiastic approval of the candidate by staying home for fear they couldn't get in. Up-Island, an estimated 50,000 cheering voters expressed their earnest support for the policies of the candidate by sitting by the fire with their feet up and not going to the meeting. Officials on the candidate's campaign team are hoping for even better results at the next meeting. They are hoping people will stay at home at points as far away as Courtenay, Campbell River and Alberni, earnestly fearing they will be unable to gain admission. If so many people stay home that nobody goes to the meeting at all, it will be an unqualified success.

MEETINGS OUR PROJECT FOR CENTENARY?

Local celebrations of B.C.'s Centenary will be considered tonight at City Hall by Greater Victoria Centennial Committee. B.C. Centennial Committee chairman, L. J. Wallace, and executive secretary L. H. McCance, will attend the meeting. The district committee will meet with representatives of all city groups and organizations at 7.30 p.m., May 18. Chairman Ald. G. I. Edgell says he will call a meeting soon of the Victoria council committee to recommend a Centennial project for the city.

OFFICERS HERE FROM S. AFRICA

'Hep' Natives Swing To Sally Ann Music

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
The pounding rhythm of Salvation Army bands, complete with drums and tambourines, draw their own kind of "Rock 'n' Roll" addicts and today in South Africa thousands of native men and women are "swinging it out" under the army's red banner. Result is there are now more colored Salvation Army officers than white, say Brigadier and Mrs. Wilfred Yurgensen, who have just returned to Victoria from Capetown after 16 years' service in Kenya and Uganda and seven in South Africa. On furlough here, they are staying with Mrs. Yurgensen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leggett, at 1519 Oakland Avenue. "African natives have an in-born sense of rhythm," tall, good-humored Brigadier Yurgensen said, "and our traditional style of playing hymns, with lots of melody and percussion, has a natural appeal for them." "From dancing and singing they go on to learn about the deeper things . . . and then you find them most earnest campaigners and workers. We simply cannot keep up with the numbers who wish to train as doctors and nurses in our service. "And a surprising number have the intelligence and determination to go through with it. Our native medical corps grows bigger every year." South Africa now has 424 Salvation Army officers, both white and colored, and 488 centres for the spiritual and physical treatment of natives and whites. "Alcoholism there is a bigger problem than it is here," said cheerful, brown-eyed Mrs. Yurgensen, "and we have the best rehabilitation centre in the whole world. . . . Brigadier Yurgensen, who has been in the Army's service 31 years, travels 30,000 miles by car every year from his Capetown headquarters and visits all of the 53 schools for native children. Mr. Yurgensen, who was born in London, Eng., speaks four languages — Danish, Swahili, Afrikaans and English, and says he is well received by anti-British factions in South Africa because he has a Danish name. The visitors will conduct services at the Salvation Army Citadel on Pandora Avenue next Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Longer School Term Asked By Sidney; Fewer Holidays

Island Municipal Leaders To Study Request May 22

Longer school days, less holidays—and abolition of industrial arts and home economics to cut school costs—has been recommended by Sidney village commission. These are main points of a resolution being submitted May 22 to the annual conference of Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities at Courtenay. The resolution calls for re-establishment of the complete senior matriculation course for high schools in a four-year period. It recommends that youngsters "unable or unwilling to meet requirements of such a course" be sent to trade schools. Copy of the resolution, received at Victoria City Hall today, states these steps should be endorsed because school costs are at an all-time high and apparently increasing. " . . . And the level of education does not compare favorably with most other provinces in that senior matriculation is not given as part of the high school system." (At present in B.C., high schools extend to grade 12 and senior matriculation is taught in the first year at Victoria College.) The resolution says that in the interest of economy, new classroom construction should be geared primarily for teaching of fundamentals. The school day should be increased one half hour. The school year should be extended from Sept. 1 to June 30.

10-Day Christmas Holiday

Holidays should be held to 10 days at Christmas, four days at Easter and there should be only four statutory holidays observed. (This would add about three weeks to the present school year). The commission holds that the department of education should . . . abolish industrial arts and home economics courses and establish a four-year course for senior matriculation. Trade schools, which would issue certificates for entry to commerce or industry, should be established for students "unable or unwilling to meet requirements of such a curriculum." "A complete revision of the curriculum should be made so that these objectives can be properly fulfilled." "Such subjects as are wasteful of teachers' and students' time (should) be eliminated—

MORE PAY PHONES ON STREET UNDER STUDY BY ALDERMEN

Establishment of pay-telephone booths on city street corners is under consideration by council finance committee. The committee today asked B.C. Telephone to list corners where it is felt booths should be located. At present all outdoor booths are located on private property. Ald. Austin I. Curtis thought the system might permit doing away with the present fire alarm box signal system. No payment is required by booth phones for a fire alarm call.

Soloists Feature Music Festival

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
Piano and vocal solo work came to the fore today in the Greater Victoria Music Festival.

See Also Page 33
Bulk of the school group participation is finished and adult classes began this afternoon with Grade A solo sessions, including the women's operatic class.

There will be no events to night but Friday evening will see the grand wind-up for schools with representation of the best of choral and instrumental classes and some complementary folk dance performances. A church choir class with one entry from Nanaimo will conclude the program. This will take place at Central Junior High School.

Friday, during the day, piano classes will continue at St. John's Memorial Hall and junior vocal at Metropolitan Church schoolroom in the morning. Adult vocal classes, including men's operatic, oratorio, women's oratorio and Bach sacred solo, will be held at First United Fellowship Hall during the afternoon.

At this morning's session for teenage girls' vocal solo, adjudicator Wayne Hartz awarded his highest mark up to that time—91—to Shirley Russell, of whom he declared: "She had an outstanding concept of tone." He considered the class a particularly fine one on the whole—"not one was below 80." Shirley was awarded one of the Mrs. R. H. Pooley prizes of $15.

Runners-up were Barbara Old-nall with 87 and Judy Barr with 85. In the class for girls, 11 years and under, the Mrs. R. H. Pooley prize went to Sharron Sinnott with a mark of 87. Carolyn Davies was next with 86 and Patsy Perrins and Leslie Evans tied with 84. Girls' high voice, 12 and 13 years, was won by Clare Robert with 85. Carolyn Adams was one mark behind with 84 and Susan Basanta was given 81 marks.

PIANO "TODDLERS"
Twenty-five small girls and boys of 9 years or under, playing any two pieces from a children's suite, came under close, friendly and helpful scrutiny by piano adjudicator Hugh McLean at St. John's Hall.

Mr. McLean found nothing to criticize in performance of her first piece by Carolyn Grace Heil. Her mark of 88 put her top of the large class. Ann Tracy—"a little girl with a happy future in music"—was second with 87; Beverly Brown, third with 86 and Sharon Patricia Silver, fourth with 84.

TOP SPEAKERS
Some top-flight speakers have been invited for the two-day workshop.

They include John Fisher, well-known Canadian television and radio commentator; Billy Wortz, internationally known U.S. speaker on subjects pertaining to catering and food handling and food service; R. A. Denny, director of the Institute of Technology and Art at Calgary.

In addition, Guy Moore, one of Ontario's top-flight experts on hotels and motels, has been invited to the workshop. Mr. Jeffs said the workshop will make people realize how important the tourist industry is to the welfare of the community. "It is one of our most important industries," he said. "If it is to be maintained we must show an interest in our visitors and encourage them to stay here."

City Hotel, Cafe Workers To Bone Up on Tourist Lures
Hundreds of people in the city's catering and hotel industry will take part in a sight-seeing tour of Victoria next Wednesday at 1.15 p.m. to familiarize themselves on the "points of interest in Victoria."

The tour, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is part of a drive to improve the tourist industry.

STAY LONGER
"We feel if citizens, especially those who come in contact with tourists, knew more about their city, tourists could be encouraged to stay longer in the city," said Russ Jeffs, assistant secretary-manager of the chamber.

Four transportation companies will provide buses for the familiarization tour. Between 400 and 600 people are expected to participate.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City council was asked by finance committee today to approve a Boy Scout Apple Day on a suitable date this summer. Although the city has a policy of limiting tag days, it was decided as the purchaser gets an apple for his money, the scout event would not fall in the tag-day classification.

Victoria council finance committee will take another look at Memorial Arena floor. Recently city council turned down a request from Memorial Arena Commission for a new floor freezing system. City engineer J. C. Garnett felt the expenditure, estimated as high as $100,000, could be put off with a system of careful maintenance and patching. The decision to visit the arena and reconsider the matter followed a request by city manager C. C. Wyatt today. He is a member of the arena commission.

A special meeting of Victoria city council will be held Tuesday to complete passage of the tax and expenditure by-laws for 1957. Deadline for the passage of the by-law under the Municipal Act is May 15. The by-law, setting a mill rate of 4½ mills, up one from last year, was to get first reading later today.

FRIDAY MEETINGS
Victoria Lions: Empress Hotel, noon luncheon. L. J. Wallace will speak on "1858-1958: A Century to Celebrate." 31st Battalion Association, CEF: 617 Fort Street, 8 p.m.

Army paycorpsman Cpl. Bruce Holme, Work Point, plans his initial attempt at swimming Juan de Fuca Strait May 18 or 19, he said today. He said he hopes to leave Port Angeles at about 2 p.m. on the Saturday or Sunday, depending on weather conditions.

Victoria Federal CCF campaign committee today asked Victoria council for permission to hold an outdoor rally in Beacon Hill Park at an unspecified date prior to June 10 federal election.

The request asked use of the bandstand. Parks committee will study the request and make a recommendation to council, probably next week. Square dancing for children between the ages of 10 and 13 will be conducted in Beacon Hill Park, Saturday from 10.30 to approximately 11.30 a.m. Dancing will be directed by William Deacon who heads the "Alma Squares". Location in the park is behind the children's playground which has been fitted with a public address system for the occasion.

A plea of not guilty was entered in city police court today on behalf of 18-year-old high school student Stephen Yarmie, 920 Empress, charged with obtaining a car by false pretences. Yarmie, who had been held in custody was granted $1,000 bail and was remanded for trial to May 16. It is alleged he obtained an auto from Robert Stirling Manns, April 1.

Victoria and District Cornish Association will meet at the home of Miss L. Hooper, 781 Richmond Road, Saturday at 8 p.m.

President of Besant lodge, Frank P. Boucher will speak on "The Plant Kingdom: Its Relation to Theosophy" at a public meeting sponsored by Victoria Theosophical Society, 904 Government Street, Sunday at 8 p.m.

The 300 airborne members of the Victoria Flying Club today issued invitations to the public to "come out and see what we can do." It is in conjunction with "open house" of the club, a member of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, tying in with similar functions in the 40 affiliated clubs throughout Canada, May 10 to 12.

Esquimalt Lions' Club will sponsor 15 games of bingo at Esquimalt High School, Monday night starting at 8. All proceeds will be in aid of Lions' charities.

Sunday Is Mother's Day ... Here Are Gift Suggestions

By PENNY SAVER

But what shall we buy for her day of days? This is a question that will no doubt be repeated many times between now and Sunday by children and husbands alike. If there have been no subtle hints or suggestions already made by mother, perhaps these few gift ideas will help you out of the dilemma.

An attractive pen to pop into her purse, or keep with her favorite stationery may be the answer. From these half-point pens flows floral-scented ink that sweetens any note. The fragrance is evident only after the ink is on the paper, you cannot detect it from the pen itself. A pink, blue or black pen sprinkled with glittering rhinestones will make mother's eyes shine. Charming and oh, so feminine, the pens are $1.75 each.

Bone china snack sets for mother, the hostess, come in blue, pink or yellow, and are selling at the special price of $1.98. Handy oval trays with tall matching cups will be used often in your house for every-day or entertaining.

Other good gift suggestions in the china department include yellow tea rose tea ware. Cups and saucers were priced at $1.50, but are now $1.19. Bread and butter plates were $1.20, now 96 cents and tea plates were $1.50, now $1.19. Cream and sugars in this same lovely rose pattern are $1.95, formerly $2.95, and bon bon dishes, which were $1.70, are $1.29.

China floral clusters to brighten what-not shelves or decorate little tables are lovely, too, and are selling at reasonable prices. Roses, carnations and violets in dainty containers cost 98 cents, $1.49 and $2.98.

Eighteen patterns in cups and saucers are there for your choosing ... floral and pastels in many delicate shades. A wonderful price right now, the cups and saucers are 98 cents each or three for $2.87.

Perfume, always welcome, and so pleasant to choose, is a good Mother's Day gift. Four-ounce

An Up-Island Wedding Of Interest to Victoria

A nuptial Mass was celebrated in Our Lady of Lourdes Chapel, Campbell River recently by Father Donal Lehanne when Miss Kim Estelle Williams and Thomas Flynn exchanged vows.

The petit, fair-haired bride was lovely in a white ballerina-length gown accented with blue accessories. She carried a spray of white flowers on a white prayer book. She was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, T. Richardson.

The Sisters of St. Ann formed the choir during the Mass.

Bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Matson wore a pink gown with white accessories and carried pastel flowers. Ray Flynn, RCAF, was his brother's best man, and usher was Doug Flynn, another brother.

Miss Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams of Fort St. John is a graduate of Prince Rupert Convent and Bowser.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Miss Joyce Patricia Allison to Mr. William Ernest Mackereith was recently announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Allison, 624 Alpha Street. Mr. Mackereith is son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mackereith, 3461 Bethune Avenue. The wedding will take place May 18 at 8 p.m. in Centennial United Church, with Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiating. An Amethyst for an Engagement Ring?

Must an engagement ring be a diamond solitaire? My fiancée wants to have a lovely amethyst that belonged to his grandmother reset for me, but my family is violently opposed to the idea, insisting that this would be highly unconventional.

Answers: Although the diamond is traditional, an engagement ring can have any kind of stone. What a young man gets his fiancée is a symbol as well as an adornment, and it is such a personal thing between two people that no one else should voice an opinion, let alone have one. I have seen many diamondless engagement rings set with various kinds of stones, some new, some family heirlooms. If you are perfectly happy with an amethyst engagement ring, I hope you won't let anyone try to talk you out of it. Whether it is to be an amethyst or a diamond is for your fiancée and you to decide. Asking questions of family and friends will only confuse the issue. Some will like the idea, others won't, so you might as well work this out by yourselves.

Gown of Palest Pink Worn by Miss Holloway

A lovely gown of pink nylon net over bridal satin was worn by Miss Lois Amy Mae Holloway for her marriage recently to Alvin Benjamin Bonk in Brentwood Memorial Chapel, Brentwood.

Rev. George Harrington officiated at the ceremony which united in marriage the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ted P. Holloway, Brentwood Bay, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Bonk, 1117 McClure Street, Victoria.

The young couple exchanged vows and rings in a setting of calla lilies, snapdragons and spring blossoms. Mrs. Marshall played traditional wedding music, while Mrs. H. Simpson sang "The Lord's Prayer" during signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her pastel gown fashioned with billowing ballerina-length skirt, lily point sleeves and fitted bodice trimmed with mother of pearl sequins. Her only jewelry was mother of pearl earrings. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink roses to match the dainty pink rose-bud halo that held her misting fingertip veil. Matron of honor, Mrs. Bruce Holloway, and bridesmatron, Mrs. Lawrence Combs were identically gowned in pale blue ballerina-length gowns. They wore pink floral headresses and carried pink carnation bouquets. Flower girl, Sharon Bickford, wore a pale blue nylon frock and carried a basket of pink carnations.

The groom had as his best man Frank Easton. Ushering guests to pews marked with pink carnations were Bruce Holloway and Lawrence Combs.

A reception party was held in Sidney Hotel, where Donald Campbell proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier wedding cake trimmed with pink rosebuds centred the bride's table. Bouquets of pink roses flanked by pink candles completed the arrangement.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a pink fitted suit with light blue accessories and the groom's gift, blue rhinestone necklace and earrings. Her corsage was a white orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Bonk have made their home in Courtenay after a honeymoon in Seattle.

Eastern Star Tea

Multi-colored pansies centred individual tea tables at the 10th annual Maytime tea sponsored by the Order of Eastern Star and held in K of P Hall, Comorant St., on Tuesday afternoon. The tea was in aid of the Free Cancer Dressing Station.

Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, introduced by Mrs. Doris Watson, associate grand conductress of British Columbia, declared the affair officially opened. She was presented with a bouquet of tulips by Mrs. Watson's granddaughter, little Miss Erin Gulliver. General convener, Mrs. N. McPhee welcomed those present and introduced Mrs. Watson to them.

Heads of the seven OES chapters in Greater Victoria, acted as hostesses. They were Mrs. Doris Dakers, Queen City Chapter, No. 5; Mrs. Gertrude Neelands, Victoria Chapter, No. 17; Mrs. Wilma Cormack, Ruth Chapter, No. 22; Mrs. Marjorie Russell, Esquimalt Chapter, No. 41; Miss Alison Neilans, Oak Bay Chapter, No. 42; Mrs. Mary Slater, Unity Chapter, No. 84, and Mrs. Carrie Graham, Centennial Chapter.

Mrs. L. Robins presided at the top tea table. Co-convener was Mrs. C. Hampton, and members of the various chapters acted as servers.

A home-cooking stall was in charge of Mrs. M. Fair, Mrs. J. Beven, Mrs. M. Rawlings, Mrs. G. Williams and Mrs. Florence Jack. Refreshments, Mrs. V. Neville and Mrs. C. Pells; decorations, Mrs. C. Prior and Mrs. Robins; kitchen arrangements, Mrs. M. Higuebran; Mrs. M. Bland, Mrs. I. Springer, Mrs. F. Houston, Mrs. L. Rippon, Mrs. H. Hogg and Mrs. N. Craig; door tickets, Miss Ethel Brown and Mrs. E. McLagan.

Ex-WRCNS Tea—A sum of $95 was realized at a tea held recently by the Ex-WRCNS in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room, and will be given to the Cerebral Palsy Association. Mrs. Jean Skea was general convener, assisted by Mrs. Jennie Pike. In charge of a home cooking stall was Mrs. Iris Atkin.

Parents of the 166 graduating cadets have also been invited to attend. Among them are Mr. J. R. Wanless, Victoria, Mr. Percy A. White, Port Alberni and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walsh of Alberni, B.C.

Rideau Hall and VON Linked In History Says Governor-General

OTTAWA (CP)—Governor-General Massey welcomed the Victorian Order of Nurses to Government House Wednesday and "back where I like to think you belong."

The order "strayed from the traditional path" last year, he said. It met in Hamilton, Ont. A visit to Government House is a tradition of the order's annual meetings, usually held in the capital.

Mr. Massey, VON patron, told 260 delegates from 84 branches attending the two-day annual meeting here he hopes the historic link between Rideau Hall and the order will always be maintained.

Lady Aberdeen, wife of a governor-general, founded the VON in 1887. The meeting, which ended today, also was to mark the order's 60th anniversary year Wednesday night with a diamond jubilee dinner. This is also the centenary of Lady Aberdeen's birth.

Delegates heard reports from retiring president E. P. Taylor of Toronto and Christine Livingston of Ottawa, VON director-in-chief. Miss Livingston reported that 592 nurses in 117 branches last year made a record 1,044,048 visit to 122,787 cases.

Care for Canada's increasing older population suffering chronic illnesses and efforts to lower the infant mortality rate are today's challenges to the home-nursing service, Miss Livingston said.

The VON now spends three-quarters of its time caring for the aged and chronically ill. This care necessitates more and longer visits. Yet for persons who are best cared for in their homes, the VON has the exact kind of service needed," she said.

Portrait Bridal Gowns in White

NEW YORK—No girl ever wound up looking a misty picture of perfection on her wedding day by sheer accident.

It takes planning to be able to move down the aisle looking lovely. The wedding guests see only the final result. They're not concerned with the careful choice of dress and veil and flowers.

It stands to reason that a bride is going to put the largest sum of money she spends on a wedding into the wedding dress itself. In many ways, it's the most important dress she'll ever wear.

In it, she creates the effect that people will remember for years after. In it, she will be photographed. Whether she passes the dress on to her daughter in later years is not as important as the fact that she should enjoy and feel beautiful in it.

We show here two dresses by Alfred Angelo that meet the requirements in every respect. Both of them are true portrait dresses, designed to make a girl shine at her own wedding.

Gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle (left) has beautiful simplicity of line and a scalloped, five-tier train. Neckline is outlined in lace and iridescent sequins.

The dress is lined with interion to keep its lovely lines. Sequins are repeated on the appliqued lace tiers.

Tulle and lace gown (right) has wide neckline with frame of soft pleating. Overskirt is scalloped over full layers of pleated tulle.

Coffee Party To Help With YMCA Furnishings

Plans were completed at the last meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the YMCA for a coffee party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Mayhew, 3515 Beach Drive, on May 17 from 11 a.m. to 1.30 p.m. Mrs. W. Munro and Mrs. R. S. Collinson are convening the affair. There will be stalls of home cooking, candy, flowers and plants; novelties and name tapes.

Tentative plans were also made for a fall-fashion show in early September.

Proceeds from these projects will be used to assist the auxiliary with funds for the housekeeping at the "Y." All proceeds from the coffee party will go to help with redecorating and refurbishings.

Mrs. R. A. Dykes presided at the meeting.

District Council

Delegates and members of South Vancouver Island auxiliaries to Canadian Legion attended a meeting recently in Sidney Legion Hall. Present as a guest was Mrs. E. Swan, honorary president, B.C. Command. Reports were heard on work done at local hospitals under convener of Mrs. E. Jarvis. Transportation arrangements were made for delegates wishing to travel to Nanaimo to attend the provincial convention of Ladies' Auxiliaries to Canadian Legion, June 2 to 5. A joint meeting of Island district councils will be held in Duncan in September, and the next meeting of South Vancouver Island District Council will be held in Britannia Rooms in October.

Why is 8 baby's lucky number?

It's the magic number that means meal-time variety for baby. Gerber Strained Vegetables (all 8 of 'em) are famous for naturally good, garden flavors and the eye-catching colors that invite an appetite. From the mild Green Peas to the naturally sweet Squash, each variety is pureed to a velvety smoothness. Special pressure cooking preserves the utmost in precious food values.

Important point to remember: A daily serving of green and yellow vegetables is usually recommended for vitamin-A value, minerals and important B-vitamins. Gerber Strained Carrots, Beets, Squash, Sweet Potatoes, Garden Vegetables, Peas and Mixed Vegetables are high in vitamin-A value, offer significant sources of minerals and vitamins.

CENTENNIAL COMPETITION

City Man Finalist In Sculpture Contest

Winner of the B.C. Centennial Committee sculpturing contest will be named within the next week.

He will be chosen from one of three finalists—including a Victorian-announced Wednesday.

Herbert Siebner, 278 Goldsmith, was awarded $250 for his work, which expresses the contest's theme of "youth".

Other two finalists are Gerhard H. Class of North Vancouver, and Reg and Natalie Dixon, Vancouver.

The judges studied the 40 entries from every angle for more than seven hours before reaching a verdict.

$20,000 COMMISSION

The winning finalist will be awarded the Centennial Committee's $20,000 commission for a major work for next year's celebrations.

Of his work, Mr. Siebner said:

"Youth is free and growing and this I tried to express in the sculpture. I feel the expression of my feelings came out."

"You never can express exactly the feeling in a work of art because the materials used intrude."

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, May 9th—I just have to tell you about my latest discovery! It's a completely new kind of coconut—BAKER'S ANGEL FLAKE COCONUT. Not shreds—but tender-thin, light, dewy-fresh flakes that melt in your mouth. As for flavor—Baker's Angel Flake Coconut tastes fresh—as if you'd picked the ripe coconut and grated it yourself. Makes ordinary cakes enchanting. And here's more enchantment! An exciting new "Cut-Up Cakes" book that tells how to make unusual party cakes without special pans. The Baker's Angel Flake Coconut package tells you how to get yours. I'd suggest you get a package of Angel Flake right away and send for your book. I already have mine!

MOTHERS USED TO THINK... that Diaper Rash was one of the "necessary evils" of babyhood. But not any more! The four DIAPARENE Products have changed all that. Use Diaparene Ointment liberally if baby's skin is already red—and it will clear up the most obstinate case of diaper rash. Diaparene Powder and Lotion medically prevent chafing and irritation. And if you'll just add a few drops of Diaparene Rinse in the final rinse water—baby's diapers will be pre-medicated—so that the little one can have full protection. Diaparene Antiseptics are prescribed by physicians.

ONE-THIRD OF A HOME—WASTED! That's what we've all seen time and again with an old-fashioned basement and out-of-date heating equipment. It's truly surprising how inexpensive it is to install a modern heating unit—and then modernize this valuable area of the house—for a recreation room, workshop and an attractive laundry. You can "live modern" right where you are—thanks to today's developments in heating and plumbing. I've written a book, which has been beautifully and colorfully illustrated, for the CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PLUMBING AND HEATING which they will send you FREE! I really think you'll find it most helpful. Just write C.I.P.H., Dept. 10, 550 Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal.

OUR COMING HOME is always a lively occasion for our beautiful budgie, Sir Isaac. He never fails to chirrup his delight and swing on his perch. Frantically, BROCK'S BUDGIE SEED, one of the 5 Basic Brock Products, keeps Sir Isaac in perfect condition, always. I wish every home could know the joy of a budgie!

PREVENTION may well be the best cure, but for many of us it's just a phrase that is more easily said than practiced. Unfortunately, the truth of it is fully realized only after misfortune has struck. "If only I had done this, that, or the other thing..." is the all-too-familiar substitute for lack of foresight. Suppose your own family income was suddenly cut off due to accident or sickness. If you're smart you have insurance to cover such emergencies. But what about the hundreds of other expenses that crop up when the breadwinner isn't earning? That's when money in the bank could spell real peace of mind, and that's why thousands of far-sighted Canadian families today have special "emergency" Savings Accounts at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Start your "rainy day" savings fund today, at "My Bank". You'll like saving at Canada's First Bank.

LUCKY, LUCKY US! What a satisfaction to be able to have a pantry array of the pure fruit jellies made by SHIRRIFF... ready to give the final touch of perfection to meats... and desserts... grand on toast and crackers. Look at this tempting lineup of fresh-fruit flavors—each one so very clear, so very bright, and flavorsome... Crabapple, Grape, Red Currant, Black Currant, Strawberry, Snow Apple, Mint and Cranberry Sauce. Each flavor is packed in an attractive drinking glass containing 9 fluid ounces of the purest jelly—no added pectin or flavoring. Shirriff's have long held women's admiration for the true, fresh-fruit flavor of their fine jellies. Order some today, do!

IT'S REALLY STUNNING! I'm writing about the new Royal Dutch Stainless Steel Flatware, that you can get at a wonderful saving, through LIPTON SOUPS. Save your packages from all the delicious varieties of these delectable soups—and ask your grocer about the big offer! You'll find that Lipton Chicken Noodle will become the favorite soup of your family—and your guests. It has the most delicate flavor—yet a hearty appetite appeal, too. It's a dream served "straight"—or you can use it as the base for chicken sauces, and vegetable casseroles. Get some today—and ask your grocer about that exciting offer!

EVERYONE KNOWS THAT DOGS COME IN MANY BREEDS, shapes and sizes... but there is one thing every dog has in common—the need for a complete, nutritionally balanced diet every day. Poor feeding is the major cause of dog illnesses. Like humans, a dog must have a daily supply of vitamins, minerals, proteins and other essential food elements to keep healthy, happy and in good condition. DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD is the BEST way I know of providing your dog with all these things. This veterinarian prepared formula was developed to give your dog the best diet possible and nothing but the best is good enough for your best friend. So, next time you shop, better get Dr. Ballard's Champion Dog Food... Regular, Chicken and Liver flavours.

Quebec Universities Return Federal Grant

QUEBEC (CP) — L'Evenement... Journal says four Quebec universities have returned to the Canadian Universities Conference cheques they received from the federal government. The newspaper says Bishop's College, Ennville, and the Universities of Montreal, Sherbrooke and Laval returned the payments, which have been discouraged by Premier Duplessis as an encroachment on provincial rights.

TOP CADET NAMED FOR COLLEGE PARADE

Cadet Wing Commander Michael W. Stedman, West Vancouver, will lead the march past at the graduation ceremonies Friday for the Canadian Services College class of 1957.

He was selected best all-round cadet. Main academic honors will go to Peter J. Dawson, New Westminster; Donald Demerise, Kirkland Lake, and Mark A. McCavity, Toronto.

Defence Minister Ralph Campney will make the graduation address.

FORT ST. JOHN—Funeral services for Robert Barker, 83, a pioneer homesteader in this Peace River area, were held Tuesday.

A bachelor, Barker was born in England and arrived at Fort St. John in 1905. The homestead he staked has been turned into an industrial area by West-Pacific Petroleum Ltd.

TIN CAN TIDAL RETURN SPURS CITY LANDFILL GARBAGE PLAN

Tin cans which apparently survive the garbage crusher are still floating back to Victoria beaches by the thousand, Y. P. A. Vesey, 1805 Crescent Road, reported Wednesday night.

He supports sanitary landfill operations for local garbage disposal. Oak Bay fire hall is built on a former landfill, he says.

City works officials are studying two plans for better disposal—increasing the distance of the tow to sea, or a sanitary landfill in Topaz Park area.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prize? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 30-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Michaela Jennings, aged 10, of Columbus, Ohio, for her question:

What Is Sulphur?

Pure sulphur is a soft shade of canary yellow. It may be powdery, crystal or like a rock. In everyday life, we hardly ever see it in these forms. Yet it is one of the busiest elements behind the scenes in modern industry. You would never know, but sulphur is a necessary part of your body and also present in plants. For it is one of the elements necessary to make the protein foods which our bodies need to grow and repair themselves.

In our bodies, sulphur is hidden in tiny, invisible particles. We get our supplies from egg yolk foods and vegetables, especially cabbage and mustard plants. Sulphur also hides itself when it goes to work in industry. One way it hides is to combine with other elements to form entirely different compounds.

One of these compounds is sulphuric acid—a thick, clear liquid. This acid is strong enough to dissolve zinc and aluminum. It is used as a bleach and as a dissolver for cloth dyes. It plays a part in refining gasoline and bites into the metal plates for making lithographs and photoengraving. Chances are, it is present in a storage battery. For it helps to make soap, glue and leather. And most of it is used to turn phosphate rocks into valuable plant fertilizer.

Another sulphur compound is the hypo used to develop photographic prints. Other compounds of sulphur play a part in making ink, germ and antifungal killing salves, matches, fireworks, gunpowder and in vulcanizing rubber.

In olden days, sulphur was called brimstone—the burning stone. The yellow stone or powder begins to melt when heated a little above the boiling point of water. At about 480 degrees Fahrenheit, it is a thick, brown liquid ready to burst into flame.

Brimstone was found long ago in Sicily. It came from the earth in the form of thick, suffocating gases. The gases finally settled into solid sulphur mixed with other volcanic rocks. The ore was mined and heated. The sulphur soon melted and separated itself from the rocks.

Nowadays, most of the world's sulphur is mined in America. It occurs in huge underground domes near the Gulf of Mexico in Texas and Louisiana.

It is taken from underground by an elaborate system of pipes and steam pressure.

Sulphur is also taken from pyrite minerals and natural gas. Though it is one of the most vital elements on earth, the supplies are not widely scattered. The large hoards of pure sulphur are concentrated in the United States and the Mediterranean regions. These supplies are large enough to provide enough sulphur for all our needs way into the future.

And so they do.

A creamy colored ostrich egg weighs about three pounds. The nest must be big and strong enough to hold about 45 pounds of eggs. It is built of twigs, mud and other strong claws to dig a shallow hole in the ground.

Papa stays close to the nest to see that the eggs are kept properly warm. He often drives mama away and sits on them himself. As a rule, he allows her to sit on the nest during the daytime while he takes over the job at night.

The sassy chicks do not have the soft, graceful plumage of their parents. When they hatch, they are covered with spiky down and look like porcupines.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

By FREEMAN KING

VICTORIA DISTRICT NOTES

Five Victoria Scouts will be among those going to the Ninth World Jamboree, one Rover Scout attending the Moot, and two leaders at the Indaba. Four Scouts and one leader will go to Valley Forge for the fourth American jamboree.

The Victoria Scouts are combining with the Victoria Division of the Girl Guides, entering a float in the May Parade.

This weekend will see another work party at Camp Barnard, Sooke, when more work will be done on the well and grounds.

Leaders are reminded that camp application forms should be sent in to district headquarters at least two weeks before going into camp, and all camps over three days need a permit.

GLANFORD AVENUE PACK

A plant and nature expedition was held on Monday evening, with wide Cub games and a campfire.

'BRAIN' FAILS

Cupid's Bow With Arrow Misses Mark

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Cupid's arrow fired by the mechanical brain, Univac, failed to stick in its target.

Barbara Smith, 23-year-old switchboard operator, said Tuesday her romance with a 28-year-old advertising manager, John Caran, is ended.

Barbara was busy on her switchboard and couldn't take time to go into detail about the broken engagement.

Caran would say only: "I'm not free to make any commitment."

It all started last October when Art Linkletter of NBC's People are Funny television show advertised for single persons who wanted to get married. More than 1,000 responded. They filled out questionnaires about their personal lives and preferences.

Attractive Barbara caught the show director's eyes. They decided to ask Univac to turn up a "table prospective husband."

Digesting the information on the questionnaires of hundreds of marriage-minded men, Univac popped up with Caran's name. The information on his card indicated he was "Mr. Right" for Barbara.

Barbara and John were introduced on the Oct. 27 show and hit it off immediately. The show called for them to tackle a scrambled word game with the prize going up each week they returned. On the fourth show they announced their engagement.

But Barbara has wiped out the trip to Paris and shattered Univac's reputation as a cupid.

Bridge Results

Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club results of the monthly master point tournament held at 902 Government Tuesday comprised 18 tables, divided into two sections.

Results follow:

Section one, North-South—Elizabeth Warren and Lil Tattersall; Gwen Brown and Jo Waddington; Dick Lipsey and Joe Lukas.

East-West—Tony Marsh and Michael Perks; Doug Hawkes and Bill Simpson-Baile; Joan Williams and Roberta Watson.

Section two, North-South—Eric Goodwin and Jim Dupray; Otto Leessment and Les Stewart; Marjorie Beale and Muriel Ford.

East-West—Frank Arlett and Gordon Rodger; Neil Williamson and Hildegard Rundquist; Freda Small and Velma Acres.

Malta: Integration Or Independence?

LONDON (Reuters)—Malta Governor Sir Robert Laycock conferred Wednesday with the colonial office on the threat of the Mediterranean island's premier to seek political independence instead of integration with Britain.

Laycock arrived here last weekend after Maltese Prime Minister Dom Mintoff said that if Britain did not treat the colony on equal terms it would seek independence.

FAIRFIELD TROOP

This troop has grown to a strength of 42 boys and plans are under way to form two new patrols. Patrol hikes are the theme for this month, each patrol leader must get his boys out on hikes to hold his job. The troop will be on duty Friday at the B.C. Products Fair.

Strontium Boost In Wales Blamed On U.S. Tests

LONDON (CP) — A Welsh Labor member of Parliament claimed today that the incidence of radio-active strontium 90 has increased in Wales and suggested that American nuclear tests may be the reason.

The legislator, George Thomas, joined with other Welsh members of the Commons in a barrage of questions seeking information from Prime Minister Macmillan's government on the amount of strontium 90 in Britain. The answers are due next Tuesday.

Strontium 90 is a by-product of nuclear explosions. Some scientists claim it causes bone cancer and leukemia.

Harrogate, England (Reuters)—Men do make passes at girls who wear glasses.

A congress of opticians here was told that girls with perfect eyesight are paying 10 guineas ($30) a pair for the attractive shaped frames containing plain glass.

LONDON (Reuters)—A London contracting firm has launched an urgent search for a stray dinkum digger dozer loader—all 6½ tons of it.

The dinkum disappeared from a north London building site and the owners are worried. A dinkum digger dozer loader would cost about $5,000.

What's more they are afraid their dinkum may get into trouble in the hands of an unskilled man. It is a complicated mobile excavating shovel which only an expert can drive.

British Actress, Katie Johnson, Dies

ELHAM, England (Reuters) — Katie Johnson, 78-year-old actress who won the British Film Academy's award as the best British actress in 1955 for her performance in The Ladykillers, died Saturday, it was announced Wednesday. Miss Johnson, the widow of actor Frank G. Gayly, had given instructions that no announcement of her death be made until after the funeral.

Famous Entertainer Collapses on Job

EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (UP) — Gus Van, 69, the surviving member of the famous old vaudeville team of Van and Schenk, was reported in "fair" condition today in Meadowbrook Hospital. He collapsed while singing a medley of old favorites at a Long Island night club.

Van's partner, Joe Schenk, died in 1930.

STARRED IN OPERA, MUSICAL COMEDIES

Famed Basso Ezio Pinza Loved Fine Food—And Women

STAMFORD, Conn. (CP)—Ezio Pinza, Metropolitan Opera bass who became world-famous through his singing role in the Broadway musical South Pacific, died early today at the age of 64.

Pinza's physician, Dr. Henry D. Foge, said he "passed quietly in his sleep."

Pinza had suffered two heart attacks. One was at Cervia, Italy, on Aug. 26, 1956, which kept him in an Italian hospital for a short time. The second came at his home here last Dec. 3. He was in critical condition for about three weeks then at Greenwich, Conn., hospital.

Pinza also suffered a stroke late in April.

In addition to the doctor, those at Pinza's bedside when he died were his wife, the former Doris Leak; their two daughters, Celia, 15, and Gloria, 6, and their son Peter, 13.

Pinza also is survived by a third daughter, Mrs. Claudia Bolter.

who was born to his first wife, who is dead. Mrs. Bolter lives in Italy.

STOPPED SINGING

Pinza suffered his first heart attack—first described as a slight paralytic stroke—while on vacation in Cervia, 15 miles from his boyhood home at Ravenna, Italy. Immediately, plans were cancelled for his first non-singing part in a Broadway drama, A Very Special Baby.

Pinza returned to the United States in September, commenting "It's depressing not to work."

Three months later, he suffered the second heart attack as he sat down to lunch with his wife at their Stamford home.

While convalescing from the first attack, Pinza announced that his singing days were done.

Instead, he declared, he would continue to appear before the audiences, who kept calling for him, in straight, dramatic roles.

The Pinza career was a dazzling melange of popular triumph, artistic acclaim, exceptional versatility—and bewildering paradox. He never thought of singing as a life work until 18.

He had little training, could scarcely read a note—yet flawlessly sang 78 operatic roles to critical acclaim in the world's music capitals.

He rarely practised, gave his voice no special care. But he also exhibited none of the opera star's customary temperament and tantrums.

After 25 years atop the opera world he successfully made a difficult transition into popular music and became a matinee idol of Broadway musical comedy.

POST-WAR SENSATION

His career as a singer began with a small company at Soncino, near Milan. The year was 1914—and almost immediately Pinza found himself in the Italian Army. He spent the next five years in uniform, emerging as a captain of artillery.

His post-war debut was in the role of King Mark in Wagner's Tristan and Isolde in the Royal Opera at Rome. He became an overnight sensation. Two years later Toscanini had him singing at La Scala in Milan. In 1926 he was lured to New York's Metropolitan opera.

There—and in the opera centres of Paris, Buenos Aires, Rio de Janeiro and London—he was the undisputed monarch of song for two decades.

Possessed of the rare "grandezza" style of the super-artist, Pinza sang his way through the villain and hero roles of virtually all of grand opera's repertoire. Perhaps he was most famous in Don Giovanni, as Mephistopheles in Faust and the magnificently mad Boris Godounoff.

'A' MAN CALLED PETER"

STARRING RICHARD TODD, JEAN PETERS AND ALL-STAR CAST

This, to our mind, is one of the greatest motion pictures ever made. One that you will never tire seeing again and again.

The story of the young Scottish Presbyterian minister and his early life as a student, later as an emigrant to America and finally as one of the most powerful and influential preachers in the United States is at once an inspiration and a delight. It will give your heart a lift and make you sit up and listen. His messages are so important to us today and his prayer, "Lord, give us courage to stand for something, just as we fall for anything," is surely most appropriate. See the picture from the beginning, if possible, but see it by all means. It's one you will never forget. Unreservedly recommended.

BOAT OWNERS AND FISHERMEN!

It is sturdy with 3 1/2" marine grade Douglas fir plywood planking on sides and bottom. Yet it is easy to build as planking with plywood means a single panel forms each side with two panels covering the bottom.

As the initial step in preparing to build this plywood boat, make a thorough study of the plans, noting carefully the construction details at each station, and reviewing the materials listed in the fir plywood and lumber order.

Obtain the required plywood, lumber and other materials from your local retail lumber dealer.

In ordering plywood, be sure to specify Douglas fir plywood which has completely waterproof bond for all outdoor and marine applications.

BCE Chief Heads Natl. Industrial Conference Board

MONTREAL — President of British Columbia Electric Company, Vancouver, A. E. Grauer, was elected chairman of the Canadian Council of the National Industrial Conference Board at the Council's fifth meeting recently held in Montreal. He succeeds Gordon R. Ball, president of the Bank of Montreal, who became the Council's first chairman when it was organized two years ago.

Mortgage Head Unworried Over Slowdown in Housing

Heavy Volume in Past Decade Bound to Cause Slight Recession

TORONTO (CP)—A slow-down in the rate of new housing at this time need not be viewed with alarm, J. G. Hungerford, president of the Dominion Mortgage and Investments Association, said today at the association's annual meeting.

All in all, he said, housing has done very well in Canada and it must share the problems and pressures inherent in the pace of capital expansion.

Mr. Hungerford, president of National Trust Co. Ltd., said sluggishness in the sale of houses, which became apparent last fall, might be an indication that effective demand at current prices could not continue to support the former level of housing starts.

For a variety of reasons, including higher land cost and municipal improvements now included in that cost in many cases, and higher costs of materials and labor, the purchase price of new houses had been rising every year and threatened a further leap this year.

PRICED OUT OF MARKET

Supply and demand in housing varied with locality, and in some areas housing might be close to pricing itself out of the market, or might already have done so. Mr. Hungerford added:

"Having in mind the large volume of new housing in the last 10 years (particularly in the last five years) and recognizing that for some time this volume has exceeded family formation, it should not be unusual that there could be a period of fewer housing starts."

Mr. Hungerford's comments were contained in a text issued to the press in advance of delivery.

The association's annual report said member companies in 1956 increased their real-estate mortgages by a record $406,000,000 compared with $396,000,000 in 1955. At year end they held real-estate mortgages totalling $2,337,000,000.

Eighty-two per cent of all mortgage loans was to finance housing, new and existing. The average loan on new single houses in 1956 was $10,613 compared with

Demand for farm loans was slightly higher in 1956. The mortgage debt of Prairie farmers to member companies continued to be repaid and at year-end the amount owing represented a reduction of almost 90 per cent since 1937.

Member companies consist of 25 insurance companies, six loan companies, one savings bank and 15 trust companies with custody of assets totalling $13,000,000,000. Mr. Hungerford said Canadians are fortunate to live in an expanding economy, but too rapid growth could bring on ultimate weakness.

Perhaps it was time for governments, municipalities, corporations, business and individuals to confine themselves for the time being to expenditures which were genuinely necessary, so as to relieve pressures on credit, manpower and materials.

STRONG WEAPON AGAINST BAD TIMES

Increased Advertising Helps Stop Recession, Experts Say

By FORBES RHUDE Canadian Press Business Editor

TORONTO (CP)—Advertising is a weapon against the possibility of bad times, rather than just a reed to bend with them.

This point, in effect, was made by several speakers at the three-day annual meeting of the Association of Canadian Advertisers which closed Wednesday.

G. C. Clarke, advertising manager of Standard Brands Ltd., Montreal, said:

"Business men have changed in their reaction to recession. Back in the recession year 1938 advertising declined by 6.5 per cent. But in the recession year 1949 it actually rose by seven per cent, and in the rolling adjustment of 1954 it rose 6.5 per cent."

Allen B. Yeates, director of advertising, Prudential Insurance Company, Toronto stated:

"We know that an increased volume of advertising expenditures was responsible for overcoming the two or three dangerous business adjustments we have passed through since the war."

Reginald R. McIntosh, vice-president of marketing, General Foods Ltd., Toronto, the association's retiring president, commented:

"We are all convinced that development of the Canadian economy will go ahead at an accelerated pace, and we know that advertising has played an important part in making that expansion possible. We are also convinced that, if properly keyed to the national need, advertising will continue to spur our boom."

"The problem, then, is for advertising to accurately determine the best way in which it can provide the sales impetus that will contribute to the national economic progress."

Mr. McIntosh made his comment in explaining the meeting's theme, "advertising's responsibility to the new competitive age."

Probably no clear-cut answer as to the exact nature of that "responsibility" came out of the meeting, but judging by speeches and comments, the advertising industry believes it has a dual role. One part of the role is distributive—presenting to the public the tremendous flow of goods of which today's industrial machine is capable, so that the public will know about them and want them.

The other part of the role is a dynamic one—that of stimulating more production.

In doing these things advertising is confronted with the same thing that every one is faced with—a world which is moving so fast that there is no previous experience from which to judge it.

Maurey Hanson, vice-president of J. Walter Thompson Company, New York, presenting a study of the American scene made by his company in conjunction with Yale University and Fortune Magazine, said:

"There is a new dimension in our economy—it is velocity. It has caught us unaware and only now are we beginning to learn how to cope with it."

Folk Dancing Hits New Peak

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Adjudicator Mrs. Peggy MacFarlane left for Vancouver on a midnight plane Wednesday, tired but "tremendously exhilarated" at the conclusion of what she described as "a highlight in folk dancing festivals."

This section of the Greater Victoria Music Festival came to an end before a capacity audience at Central Junior High School, with Wednesday night's honor performances and senior competitions.

What the enthralled audience saw was representative of the best that has been offered by upwards of 1,500 school children and dance studio pupils during the festival's first two days.

REPEATS

Entries selected by Mrs. MacFarlane for repeat performance were, Gordon Head, Grade 2; Oaklands School, Grade 2; Craigflower, Grade 3; Doncaster, Grade 3; Margaret Jenkins, Grade 4; Willows School, Grade 4; McKenzie Avenue, Grades 5 and 6; McKenzie Avenue, Grades 5 and 6; Oaklands, Grade 6.

Private schools of dance represented were Katherine Costain, Ukrainian Sword Dance; Adeline Duncan, Reel of the 51st Division, and Wynne Shaw studio's lovely pink "Ballet Mazurka".

For a complicated march and graceful and rhythmic "Reinlander" waltz, Sons of Norway were welcomed and warmly praised by Mrs. MacFarlane. They received a mark of 90.

An exquisite Wynne Shaw ballet group was also awarded a 90.

Mount View High School group danced the German "Half Moon" as a special feature and later received a 90 in a square dance class for a skilled performance of "Spinning Spokes." E. E. Livesey was caller.

TEAMWORK

Group A of Mount View's green and gold-clad dancers with caller Dale Cole were highly complimented for teamwork. They tied with Victoria High one mark behind the winners.

An Alfred Prescott Memorial bursary, awarded by Local 247, AF of M was presented to Central Junior High School for its band and orchestra performance Wednesday afternoon. Adjudicator William Cole declared himself greatly impressed with the ability of this group.

Violinist Mary Goward, who gained a mark of 93 in the senior violin class and 90 for quick study, was awarded the Victoria Musical Art Society $50 bursary for string players.

7 Airmen Plucked From Atlantic

LONDON (UP)—Seven U.S. airmen were plucked from the sea in "good condition" today within hours after ditching their KC-97 Flying Tanker plane 95 miles east of the Azores.

SHIP FLAMES AT OGDEN PT.

Former hydrographic survey vessel Liloot burst into flames while she was being dismantled for scrap at the Ogden Point grain dock at about 1 p.m. today.

It was thought a spark from a welder's torch ignited a quantity of fuel oil still lying in her bunkers.

Firemen had the blaze under control within three-quarters of an hour.

Only light damage was sustained.

FIRST SURGERY

Prince Charles Loses Tonsils

LONDON (UP)—Prince Charles underwent his first surgery—for removal of his tonsils and adenoids—in a specially built operating room at Buckingham Palace today.

Two renowned surgeons, an anesthetist and four nurses took part in the operation on the eight-year-old prince, while Queen Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh waited nearby.

A medical bulletin afterward said Charles' condition was "very satisfactory." But he will have to spend at least a week in bed recuperating, palace sources said.

As is customary in Royal matters, there was no advance announcement that the young heir to the throne was undergoing surgery.

$10,000 Given Safety Council Drive By B.C.

The provincial government will contribute $10,000 to a B.C. Safety Council campaign this year.

The money was pledged by Attorney-General Robert Bonner after a four-man delegation from the council conferred with him Wednesday.

The council plans to spend $30,000 on promoting traffic safety this year. This is the first time it has received a direct government contribution.

UN Chief's Secret Talks Aimed at Averting War

RUSS READY TO HALT NUCLEAR BOMB TESTS

LONDON (UP)—Russia is willing to halt nuclear bomb tests if the United States and Britain will do the same, Moscow radio said today.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin made the proposal in a message to the director of the Japanese peace committee, the broadcast said.

At the same time, a group of Russian nuclear scientists called on all nations to abandon atom and hydrogen bomb tests as a first step toward world disarmament.

Radio Moscow said Bulganin made his statement in a message replying to one from Shioji Ogata, director of the Japanese peace group.

Teamsters' Boss Linked With Big Beer Franchise

Brewery Official Charges Beck Used Pressure to Swing Deal

WASHINGTON (UP)—A brewery official said today Dave Beck used his power as a teamster union leader to get a mammoth Budweiser beer distributorship for his son, Dave, Jr.

The official, general counsel Dwight D. Ingamells of Anheuser-Busch, Inc., of St. Louis, testified before the Senate rackets committee which is investigating Beck's financial activities.

The distributorship was described as the company's largest in area covered—much of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska. Beck was said to have arranged for his son to be put in charge of it.

The committee produced documents in which officials of the brewery pictured husky Dave Beck, Jr., as "an overgrown spoiled boy" whose indulgent father demanded that he get $1,000 a month plus a nickel a case on all Budweiser sold in Alaska.

Ingamells told the committee that Beck's power in the Teamsters' Union "certainly, had something to do" with the fact that Beck, Jr., got distribution rights for Budweiser in the northwest area and Alaska.

Ingamells said a majority of the brewery's 8,000 to 10,000 workers are members of Beck's union. He said company files showed that the elder Beck carried on most of the negotiations which won the far-ranging distributorship for K & L Beverage Co., of Seattle, a firm in which Beck junior was a stockholder, vice-president, and later president. The elder Beck helped finance K & L but was not listed as one of its officials.

Committee investigator Pierre Salinger read documents from Anheuser-Busch files, including an inter-office memo in which one brewery official told another that the firm had already given Beck and his firm "more territory than anyone else in the United States."

GIVES UP LEAFS

Conny Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, today turned over control of the Maple Leaf Hockey Club to his son, Stafford, and a committee of six others. Smythe said he would sign the players, coach and manager to contracts in order to hand over to the committee a complete team on or before Sept. 1.

Hammarskjold Meets With Israel PM On Egypt Threat

(UP and AP Dispatches)

JERUSALEM — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold arrived today in Jerusalem for secret talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion in hope of preventing another Israeli-Egyptian war.

Even before the two sat down for private talks, Ben-Gurion let it be known he would ask Hammarskjold to demand that Egypt end the state of belligerency against Israel.

Ben-Gurion met first alone in his office with Hammarskjold. They were to be joined after by UN Undersecretary Dr. Ralph Bunche who worked out the Israel-Arab armistice agreements on the Island of Rhodes in 1949, and Foreign Minister Golda Meir and their advisers.

Israeli military sources said again today Egypt already was preparing "fresh adventures" against Israel.

Hammarskjold faced these charges by Israeli military officials:

1. Egypt is concentrating troops near the Strait of Tiran, guarding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, in preparation to taking over the fortress of Sharm El Sheikh from the UN emergency force.

2. Egypt is repairing an airfield near the Gulf of Suez and has men in training there. Planes from the airfield could strike at Israeli shipping.

3. Two full battalions of former Palestinian troops have entered the Gaza Strip disguised as "returning citizens."

Security precautions for Hammarskjold were unprecedented when he arrived at Lydda airport. The field had been blocked off for hours by police and only government leaders were allowed to get near him.

Hammarskjold's arrival coincided with plans in Jerusalem for the United States and Israel to issue a joint communiqué expressing Israel's support of the Eisenhower doctrine and ending its attempts at neutrality in the cold war.

Pro-Western Lebanon — first nation to accept the Eisenhower doctrine — meanwhile protested to Egypt against continuing Egyptian press attacks on the country.

Lebanon banned the import of Egyptian magazines and newspapers Wednesday night and it was disclosed the foreign ministry handed over a "soft" protest to Egypt against the anti-Lebanese campaign.

Oslo, Norway — Reports received in Oslo said the Norwegian freighter Vernhill had been stopped at Suez in a dispute with Egypt over payment of canal tolls.

London — The Suez Canal Users Association today rejected Egypt's terms for operating the waterway as "insufficient," but the group cleared the way for member governments to let their ships use the canal.

Dave Beck Jr., Pals Reported in Vancouver

(BUP and CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Three of four witnesses being sought in connection with Teamster boss Dave Beck's financial affairs were reported today to have been in Vancouver this week.

United States Marshal Bud Parsons said at Seattle his office had known for about 30 days that Dave Beck, Jr., Norman Gessert and Joseph McAvoy were in Vancouver.

This trio, along with Fred Verschuere, Sr., have been sought by the United States Senate labor rackets investigating committee for several weeks.

A check of Vancouver's main hotels failed to disclose their immediate whereabouts, but the records of a U-drive automobile agency indicated they were in the area.

Manager Harold Titus of the Globe U-Drive told British United Press that a Joseph McAvoy of Seattle rented a car from his agency last Saturday and had not returned it. He said McAvoy gave his address at the time as the Downtowner Motel.

But Woodridge saw another car on the highway—the four persons in it apparently unable to run, because of fright.

Woodridge dragged from the car Edgar Martin, 32, Delano, Calif., his wife Betty, 22, and their four-year-old daughter, Debra. Then the party again started to run for safety.

But Shepard — the handcuffs still dangling from one wrist—heard two dogs barking in the car. He ran back to the vehicle and found—huddled in the front seat—the Martins' two-year-old son, Danny.

Shepard grabbed the boy and ran, moments before a wall of water washed the vehicle down the highway.

As the sheriff led the party to higher ground, he stumbled into a swollen creek and was swept 30 feet downstream before he was plucked from the raging water by Shepard, who had raced after him.

When he saw the water approaching, Woodridge stopped his car, took the handcuffs from one of Shepard's wrists and the two men started running for safety.

Woodridge said that if Shepard is convicted on the "forgery charge he faces, the sheriff will ask leniency because of Shepard's heroism.

The rescue came Tuesday when Woodridge was transporting Shepard from Chicago to jail at Prineville, Ore. When they were about 15 miles north of this Central Oregon town, a flood generated by a heavy storm rolled out of ravines and across the highway.

Food Prices Probe Promised By Tory Chief

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)

—Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said today that if his party is elected June 10 the government will set up a royal commission to investigate price spreads on farm products.

In a statement issued aboard his campaign train, Mr. Diefenbaker said the royal commission would be asked to provide consumers with "full and complete information" on what happens to food prices between the farm and table.

He said farmers now receive a little more than 50 per cent of what is paid by consumers for food products, compared with a 58 per cent share a few years ago.

The promise to establish a royal commission was a major point in a summary of Conservative agricultural policy issued by Mr. Diefenbaker on the second of six days of campaigning in Ontario.

The statement reiterated the Conservative promise of flexible price supports to assure farmers "a fair price-cost relationship" on returns for their produce.

For Prairie farmers in particular it proposed that:

1. The federal treasury help farmers carry the loss when wheat is exported at below domestic prices to "good customers" in the Commonwealth and elsewhere.

2. Cash advances be paid on farm-stored wheat, since the Canadian wheat board was the only marketing agency for Prairie wheat and, in effect, owned it.

3. Develop "a more realistic crop insurance plan" for drought, flood and hail in co-operation with the Prairie provinces.

Opposition Must Be Stronger, Says Sinclair

The need for a strong opposition in the House of Commons was stressed Wednesday night by Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

"Speaking to a rally at Trail, Mr. Sinclair said:

"We definitely need stronger opposition in the House. But it is not the fault of the present government that we have been chosen for the last 22 years to represent the people. The fault lies with all opposition parties."

Mr. Sinclair took to task Canadians who do not exercise their franchise to vote or attend political meetings.

"No matter how much publicity we give the forthcoming June 10 federal election, some 25 per cent eligible Canadian voters will not cast their ballots."

The fisheries minister said earlier in the day he thinks the government will choose a public agency to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"I think they will choose public development," he told a luncheon meeting of Liberal supporters at Nelson. "Not the Wenner-Grens who sold guns to both sides in the war and were black-listed by the Americans and the British..."

"That's not the type the government wants."

Mr. Sinclair officially opened a new $250,000 federal building

Canadian Democrats to Run 20 Candidates

Gerry Goeujon, leader of the Canadian Democrats, a new political party, said Wednesday the party hopes to run about 20 candidates in the June federal election.

"We're beginning to catch fire but we're still lacking supporters of candidate material," he said in an interview at New Westminster.

The 31-year-old law student at the University of British Columbia said the Canadian Democrats expect to have 18 candidates in B.C.

OUSTED BY REDS—Martin S. Bowe Jr., above, second secretary of the U.S. embassy in Moscow has been expelled by the Russians without explanation for the ouster. The state department said today a deadline for Bowe's departure from Moscow has not as yet been set. (AP Wirephoto.) 1957.

He raised the issue in referring to the recent entry of a Social Credit candidate in Leeds constituency here against a Liberal and a Conservative candidate.

SPLITS OPPOSITION

He said third parties have no hope of achieving power at Ottawa "within the ordinary period of contemplation." Only the Conservatives were able to form an alternate government to the Liberal administration and every vote for a third party "has the effect of assuring the return of the Liberal party."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who opened a six-day Ontario tour here, speaks today at Wallaceburg in Lambton-Kent and at Windsor, focal point of three Essex County ridings. All four were held by Liberals in the last Parliament.

His speech here referred to a recent Liberal party publication which listed federal government expenditures in each constituency for old age pensions, family allowances and disability allowances.

"That's Pied Piper philosophy," he said. "They gave nothing but what they took from you and me. That type of Roman holiday at the expense of the people will ruin democracy."

WOULD KEEP BENEFITS

He criticized what he said was a "whispering campaign" that a Conservative government would reduce social security benefits. All benefits would be maintained under the Conservatives.

The Liberal government had degraded Parliament in recent years and merely went to the people every four years to tell what had been spent.

"It would simply be easier to elect Mr. Howe as number one, Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Gardiner and then as philosopher and pundit Mr. Pickersgill," he said with sarcasm. "There's no reason to elect the rest of them. These are the men who determine what Parliament does."

The magazine made the statement in a copyrighted article, "Clouds from Nevada," which comprised most of its current issue. It said residents and visitors to Nevada and Utah have been exposed to radioactive fallout despite AEC precautions.

In response to a query from the United Press, the AEC said "precautions are taken to keep the amount of local fallout to as low levels as possible, and to measure and record the radiation exposures which might be received by persons in the area around the test site."

"The many measurements which have been taken have confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

The commission also said it makes no attempt to keep secret information on radiation exposure levels in the Nevada test area or anywhere else in the United States. It said such information was available in the AEC's semi-annual reports and other publications.

Diefenbaker Criticizes Third Parties

Unity Threatened By Sacred Moves

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—

John Diefenbaker has said the CCF or Social Credit parties have no hope of forming the government at Ottawa and are contributing to undermine the parliamentary system.

Third parties had set up regional groupings in the Commons and ruined the two-party system, the Progressive Conservative leader said here Wednesday night.

"No Parliament divided in that way can function. Unity can only be maintained by preservation of the two-party system."

He raised the issue in referring to the recent entry of a Social Credit candidate in Leeds constituency here against a Liberal and a Conservative candidate.

English Pacifist Departs For Nuclear Death Date

LONDON (AP) — Harold Steele, a British pacifist, kissed his three children goodbye Wednesday and set out to do his bit against what he regards as the evil of Britain's scheduled H-bomb test.

A 63-year-old retired poultry farmer who was a conscientious objector in the First World War, Steele said he is prepared if necessary to die alone on a Pacific atoll in protest against the explosion British scientists expected to touch off at Christmas Island next month.

Steele leaves London by plane today for New Delhi on the first stage of a trip he hopes will take him to the danger area in time to subject himself to the hazards of blast and fallout.

Willing Sacrifice

"I willingly sacrifice myself to prove to the world the horror of this devilish thing," he told reporters.

He wanted to ship aboard a suicidal "peace fleet" which the Japan Council Against Atomic and Hydrogen Bombs proposed to send in. But the council, in the face of Britain's warning to all shipping to stay clear, dropped the cruise idea.

Reporters here told Steele of the cancellation.

Then if necessary I will sail alone into the Christmas Island area," he said. "I can still handle a sailing craft. Or perhaps I could get some vessel to drop me on an atoll in the area where I could sit out the tests and if necessary die in them."

Steele's wife Sheila, 40, accompanied him to London from her home at Malvern, Worcestershire. She once expected to accompany him, but plans for having their children looked after fell through. So she decided to stay in England.

Got To Be Done

"I feel the same as a soldier's wife when the soldier goes away," she said. "It has got to be done."

Two British students—John Dixon, 21, and David Graham, 25—are meeting Steele in New Delhi. They will help him rally Indian support for the project and may accompany him on his voyage.

The venture is backed in Britain by an organization, supported by the Quakers Society of Friends, known as the Emergency Committee for Direct Action Against Nuclear War. So far it has collected the equivalent of $2,240.

Steel is not a Quaker, but worships in a meeting house of that faith.

Steele denied any Communist leanings. In response to a question, he said he would be quite prepared to travel to Siberia, if that were possible, to protest Soviet H-blasts.

Women in Black

Veiled women in black began a daily vigil at the House of Commons Wednesday. They buttonholed members of Parliament and called for a ban on all nuclear tests "to prevent worldwide massacre."

The first contingent, made up of 23 women from nearby Hertfordshire, paraded before Prime Minister Macmillan's official home 10 Downing Street, and handed in a letter saying: "It is women throughout the world who will be the first to be polluted by genetic degradation through radioactive poisoning."

The group was led by Mrs. Renee Short, 38, Labor member of the Hertfordshire County Council. She told reporters the mourning garb was worn "for the thousands of people already affected by H-bomb explosions."

Huge Crowd, 2,000 Priests, Nuns Greet Cardinal Wyszynski in Rome

ROME (Reuters) — A huge crowd, including more than 2,000 priests and nuns, gave an enthusiastic welcome Wednesday night to Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, primate of Poland, as he arrived for his first meeting with the Pope in six years.

Under a blaze of television floodlights and photographers' flash bulbs, the churchman was formally welcomed by high prelates of the Papal secretariat of state and members of the Polish Religious College in Rome.

The Vatican weekly newspaper Osservatore Della Domenica denied that the cardinal has concluded any agreement to cooperate with Poland's Communist government.

It rejected as "tendentious" a report that the Pope will recognize such an agreement when he meets the cardinal.

Wyszynski is the first cardinal to come to Rome from a Communist-ruled country since the war. He will report to the Pope on the crucial role he is believed to have played in saving Poland from the same fate as Hungary last fall.

Particularly important for the Vatican will be an account of his release from prison last October by Wladyslaw Gomulka, who took over leadership of the Communist party only a few days before. At that time, Poland seemed in danger of being overrun by Russian troops.

The cardinal will also tell of the support he gave the Gomulka faction in last January's election when Gomulka consolidated his power.

During his visit, the Pope will confer on him a red hat at a private ceremony in the Vatican palace.

Rains Dampen Fire Danger in Ontario

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP)—Major forest fires in Northern Ontario have abated slightly following heavy rainfalls and a rise in the humidity. But in many areas fire fighters were still battling to confine the blazes.

The worst-hit area was around Sudbury where, until heavy rain fell during most of Wednesday, 80 fires were scorching the countryside.

In Skead, 20 miles north of here, 88 persons were made homeless when fire cut through an 8,000-acre strip destroying 20 homes. Relief stations were established and arrangements made to feed and clothe the stricken families.

Rain also helped firefighters restrict 11 fires in the Cochrane region, northeast of Timmins. It is expected most of the fires will be extinguished within a few days.

In the Timmins area the worst fire was in Matheson Township. At least five buildings were destroyed. The fire was restricted to 350 acres.

Forest Fires Plague Northeast U.S. Area

BOSTON (AP)—Forest fires continued today to threaten parched woodlands of the northeast United States.

In Michigan, firefighters kept an anxious eye on tinder-dry sections after a winning fight over one of the worst timber blazes in years.

During the month-long dry spell in New York State 30 forest fires have blackened almost 8,000 acres of woodland.

Massachusetts declared a state of emergency and Maine clamped restrictions on its forests Wednesday night as fires gutted thousands of woodland acres in those states, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut and New Jersey.

In Michigan, a 750-acre fire in the big Huron National Forest near Lake Huron was brought under control Wednesday night after a half-day battle by 400 persons.

Minister Buchanan said a similar ban may be imposed in that province if dry weather continues.

R. H. Burgess, chief Nova Scotia forester, said restrictions will stay in force until rain comes.

At least 14 fires were reported Wednesday in southwestern Nova Scotia. Most of the blazes were small.

Crew Held to Blame For CPA Plane Crash

WASHINGTON (CP)—The five-man board said it could find "no structural failure" of a Canadian Pacific Airlines plane in Alaska last August probably was caused by full retraction of the wing flaps at low altitude "without necessary corrective action being taken by the crew" the U.S. civil aeronautics board said today.

Cocktails for 2—Honeymooners Hum New Ditty

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Niagara Falls voted Wednesday in favor of having cocktail bars and dining lounges licensed to serve liquor.

In each case about 65 per cent of those who voted were in favor of making this honeymoon resort city of 24,000 wet.

The vote on cocktail bars was 5,734 for and 3,061 against, representing an affirmative vote of 65.19 per cent.

The ballot on dining lounges was 5,776 for and 3,016 against, 65.69 per cent affirmative.

An affirmative vote of 60 per cent was required in each ballot.

'CLIP AND TRIM' COSTS 6 PENCE MORE

CONSETT, England (CP)—Youths in this Durham town will have to pay more for elaborate hair styles now.

Hairdressers say that the "clip and trim" with scissors for teenagers takes much longer than the "short back and sides" preferred by more conservative customers.

Consett branch of the National Hairdressers' Federation has decided to recommend that members charge extra for modern styles.

Ordinary haircuts in Consett have gone up to two shillings—and there will be an extra sixpence to pay for those who want film-star hair styles.

Rebellious Convicts Spend Cold Night on Empty Stomachs

BISMARCK, N.D. (UP)—Rebellious convicts, who rioted at North Dakota state penitentiary, spent a cold and hungry night in a cell block with broken windows.

The 200 inmates tried to sleep on empty stomachs when the mercury spiraled downward to near the frost point.

None of the prisoners had eaten since breakfast Tuesday shortly before a sitdown strike in the prison twine factory erupted into a four-hour riot that finally was subdued by a flying wedge of guards with guns blazing.

Amusement Tax on Bingo Unnecessary, Say Kinsmen

Extension of the provincial 10 per cent amusement tax to bingo games is "unnecessary" for charitable organizations, a spokesman for the Victoria Kinsmen Club said today.

Stanley Mossop, president, said his group was "completely surprised" by the move but will make no official protest.

A government spokesman disclosed Wednesday the tax will go into effect immediately.

ASK REFUND

The Kinsmen, who have staged five giant bingo games in Memorial Arena, and plan another June 3, will apply for a refund provided for under the tax legislation.

A government official said charitable organizations usually have one half of the tax refunded.

RAISED $25,000

The Kinsmen have raised a total of $25,000 in the five games they have operated. Twenty per cent goes to small appeals and the balance is being held in the bank for a "community service" project.

Imposition of the new tax will not affect the bingo planned on June 3 when a new car will again be first prize.

Future games are dependent on attendance.

NEED FULL HOUSE

"We have to have almost a full house to make a go of it," Mr. Mossop said.

Mr. Mossop admitted the tax, which is applied to gross receipts, would "hurt" because of the heavy expenses in prizes and arena rental.

Admissions usually total $15,000 and profit amounts to one-third of this.

That means the 10 per cent tax would be $1,500 and if half was refunded, the Kinsmen will lose about $750.

The tax measure, which was urged at the last session of the legislature by Social Credit Minister Bert Price, who said bingo had become "big business," is designed to give the government tighter control over bingo operations.

It will apply to all bingo games, including those operating on the fringe of the law, but a government spokesman said "We're not after the penny-ante ones."

Books of bingo operators must now be opened at the attorney-general's department for examination.

Penalties for evasion of the tax include fines and a 30-day jail term.

FRANK HAD HIS OWN VIEW

This is how Terry O'Reilly looked to cameraman on third of his four dashes over B.C. line during rugby match at Macdonald Park Wednesday night. But fullback Frank Gower, sprawled in wake of Irish speedster, will best remember view of O'Reilly from different angle. Despite Barbarians' 51-8 victory, Gower played well, but received little defensive help from his mates.

WHAT'S THE SCORE?

BY

Denny Boyd

It is seldom you see a rugby player, whose team has just come out on the shabby end of a 51-8 score, stretch out on a dressing-room bench and remark, "Man, I never enjoyed anything so much in my life."

But, of course, it is seldom a rugby player is given the opportunity of being on the same field with The Barbarians. The B.C. All-Star side, as could be expected, were a little shell-shocked immediately after the match, but on recovering themselves they were unanimous in agreeing that having their noses rubbed into the springy turf of Macdonald Park was a rare privilege.

And you couldn't blame them in their enthusiasm. For here was the greatest rugby team to play in Victoria since the days of the old All-Black teams. And you can argue with authority that these dashing Baa-Baas may have been the greatest of all the touring teams that have touched this little western bureau of Twickenham.

They had everything in spendor and splendour. Pick any man on the Barbarians' team and you could pen a rhapsody to his rugged talents. You would have to start, of course, with Tony O'Reilly, the Dublin-born wing-three.

Devilishly handsome, built like a Greek god and possessed with devastating speed, O'Reilly slashed through the inadequate B.C. defences like a razor blade, leaving rags and tatters in the wake of his churning heels.

At 20 years of age, O'Reilly has the raw products and the time to develop into one of the greatest. For him, it will be a short transition.

Or take Scotty Dorward. Yes, you take him. The B.C. side tried many times last night but were seldom successful. Physically Dorward looks like a thinned-down Anthony Steele. (Anita Ekberg's husband, you fool.)

Sitting in the Coronet Room Wednesday morning, sipping a beer laced with lime juice, the urbane former Oxford captain looked the perfect picture of a tweed business representative, which in fact he is.

But on the field he was a magician with a surgeon's hands. As the Baa-Baas scrum-half, he consistently plucked the ball from scrum and sent it crackling out to his three-line with the speed and crisp precision of an electric circuit.

In contrast, there was Eric Evans, the 32-year-old Barbarian hooker, who has been capped 22 times and glowered at by opponents thousands of times.

The florid, craggy-faced Evans, who appears to be eternally angry, was the driving force behind his mates, at whom he railed, shouted, cajoled and, if he thought they were being negligent, shook his fist.

Early in the game, on the first line-out, Evans held his hand up for silence and in a voice like a buzz-saw cutting a hickory knot, told his team, "Now, boys, we'll take this. Right?"

In the scrum and line-outs Evans displayed contrast of the grace of a gazelle and the heavy-handed touch of a dock-walker when he found freight that needed moving.

You had to feel a little sorry for Frank Gower, the veteran Victoria fullback, who did a great job of tackling an almost impossible job.

When the Baa-Baas were bearing down on him in impossible numbers, Frank looked a little like a man in the middle of a railway yard trying to stop trains with his bare hands. I liked the way the game ended, with the B.C. side forming a double line to the dressing room and applauding the Barbarians to their quarters.

It was one of those things you could only see on a rugby field, where they respect perfection.

SLAYBAUGH NEVER RETURNED

Score Not First Pitcher Injured

NEW YORK (AP)—An accident similar to that suffered by Cleveland's Herb Score ended the promising baseball career of Bobby Slaybaugh five years ago.

One something like it but not as serious turned Dizzy Dean, one of baseball's greatest, into just another pitcher and eventually into a sports broadcaster.

Jim Wilson, now with the Chicago White Sox, had his skull fractured by one batted ball and his shin splintered by another but came back to resume pitching in the majors.

There has been only one fatality in the history of major league baseball.

Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, died of a fractured skull after he was struck by a pitch thrown by Carl Mays.

New York Yankee "submarine" pitcher, on Aug. 16, 1920.

Slaybaugh, a 20-year-old rookie from Hartsville, Ohio, was pitching in batting practice for St. Louis Cardinals March 24, 1931, when a hard liner from the bat of Jim Dickey came right back at him.

Dean, one of the all-time great pitchers with the Cardinals "gas-house gang," suffered a broken toe when he was hit by Earl Averill's drive in the 1937 all-star game. Dizzy continued pitching in spite of the injury and changed his delivery in an effort to keep from putting his weight on the broken toe.

Ireland's Robin Roe (8), who in turn jars an opponent off balance. At right, B.C. player casually grips arm of Barbarian rival to help equalize difference in size. Tourists dominated play in lineouts. (Photos by Irving Strickland.)

There's a Bit of Devil In Wales' Terry Davies

By DOUG PEDEEN

At first glance Terry Davies looks like a quiet schoolboy possessed of just enough devilment to have his nose flattened a couple of times.

But don't let that boyish expression fool you. Terry is a veteran of the rugby wars.

The 24-year-old Welsh fullback was only 19 when he won his first international cap with Wales and he had been playing in the country's toughest club league before that.

He showed touches of greatness during the rare demands on his talent while helping the touring Barbarians whip a B.C. club, 51-8, at Macdonald Park Wednesday night. He completed his few chores with a minimum of effort and had lots of time to sympathize with Frank Gower at the other end.

"I felt sorry for your fullback," he said later. "Our boys were coming at him from all directions and he wasn't getting much help. Your tackling wasn't very good."

Like the rest of the Barbarians he is strictly an amateur and plays around 40 matches each season with a club team and attends about two practices each week to keep in condition. Davies is in the lumber business with his two brothers who are "working like blazes while I'm playing out here."

In the Welsh League, he plays with Llanelly, which he claims is the best club team in Britain. A record of 40 wins in the last 43 matches adds substance to his loyalty.

Arch rival of Llanelly—it didn't come out the way it is spelled when he said it—is Cardiff, led by the great stand-off Cliff Morgan, an oil firm representative on working days who should be a great salesman, judging from the way he sold "dummies" Wednesday night.

Those who thought the Barbarians were saturated with speed merchants, should see Arthur Smith, who was picked for the tour but stayed behind to complete some extra studies at Oxford. Davies rates the Scottish three-quarter, the fastest thing in rugby shoes.

Reg Marquis, biggest of the Barbarians at six feet, five inches and 225 pounds, who sat out Wednesday's game, agrees that no player can beat Smith over a distance but picks Morgan for 10 yards from a standing start. And, he says, nobody has the dash of Terry O'Reilly. After watching O'Reilly in action, who won't agree.

And don't let those meek little lambs on the Barbarian crest and the Baa-Baas' impeccable off-field manners fool you either. Those gentlemen are a rugged aggregation in rugby togs.

There were several elbows flying around in lineouts Wednesday... tch, tch, Mr. Eric Evans, owner of 22 international caps for England, and some B.C. boys were tossed roughly aside when they weren't playing the ball... could it have been the fault of Rhys Williams, "strong man" of the Wales pack?

One white-jerseyed laddie came a cropper over an outstretched foot... where were you at the 36th minute Mr. J. T. Greenwood, four times captain of Scotland? And it was surprising how often Ireland's Terry O'Reilly happened to be between a possible tackler and Gareth Griffiths, his running mate from Wales.

Almost to a man the Barbarians have been greatly impressed by Canada, but none more than Rhys Williams, a metallurgist and official at a steel plant.

Williams likes his job but thinks he would be willing to switch occupations for a chance to settle in this country.

Barbarians commented favorably on the refereeing job turned in by John Murphy.

It seemed possible that the Barbarians' all-out effort Wednesday was prompted by a desire to show they were better than the 19-6 score against the B.C. All-Stars at Vancouver last Saturday indicated. It will be interesting to watch the result of this Saturday's match against the same club.

switch occupations for a chance to settle in this country.

CINDERELLA ON SKIDS

Slipper Pinching Mountie Tootsies

By United Press

It looked today as if the Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast League might find that glass slipper a mite snug around the instep.

The Mounties, who started the season with a Cinderella gleam in their eyes, now just had the cinders as they lost their third straight last night and dropped into the second division.

Vancouver lost a 4-1 decision to San Francisco and fell three games off the pace—a half game out of the upper-crust half of the loop.

League-leading Los Angeles was rained out in Portland and watched Hollywood cut its lead to a game and a half by dumping Sacramento, 7-3. San Diego made it two straight over Seattle with a 4-2 win.

Tom Hurd got his first of the season with a six-hitter over the Mounties. The only Vancouver run came in the fourth on a homer by Joe Frazier.

PAULICA CHASED

Erv Palica took an early shower when the Seals got all their runs in a four-run third. Palica was quickly joined by his manager, Charlie Metro, who disagreed with the umpires violently enough to be offered soap and a towel.

Ben Daniels of Hollywood ran his record to a perfect four-and-zero by taming Sacramento with the help of Bill Causton's bat. However, Daniels needed help from George O'Donnell when he weakened in the ninth.

Ed Gasque of San Diego got his initial "win" of the year with a four-hitter over Seattle.

St. Michael's Cards Sports Day Saturday

St. Michael's Boys' School will be holding its annual sports day Saturday on the school grounds of Norfolk House School.

Students will compete in, midjet, junior, intermediate and senior divisions and the feature event of the day for the boys is expected to be the half-mile event.

FLIN FLON, Man. (CP)—A scrappy bunch of junior hockey players—seven of them home-bred—has brought this northwestern Manitoba mining town its first national championship.

Flin Flon Bombers Wednesday night captured the Memorial Cup in a rugged best-of-seven series with Ottawa Canadiens which went the limit. The "wise money" gave Bombers little chance of winning more than one game, let alone taking the Canadian junior hockey title.

And Flin Flon residents let loose when they heard the thrilling 3-2 result of the final game. Car horns blared and loud "hurray" and "yippees" resounded along main street.

The Bombers arrive home Saturday morning and plans are already being made for the team's reception.

It marks the first time since the Port Arthur Bruins turned the trick in 1948 that the Memorial Cup has been won by the West and the first time since 1946 that a Prairie province

Barbs Prove It's All True

Barbarian Side Thrills Overflow Rugby Crowd

By DOUG PEDEEN

The Barbarians played like Barbarians. When you've said that, most of the story about a rugby match has been told.

But for those who need a bit more convincing, the Baa-Baas ran around, through and over a British Columbia side at Macdonald Park Wednesday night to make the fourth successive triumph of their Canadian tour a 51-8 romp.

More important than the actual score, they did it in the style that has made the Barbarian Football Club one of Britain's famed sports organizations.

Barbarians are required by tradition to play a brilliant, wide-open game with speed and power on attack. They did.

They are supposed to play for the sheer fun of competition with spontaneous departures from orthodox rugby maneuvers. They seemed to enjoy every minute of it—even the fierce exchanges of elbows and head butts in the loose scrums.

Proud of their status in the rugby world, Barbarians are supposed to play with a rugged fury from whistle to whistle. They did—almost.

They rated the "almost" for forgetting about their defensive chores after building up a 43-3 lead in the closing stages and giving B.C. the opening for its lone try.

But the Baa-Baas bounced back with a vengeance and Ireland's Tony O'Reilly showed the already-convinced crowd why he is rated one of the greatest wing-three-quarters in the game by streaking 40 and 35 yards for the Barbs' final tries.

When it was all over, the Barbarians had scored six goals, five tries and two penalty goals to a goal and a penalty goal by the British Columbian.

O'Reilly, a six-foot two-inch, 200-pounder with wings on his heels, accounted for four tries and 12 points while Welshman Gareth Griffiths, who made most of the openings for his red-tinted wing, crossed the B.C. line on three occasions.

Stew Smith, who split the up-rights on a penalty kick to pull the home club into a 3-3 tie at 13 minutes and converted John Newton's try late in the match, was high point man for B.C.

Newton gained credit for the three-pointer when he fell on the ball behind the Barbarian line after Harry Turner, Ray Burnett and Graham Budge broke through on a dribbling rush while the tourists were having their defensive lapse. The Barbarians accomplished what they set out to do—sell rugby. Many new fans must have been convinced of the potential spectator appeal of the game. All must have been enthused by clever ball-handling, dummies and reverses of the visitors. Despite their speed, they fumbled only two loose balls and gathered in bouncing balls with the confident dexterity of major league infielders.

Speed was their sharpest weapon and it cut the B.C. defence to shreds. The three habitués ran across the field, forcing the B.C. backs out of position by their very swiftness and always ready to cut through for long gains.

Weak tackling by the B.C. squad helped the Barbs run up their lopsided total and was probably the one unhappy note in the game. Fortunately, the weakness was shared by only a few and among those who merited a pat on the back for their all-out efforts were forwards Paul Beck, Turner, Budge and Gerry McGavin, wing Hugh Burnett, scrum-half Gary Webster and fullback Frank Gower.

Except for some of their tackling, the British Columbian battled all the way. Their biggest trouble was that they happened to be playing the Barbarians.

DUNCAN—B.C. Forest Products Ltd. on June 7 will end the 31-year-old run of its logging railway at Nitinat Camp, west of Cowichan Lake.

1,500 ASK CLEMENCY FOR SYMES

DUNCAN (CP)—Petitions asking executive clemency for Thomas Symes, 31-year-old logger under sentence to be hanged for the New Year's Day murder of Paul Powling, are being circulated here.

Symes' lawyer, Larry Hill of Vancouver, has filed notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada. His appeal to the B.C. Court of Appeal was rejected.

Mrs. Winnie Stark, Symes' sister, said about 1,500 names were affixed to petitions sent to Ottawa this week from Duncan and Victoria. Thirteen hundred of the signatures were collected here.

Cleric Raps Kiwanians' Sunday Events

NANAIMO—Sunday activities of Nanaimo Kiwanis Club have been criticized at a meeting of the club's "support the churches" committee by Rev. Allan Crewe of Haliburton Street United Church.

Mr. Crewe said they were contrary to the club's aims and objectives. Club president Ernest Miller agreed, saying the club was expected to give primacy to the human and spiritual, rather than the material values of life.

The matter was tabled until the next meeting. Committee chairman Gerry Hinde was in favor of suspending all Sunday activities, while Gordon Dawson, club secretary, claimed there are many club functions "which cannot readily be held except on Sunday."

Deep Cove Boy Wins Rabbit Show Trophy

Peter Dixon, 15, Chalet Road, Deep Cove, has been awarded the children's trophy in the rabbit show of the Junior Chamber of Commerce Industrial and Agricultural Fair at the Memorial Arena.

Peter won the cup with one of his does—a white Rex. The show featured 125 entries, including four from the United States.

Longshoreman Killed at Tahsis

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Heinz Jaeschke, about 35, was killed Tuesday at Tahsis while longshoring.

Reports reaching here said Jaeschke was working in the hold of a freighter when some lumber fell over and his head was crushed. An inquest will be held in Tahsis tonight. Jaeschke had worked for some years at Tahsis.

Sandown Park Turned Over To Sidney Fete

SIDNEY—Operators of Sandown Park have made their track, grandstand, and all other facilities available for the annual Sidney Day celebration July 1.

Until now the July 1 program has been staged at Memorial Park on Beach Avenue. Buses will run throughout the day from Sidney to the race track.

Logger Injured

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Masdado, a logger for Cattermole and Trethewey, was in satisfactory condition in hospital here Wednesday night after he was flown from Buttle Lake beach suffering a crushed leg.

The 37-year-old Vancouver man was crushed between a stump and a log.

Two Cars Flip But Occupants Escape Injury

Occupants of two cars which flipped over on their tops in spectacular early morning accidents apparently walked away unhurt.

One of the two cars was righted and left the scene before arrival of city police, leaving behind its windshield and a number of small radio tubes.

Witnesses told police the car was travelling east on Fort at about 2:05 a.m. and when a short distance east of Oak Bay Avenue, went out of control, overturned and slid into a stop sign at Uneva, breaking it off.

A sign at Melrose service station on the south side of Fort also was damaged.

But inspectors would be permitted to make special arrangements where installation would mean an undue hardship.

Living relatives of pioneers buried in Pioneer Square may be asked to take part in a program to provide new name plates on old illegible headstones.

As a centennial year project, the committee recommends council ask B.C. Historical Society assist in finding living descendants. They would be asked to pay for the new permanent plaques, suggested Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

'COMMON KITCHEN' PLAN Sink By-Law Easing Proposed to Council

City Council's health and welfare committee has recommended a plan whereby health department authorities would have discretionary powers in enforcing the controversial sink by-law.

Under the proposal, endorsed Wednesday by Ald. Mrs. Lily Wilson's committee, the regulation calling for a sink in every housekeeping room would be upheld.

But inspectors would be permitted to make special arrangements where installation would mean an undue hardship.

JORDAN RIVER-PORT RENFREW ROAD SOON A REALITY

By DON INGHAM

Mile by mile, and link by link, the West Coast Road from Jordan River to Port Renfrew is becoming a reality. The road is a three-way venture shared by the provincial government, Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Co. Ltd. of Jordan River, and B.C. Forest Products at Port Renfrew. The two lumber companies are building their portions of the road under terms of forest management licences, and the government will build the connecting link of 3.9 miles. B.C. Forest Products already has finished its five miles of road, and contractors for the government are making their way from Port Renfrew toward Jordan River. CPS has graded its share of the road, and now has a fleet of gravel trucks putting the final surface on the last three miles of the road. "End of the line" for motorists going west from Jordan River is at Sombrio Creek, seen in the picture at the far right. Truck, used by CPS superintendent Ole Dale, is parked at the extreme limit of the company's holdings, 17.3 miles from Jordan River. "We can hear the power saws of crews clearing right of way south from Port Renfrew," Mr. Dale said Wednesday while escorting a Times reporter and photographer over the new road. "That is when we realize that the road is on its way." Target date for completion of the link is the end of August, according to highways department officials. When finished the drive between Jordan River and Port Renfrew will be about 26 miles, and will skirt some of the more rugged terrain on the west coast. Only view of the ocean will be that seen from the first 10 miles of the road past Jordan River, when one can look past Cape Flattery to the Pacific, and even see tiny Tatoosh Island, at the tip of the cape. The road then turns inland and travels through virgin timber, and will climb to about 1,000 feet at the highest point between the two settlements, but there will be some spectacular views to thrill even the most jaded motorists. One of them will be the long view seen in the centre picture above, looking down hill toward the valley of Loss Creek, that extends eastward into the distance. This portion of the road was chewed out of solid rock to the bottom of the hill, where it turns across the river flats to the bridge seen in the picture at the left. "It is 10 feet above the water surface now, but at one time during the winter there were 18 inches of water over the bridge," Mr. Dale said. This road is not a first class highway yet, and will not be for some time, but grading and maintenance gradually will bring it out to the full 18 feet required by management licence terms.

MONTE ROBERTS

People in the newspaper business are forever being called on to estimate crowds. When crowds line the streets for a parade, or flock to the station to see a visiting celebrity, or jam the curbs to rubber-neck at a fire, the newspaper reader expects to read an account of how many people were there.

Some newspapermen are excellent at this. But I'm not.

I have tried various methods of estimating crowds. I have often asked a policeman, but the reply usually is "move along now."

Usually I ask another newspaperman, who says he doesn't know, either. The two of us then agree on a nice round figure and . . .

But I am giving away trade secrets. All I meant to do was mention I did not know much about estimating crowds, so I am very pleased to hear of a new method.

This method shall hereinafter be known as the counting-the-number-who-stayed-home method. And all honors for inventing it go to Mr. Eric Charman, a drum-beater for one of the candidates in the current election campaign.

In referring to a recent meeting, Mr. Charman is quoted as saying: "We know many people stayed at home because they feared they would be unable to gain admission to the hall."

Thus you can see it was a very successful meeting. In the Greater Victoria area alone, more than 100,000 people showed their enthusiastic approval of the candidate by staying home for fear they couldn't get in.

Up-Island, an estimated 50,000 cheering voters expressed their earnest support for the policies of the candidate by sitting by the fire with their feet up and not going to the meeting.

Officials on the candidate's campaign team are hoping for even better results at the next meeting.

They are hoping people will stay at home at points as far away as Courtenay, Campbell River and Alberni, earnestly fearing they will be unable to gain admission.

If so many people stay home that nobody goes to the meeting at all, it will be an unqualified success.

MEETINGS OUR PROJECT FOR CENTENARY?

Local celebrations of B.C.'s Centenary will be considered tonight at City Hall by Greater Victoria Centennial Committee.

B.C. Centennial Committee chairman, L. J. Wallace, and executive secretary L. H. McCance, will attend the meeting.

The district committee will meet with representatives of all city groups and organizations at 7:30 p.m., May 16.

Chairman Ald. G. I. Edgewood says he will call a meeting soon of the Victoria council committee to recommend a Centennial project for the city.

OFFICERS HERE FROM S. AFRICA

'Hep' Natives Swing To Sally Ann Music

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The pounding rhythm of Salvation Army bands, complete with drums and tambourines, draw their own kind of "Rock 'n' Roll" addicts—and today in South Africa thousands of native men and women are "swinging it out" under the army's red banner.

Result is there are now more colored Salvation Army officers than white, says Brigadier and Mrs. Wilfred Yurgensen, who have just returned to Victoria from Capetown after 16 years' service in Kenya and Uganda and seven in South Africa.

On furlough here, they are staying with Mrs. Yurgensen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Leggett, at 1519 Oaklawn Avenue.

"African natives have an in-born sense of rhythm," tall, good-humored Brigadier Yurgensen said, "and our traditional style of playing hymns, with lots of melody and percussion, has a natural appeal for them."

"From dancing and singing they go on to learn about the deeper things . . . and then you find them most earnest campaigners and workers. We simply cannot keep up with the numbers who wish to train as doctors and nurses in our service."

"And a surprising number have the intelligence and determination to go through with it. Our native medical corps grows bigger every year."

South Africa now has 424 Salvation Army officers, both white and colored, and 488 centres for the spiritual and physical treatment of natives and whites.

ALCOHOLISM PROBLEM "Alcoholism there is a bigger problem than it is here," said cheerful, brown-eyed Mrs. Yurgensen, "and we have the best rehabilitation centre in the whole world . . ."

Brigadier Yurgensen, who has been in the Army's service 31 years, travels 30,000 miles by car every year from his Capetown headquarters and visits all of the 53 schools for native children.

Mr. Yurgensen, who was born in London, Eng., speaks four languages—Danish, Swahili, Afrikaans and English, and says he is well received by anti-British factions in South Africa because he has a Danish name.

"The visitors will conduct services at the Salvation Army chapel on Pandora Avenue next Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m."

Longer School Term Asked By Sidney; Fewer Holidays

Island Municipal Leaders To Study Request May 22

Longer school days, less holidays—and abolition of industrial arts and home economics to cut school costs—has been recommended by Sidney village commission.

These are main points of a resolution being submitted May 22 to the annual conference of Association of Vancouver Island Municipalities at Courtenay.

The resolution calls for re-establishment of the complete senior matriculation course for high schools in a four-year period.

It recommends that youngsters "unable or unwilling to meet requirements of such a course" be sent to trade schools.

Copy of the resolution, received at Victoria City Hall today, states these steps should be endorsed because school costs are at an all-time high and apparently increasing.

" . . . And the level of education does not compare favorably with most other provinces in that senior matriculation is not given as part of the high school system."

(At present in B.C., high schools extend to grade 12 and senior matriculation is taught in the first year at Victoria College.)

The resolution says that in the interest of economy, new classroom construction should be geared primarily for teaching of fundamentals.

The school day should be increased one half hour.

The school year should be extended from Sept. 1 to June 30.

Bulk of the school group participation is finished and adult classes began this afternoon with Grade A solo sessions, including the women's operatic class.

There will be no events to night but Friday evening will see the grand wind-up for schools with representation of the best of choral and instrumental classes and some complementary folk dance performances.

A church choir class with one entry from Nanaimo will conclude the program. This will take place at Central Junior High School.

Friday, during the day, piano classes will continue at St. John's Memorial Hall and junior vocal at Metropolitan Church.

City Hotel, Cafe Workers To Bone Up on Tourist Lures

Hundreds of people in the city's catering and hotel industry will take part in a sight-seeing tour of Victoria next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. to familiarize themselves on the "points of interest in Victoria."

The tour, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is part of a drive to improve the tourist industry.

"We feel if citizens, especially those who come in contact with tourists, knew more about their city, tourists could be encouraged to stay longer in the city," said Russ Jeffs, assistant secretary-manager of the chamber.

Four transportation companies will provide buses for the familiarization tour.

Between 400 and 600 people are expected to participate.

STAY LONGER

That is the period when Point Ellice Bridge will be closed for demolition and reconstruction.

The notice followed a request from city council for co-operation. All Esquimalt-Victoria traffic will be funneled through Johnson Street and Tillicum bridges and bottlenecks are feared.

Ship Firms Asked For Co-operation On Bridge Opening

Department of Transport issued a formal request to shipping authorities today to avoid causing Johnson Street bridge to be opened in traffic rush hours between June 17 and October 15.

That is the period when Point Ellice Bridge will be closed for demolition and reconstruction.

The notice followed a request from city council for co-operation. All Esquimalt-Victoria traffic will be funneled through Johnson Street and Tillicum bridges and bottlenecks are feared.

MORE PAY PHONES ON STREET UNDER STUDY BY ALDERMEN

Establishment of pay-telephone booths on city street corners is under consideration by council finance committee. The committee today asked B.C. Telephone to list corners where it is felt booths should be located. At present all outdoor booths are located on private property.

Ald. Austin I. Curtis thought the system might permit doing away with the present fire alarm box signal system. No payment is required by booth phones for a fire alarm call.

Piano, Singing Festival Fare

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Piano and vocal solo work came to the fore today in the Greater Victoria Music Festival.

See Also Page 33

Bulk of the school group participation is finished and adult classes began this afternoon with Grade A solo sessions, including the women's operatic class.

There will be no events to night but Friday evening will see the grand wind-up for schools with representation of the best of choral and instrumental classes and some complementary folk dance performances.

A church choir class with one entry from Nanaimo will conclude the program. This will take place at Central Junior High School.

Friday, during the day, piano classes will continue at St. John's Memorial Hall and junior vocal at Metropolitan Church.

City Hotel, Cafe Workers To Bone Up on Tourist Lures

Hundreds of people in the city's catering and hotel industry will take part in a sight-seeing tour of Victoria next Wednesday at 1:15 p.m. to familiarize themselves on the "points of interest in Victoria."

The tour, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, is part of a drive to improve the tourist industry.

"We feel if citizens, especially those who come in contact with tourists, knew more about their city, tourists could be encouraged to stay longer in the city," said Russ Jeffs, assistant secretary-manager of the chamber.

Four transportation companies will provide buses for the familiarization tour.

STAY LONGER

That is the period when Point Ellice Bridge will be closed for demolition and reconstruction.

The notice followed a request from city council for co-operation. All Esquimalt-Victoria traffic will be funneled through Johnson Street and Tillicum bridges and bottlenecks are feared.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

City council was asked by finance committee today to approve a Boy Scout Apple Day on a suitable date this summer.

Although the city has a policy of limiting tag days, it was decided as the purchaser gets an apple for his money, the scout event would not fall in the tag-day classification.

Victoria council finance committee will take another look at Memorial Arena floor.

Recently city council turned down a request from Memorial Arena Commission for a new floor freezing system. City engineer J. C. Garnett felt the expenditure, estimated as high as $100,000, could be put off with a system of careful maintenance and patching.

The decision to visit the arena and reconsider the matter followed a request by city manager C. C. Wyatt today. He is a member of the arena commission.

A special meeting of Victoria city council will be held Tuesday to complete passage of the tax and expenditure by-laws for 1957.

Deadline for the passage of the by-law under the Municipal Act is May 15. The by-law, setting a millage rate of 4 1/2 mills, up one from last year, was to get first reading later today.

FRIDAY MEETINGS

Victoria Lions: Empress Hotel, noon luncheon. L. J. Wallace will speak on "1838-1958, A Century to Celebrate."

31st Battalion Association, CEF: 617 Fort Street, 8 p.m.

Army paycorpsman Cpl. Bruce Holme, Work Point, plans his initial attempt at swimming Juan de Fuca Strait May 18 or 19, he said today.

He said he hopes to leave Port Angeles at about 2 p.m. on the Saturday or Sunday, depending on weather conditions.

Victoria Federal CCF campaign committee today asked Victoria council for permission to hold an outdoor rally in Beacon Hill Park at an unspecified date prior to June 10 federal election.

The request asked use of the bandstand. Parks committee will study the request and make a recommendation to council, probably next week.

Square dancing for children between the ages of 10 and 13 will be conducted in Beacon Hill Park, Saturday from 10:30 to approximately 11:30 a.m.

Dancing will be directed by William Deacon who heads the "Alma Squares." Location in the park is behind the children's playground which has been fitted with a public address system for the occasion.

A plea of not guilty was entered in city police court today on behalf of 18-year-old high school student Stephen Yarmie, 920 Empress, charged with obtaining a car by false pretences.

Yarmie, who had been held in custody was granted $1,000 bail and was remanded for trial to May 16.

It is alleged he obtained an auto from Robert Stirling Manns, April 1.

Victoria and District Cornish Association will meet at the home of Miss L. Hooper, 781 Richmond Road, Saturday at 8 p.m.

President of Besant lodge, Frank P. Boucher will speak on "The Plant Kingdom—Its Relation to Theosophy" at a public meeting sponsored by Victoria Theosophical Society, 904 Government Street, Sunday at 8 p.m.

The 300 airborne members of the Victoria Flying Club today issued invitations to the public to "come out and see what we can do."

It is in conjunction with "open house" of the club, a member of the Royal Canadian Flying Clubs Association, tying in with similar functions in the 40 affiliated clubs throughout Canada, May 10 to 12.

Esquimalt Lions' Club will sponsor 15 games of bingo at Esquimalt High School, Monday night starting at 8. All proceeds will be in aid of Lions' charities.

Sunday Is Mother's Day ... Here Are Gift Suggestions

By PENNY SAVER

But what shall we buy for her day of days? This is a question that will no doubt be repeated many times between now and Sunday by children and husbands alike. If there have been no subtle hints or suggestions already made by mother, perhaps these few gift ideas will help you out of the dilemma.

An attractive pen to pop into her purse, or keep with her favorite stationery may be the answer. From these ball-point pens flows floral-scented ink that sweetens any note. The fragrance is evident only after the ink is on the paper, you cannot detect it from the pen itself. A pink, blue or black pen sprinkled with glittering rhinestones will make mother's eyes shine. Charming and oh, so feminine, the pens are $1.75 each.

Bone china snack sets for mother, the hostess, come in blue, pink or yellow, and are selling at the special price of $1.98. Handy oval trays with tall matching cups will be used often in your house for every-day or entertaining.

Other good gift suggestions in the china department include yellow tea rose tea ware. Cups and saucers were priced at $1.50, but are now $1.19. Bread and butter plates were $1.20, now 96 cents and tea plates were $1.50, now $1.19. Cream and sugars in this same lovely rose pattern are $1.95, formerly $2.95, and bon bon dishes, which were $1.70, are $1.29.

China floral clusters to brighten what-not shelves or decorate little tables are lovely, too, and are selling at reasonable prices. Roses, carnations and violets in dainty containers cost 98 cents, $1.49 and $2.98.

Eighteen patterns in cups and saucers are there for your choosing ... floral and pastels in many delicate shades. A wonderful price right now, the cups and saucers are 98 cents each or three for $2.87.

Spring Tea in Colwood Hall

Colwood Women's Institute held a successful spring tea and sale in Colwood Hall recently. Mrs. T. Mossop, president, welcomed the visitors and introduced Mrs. J. Page, wife of the new rector of St. John's Church, Colwood, who opened the affair.

Attractive stalls were convened as follows: Home cooking, Mrs. E. C. Parker, assisted by Mrs. S. Folks and Mrs. A. Proudfoot; sewing and handicraft, Mrs. F. Searle and Mrs. W. Dawson; flower section, Mrs. S. Lang, Mrs. E. Emery and Mrs. R. Cooper; candy, Mrs. T. Mossop and Mrs. G. Burkholder; white elephant, Mrs. J. Hopwood and Mrs. T. Parsons; mystery parcels, Mrs. P. Georgeson.

Mrs. E. Shields sold contest tickets, and Mrs. E. Peatt, tea tickets. Tea was convened by Mrs. B. W. Parker and Mrs. G. Smith, assisted by Mrs. R. B. Murray, Mrs. T. Milburn, Mrs. T. Taylor, Mrs. H. Baldock, Mrs. F. Acres, Mrs. W. Raymond and Mrs. M. Parker.

WEDDING ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Miss Joyce Patricia Allison to Mr. William Ernest Mackereth was recently announced by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Allison, 624 Alpha Street. Mr. Mackereth is son of Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Mackereth, 3461 Bethune Avenue. The wedding will take place May 18 at 8 p.m. in Centennial United Church, with Rev. Douglas B. Carr officiating. ## An Up-Island Wedding Of Interest to Victoria

A nuptial Mass was celebrated in Our Lady of Lourdes Chapel, Campbell River, recently by Father Donal Lehanne when Miss Kim Estelle Williams and Thomas Flynn exchanged vows.

The petit, fair-haired bride was lovely in a white ballerina-length gown accented with blue accessories. She carried a spray of white flowers on a white prayer book. She was given in marriage by the groom's uncle, T. Richardson.

The Sisters of St. Ann formed the choir during the Mass.

Bridesmaid, Miss Lillian Matson wore a pink gown with white accessories and carried pastel flowers. Ray Flynn, RCAF, was his brother's best man, and usher was Doug Flynn, another brother.

Miss Williams, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Williams of Fort St. John is a graduate of Prince Rupert Convent and Vancouver Normal School and is at present on the teaching staff of Willow Point School, Campbell River.

Mr. Flynn is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Flynn of Victoria and grandson of Mr. T. J. Dolan, Victoria. He is a graduate of St. Louis College, Victoria, and attended Portland University, Portland, Ore. He is now with Imperial Oil Company, Campbell River.

Following the ceremony, a family wedding breakfast was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Richardson. Father Lehanne was among the guests.

Clubwomen's News

Bridge and Tea—Miriam Temple No. 2, Daughters of the Nile, realized $150 at a recent bridge and tea held in the Hudson's Bay Douglas Room. Mrs. Lillian Clarke received the guests, assisted by Mrs. Flora Irvine. Conventers of the party were Mrs. Margaret Phillips and Mrs. Jean Kempton.

IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE

Miss Sylvia Gill was guest of honor at a kitchen shower given by Mrs. J. Mawer. Little Bonnie Mawer presented her with a bouquet of yellow flowers and gifts from a yellow clothes basket. The bride-elect's mother, Mrs. W. H. Gill, received a corsage of violets. Invited guests were Mrs. V. Craig, Mrs. E. Corbett, Mrs. B. Temple, Mrs. S. Moeckl, Mrs. O. Price, Mrs. B. Donaldson, Mrs. R. Rain, Mrs. M. Haynes, Mrs. J. Kolb, Mrs. M. Orrin, Mrs. M. Mawer and Miss M. Rain.

Another shower honoring Miss Gill was given recently at the home of Miss Diane Price, San Marino Crescent. Upon her arrival, she was presented with a corsage of pink rosebuds. Gifts were held in a gaily decorated umbrella. Invited guests were Mrs. G. McKenzie, Mrs. P. Tanner, Mrs. D. Reynolds, Mrs. W. Corbett, Mrs. T. Price, Mrs. R. Baird, Mrs. J. Davey, Mrs. O. Price, Mrs. J. Stewart, Mrs. W. Gill, Mrs. J. Jefferies, Mrs. L. Mollet, Mrs. M. Vance, Mrs. K. Salmon, Mrs. D. Draper, Mrs. K. Anderson and Misses R. Price, Freda, Price, Frances Price, Sharon Stewart, Jean Webster, Iris Diericks, Heather Hewitt, Heather Bell and Marilyn Somers.

Mrs. J. Boychuk and Miss Gladys Boychuk entertained at a miscellaneous shower recently in honor of Miss Norma Graves at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. Graves. Upon arrival the honor guest was presented with a corsage of pink carnations. Corsages of white carnations were presented to Mrs. Graves and Mrs. R. A. Willoughby. Gifts were arranged in a decorative basket of pastel pink and green. Guests included Mrs. W. D. Brown, Mrs. R. E. Couch, Mrs. C. Harrison, Mrs. N. I'Anson, Mrs. P. Graves, Mrs. R. Graves, Mrs. S. Hawkins, Mrs. W. Walton, Mrs. H. Birnie, Mrs. H. Roberts, Mrs. E. Streeter, Mrs. G. Cross, Mrs. P. Jeffreys, Mrs. R. Smart, Mrs. R. Taylor, Mrs. I. Smith, Mrs. C. Davis, Mrs. R. ### On Etiquette

An Amethyst for an Engagement Ring?

Must an engagement ring be a diamond solitaire? My fiancée wants to have a lovely amethyst that belonged to his grandmother reset for me, but my family is violently opposed to the idea, insisting that this would be highly unconventional.

Answers: Although the diamond is traditional, an engagement ring can have any kind of stone. What a young man gets his fiancée is a symbol as well as an adornment, and it is such a personal thing between two people that no one else should voice an opinion, let alone have one. I have seen many diamondless engagement rings set with various kinds of stones, some new, some family heirlooms. If you are perfectly happy with an amethyst engagement ring, I hope you won't let anyone try to talk you out of it. Whether it is to be an amethyst or a diamond is for your fiancée and you to decide. Asking questions of family and friends will only confuse the issue. Some will like the idea, others won't, so you might as well work this out by yourselves.

CENTENNIAL COMPETITION

City Man Finalist
In Sculpture Contest

Winner of the B.C. Centennial Committee sculpturing contest will be named within the next week.

He will be chosen from one

CHAIRMAN of conciliation board in dispute between 34,000 coast woodworkers and their employers is Gordon Wismer, former B.C. attorney-general, (above), George Robson of Vancouver, represents employers, and Robert Smeal of Victoria is nominee of International Woodworkers of America. IWA seeks a 20 per cent wage increase and other benefits. Board held its first meeting today in Vancouver.

of three finalists—including a Victorian-announced Wednesday.

Herbert Siebner, 2078 Goldsmith, was awarded $250 for his work, which expresses the contest's theme of "youth".

Other two finalists are Gerhard H. Class of North Vancouver, and Reg and Natalie Dixon, Vancouver.

The judges studied the 40 entries from every angle for more than seven hours before reaching a verdict.

$20,000 COMMISSION
The winning finalist will be awarded the Centennial Committee's $20,000 commission for a major work for next year's celebrations.

Of his work, Mr. Siebner said:

"Youth is free and growing and this I tried to express in the sculpture. I feel the expression of my feelings came out."

"You never can express exactly the feeling in a work of art because the materials used intrude."

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, May 9th—I just have to tell you about my latest discovery! It's a completely new kind of coconut—BAKER'S ANGEL FLAKE COCONUT. Not shreds—but tender, thin, light, dewy-fresh flakes that melt in your mouth. As for flavor—Baker's Angel Flake Coconut tastes fresh—as if you'd picked the ripe coconut and grated it yourself. Makes ordinary cakes enchanting. An exciting new "Cut-Up" cake tells how to make unusual party cakes without special pans. The Baker's Angel Flake Coconut package tells you how to get yours. I'd suggest you get a package of Angel Flake right away and send for your book. I already have mine!

MOTHERS USED TO THINK... that Diaper Rash was one of the "necessary evils" of babyhood. But not any more! The four DIAPARENE Products have changed all that. Use Diaparene Ointment liberally if baby's skin is already red—and it will clear up the most obstinate case of diaper rash. Diaparene Powder and Lotion medically prevent chafing and irritation. And if you'll just add a few drops of Diaparene Rinse in the final rinse water—baby's diapers will be pre-medicated—so that the little one can have full protection. Diaparene Antiseptics are prescribed by physicians.

ONE-THIRD OF A HOME—WASTED! That's what we've all seen time and again with an old-fashioned basement and out-of-date heating equipment. It's truly surprising how inexpensive it is to install a modern heating unit—and then modernize this valuable area of the house—for a recreation room, workshop and an attractive laundry. You can "live modern" right where you are—thanks to today's developments in heating and plumbing. I've written a book, which has been beautifully and colorfully illustrated, for the CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PLUMBING AND HEATING which they will send you FREE! I really think you'll find it most helpful. Just write C.I.P.H., Dept. 10, 550 Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal.

OUR COMING HOME is always a lively occasion for our beautiful budgie, Sir Isaac. He never fails to chirrup his delight and swing on his perch frantically. BROCK'S BUDGIE SEED, one of the 5 Basic Brock Products, keeps Sir Isaac in perfect condition, always. I wish every home could know the joy of a budgie!

PREVENTION may well be the best cure, but for many of us it's just a phrase that is more easily said than practiced. Unfortunately, the truth of it is fully realized only after misfortune has struck. "If only I had done this, that, or the other thing..." is the all-too-familiar substitute for lack of foresight. Suppose your own family income was suddenly cut off due to accident or sickness. If you're smart you have insurance to cover such emergencies. But what about the hundreds of other expenses that crop up when the breadwinner isn't earning? That's when money in the bank could spell real peace of mind, and that's why thousands of far-sighted Canadian families today have special "emergency" Savings Accounts at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Start your "rainy day" savings fund today, at "My Bank"—You'll like saving at Canada's First Bank.

LUCKY, LUCKY US! What a satisfaction to be able to have a pantry array of the pure fruit jellies made by SHIRRIFF... ready to give the final touch of perfection to meats... and desserts... grand on toast and crackers. Look at this tempting lineup of fresh-fruit flavors—each one so very clear, so very bright, and flavorful... Crabapple, Grape, Red Currant, Black Currant, Strawberry, Snow Apple, Mint and Cranberry Sauce. Each flavor is packed in an attractive drinking glass containing 9 fluid ounces of the purest jelly—no added pectin or flavoring. Shirriff's have long held women's admiration for the true, fresh-fruit flavor of their fine jellies. Order some today, do!

IT'S REALLY STUNNING! I'm writing about the new Royal Dutch Stainless Steel Flatware, that you can get at a wonderful saving, through LIFTON SOUPS. Save your packages from all the delicious varieties of these delectable soups—and ask your grocer about the big offer! You'll find that Lipton Chicken Noodle will become the favorite soup of your family—and your guests. It has the most delicate flavor—yet a hearty appetite appeal, too. It's a dream served "straight"—or you can use it as the base for chicken sauces, and vegetable casseroles. Get some today—and ask your grocer about that exciting offer!

EVERYONE KNOWS THAT DOGS COME IN MANY BREEDS, shapes and sizes... but there is one thing every dog has in common—the need for a complete, nutritionally balanced diet every day. Poor feeding is the major cause of dog illnesses. Like humans, a dog must have a daily supply of vitamins, minerals, proteins and other essential food elements to keep healthy, happy and in good condition. DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD is the BEST way I know of providing your dog with all these things. This veterinarian prepared formula was developed to give your dog the best diet possible and nothing but the best is good enough for your best friend. So, next time you shop, better get Dr. Ballard's Champion Dog Food... Regular, Chicken and Liver flavors.

Quebec Universities
Return Federal Grant

QUEBEC (CP) — L'Evenement-Journal says four Quebec universities have returned to the Canadian Universities Conference cheques they received from the federal government. The newspaper says Bishop's College, Ennville, and the Universities of Montreal, Sherbrooke and Laval returned the payments, which have been discouraged by Premier Duplessis as an encroachment on provincial rights.

TOP CADET NAMED

TIN CAN TIDAL RETURN SPURS
CITY LANDFILL GARBAGE PLAN

Tin cans which apparently survive the garbage crusher—are still floating back to Victoria beaches by the thousand, Y. P. A. Vesey, 1805 Crescent Road, reported Wednesday night.

He supports sanitary landfill operations for local garbage disposal. Oak Bay fire hall is built on a former landfill, he says.

City works officials are studying two plans for better disposal—increasing the distance of the tow to sea, or a sanitary landfill in Topaz Park area.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions to select to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

What Is Sulphur?

Pure sulphur is a soft shade of canary yellow. It may be powdery, crystal or like a rock. In everyday life, we hardly ever see it in these forms. Yet it is one of the basic elements behind the scenes in modern industry. You would never know, but sulphur is a necessary part of your body and also present in plants. For it is one of the elements necessary to make the protein foods which our bodies need to grow and repair themselves.

In our bodies, sulphur is hidden in tiny, invisible particles. We get our supplies from egg yolk foods and vegetables, especially cabbage and mustard plants. Sulphur also hides itself when it goes to work in industry. One way it hides is to combine with other elements to form entirely different compounds.

One of these compounds is sulphuric acid—a thick, clear liquid. This acid is strong enough to dissolve zinc and aluminum. It is used as a bleach and as a dissolver for cloth dyes. It plays a part in refining gasoline and bites into the metal plates for making lithographs and photogravures. Chances are, it is present in a storage battery. It helps to make soap, glue and leather. And most of it is used to turn phosphate rocks into valuable plant fertilizer.

Another sulphur compound is the hypo used to develop photographic prints. Other compounds of sulphur play a part in making ink, germicidal fungus killing salves, matches, fireworks, gunpowder and in vulcanizing rubber.

In olden days, sulphur was called brimstone—the burning stone. The yellow stone or powder begins to melt when heated a little above the boiling point of water. At about 480 degrees Fahrenheit, it is a thick, brown liquid ready to burst into flame.

Brimstone was found long ago in Sicily. It came from the earth in the form of thick, suffocating gases. The gases finally settled into solid sulphur mixed with other volcanic

Andy sends a Hammond's Nature Atlas of America to Pat Murphy, age 11, of Climax, Colo., for the question:

How Many Eggs Does an Ostrich Lay Each Year?

Mrs. Ostrich lays about 15 eggs a year. This is a single brood and mama and papa bring up the youngsters together. Mr. Ostrich, the biggest bird in the world, stands seven to eight feet tall and Mrs. Ostrich is only slightly smaller. We would expect these giant birds to lay giant sized eggs. And so they do.

A creamy colored ostrich egg weighs about three pounds. The nest must be big and strong enough to hold about 45 pounds of eggs. It is built by Papa Ostrich. He uses his strong claws to dig a shallow hole in the ground.

Papa stays close to the nest to see that the eggs are kept properly warm. He often drives mama away and sits on them himself. As a rule, he allows her to sit on the nest during the daytime while he takes over the job at night.

The nest chicks do not have the soft, graceful plumage of their parents. They are covered with spiky down and look like porcupines.

VICTORIA DISTRICT NOTES

Five Victoria Scouts will be among those going to the Ninth World Jamboree, one Rover Scout attending the Moot, and two leaders at the Indaba. Four Scouts and one leader will go to Valley Forge for the fourth American jamboree.

The Victoria Scouts are combining with the Victoria Division of the Girl Guides, entering a float in the May Parade. This weekend will see another work party at Camp Barnard. Leaders are reminded that camp application forms should be sent in to district headquarters at least two weeks before going into camp, and all camps over three days need a permit.

WINDSOR PARK 'B' PACK

Over 40 parents and friends attended the parents' night Tuesday. Games in which the dads took part, were run off. The jungle dance of "Moa the Peacock" was demonstrated and a sing-song was held with refreshments concluding the event. During the evening Akela Phyllis Sheffield invested David Bapty as a "second star" Cub. Greg Tuck received his "first star" and Jeff Pinnegar his three years' service star. Members of the pack were on duty at the Scout booth at the B.C. Products Fair Wednesday afternoon. Assistant district commissioner Jim Castle was a visitor.

FAIRFIELD TROOP

This troop has grown to a strength of 42 boys and plans are under way to form two new patrols. Patrol hikes are the theme for this month, each patrol leader must get his boys out on hikes to hold his job. The troop will be on duty Friday at the B.C. Products Fair.

The Cub meeting was held at the home of Jonny Garrison, Mt. Douglas Cross Road, on Tuesday evening. The boys were transported by members of the

Strontium Boost In Wales Blamed On U.S. Tests

LONDON (CP)—A Welsh Labor member of Parliament claimed today that the incidence of radio-active strontium 90 has increased in Wales and suggested that American nuclear tests may be the reason.

The legislator, George Thomas, joined with other Welsh members of the Commons in a barrage of questions seeking information from Prime Minister Macmillan's government on the amount of strontium 90 in Britain. The answers are due next Tuesday.

Strontium 90 is a by-product of nuclear explosions. Some scientists claim it causes bone cancer and leukemia.

Malta: Integration Or Independence?

LONDON (Reuters)—Malta Governor Sir Robert Laycock conferred Wednesday with the colonial office on the threat of the Mediterranean island's premier to seek political independence in stead of integration with Britain. L. yock arrived here last week after Maltese Prime Minister Dom Mintoff said that if Britain did not treat the colony on equal terms it would seek independence.

Opposition Must Be Stronger, Says Sinclair

The need for a strong opposition in the House of Commons was stressed Wednesday night by Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

Speaking to a rally at Trail, Mr. Sinclair said:

"We definitely need stronger opposition in the House. But it is not the fault of the present government that we have been chosen for the last 22 years to represent the people. The fault lies with all opposition parties."

Mr. Sinclair took to task Canadians who do not exercise their franchise to vote or attend political meetings.

"No matter how much publicity we give the forthcoming June 10 federal election, some 25 per cent eligible Canadian voters will not cast their ballots."

The fisheries minister said earlier in the day he thinks the government will choose a public agency to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"I think they will choose public development," he told a luncheon meeting of Liberal supporters at Nelson. "Not the Wenner-Grens, who sold guns to both sides in the war and were black-listed by the Americans and the British."

"That's not the type of government wants."

Mr. Sinclair officially opened a new $250,000 federal building

3 ELECTION MEETINGS TONIGHT

Three election campaign meetings are on tap in the Victoria area tonight.

A. De B. McPhillips, Progressive Conservative candidate in Victoria, will speak at South Park School in James Bay.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, seeking re-election on the Conservative ticket in Esquimalt-Saanich, will be at View Royal Hall and;

Defence Minister Ralph Campney and Dr. F. T. Fairley, Liberal candidate in Victoria, will speak at the Canadian Legion Hall, 1616 Blanshard.

All meetings start at 8 p.m.

at Trail in a special ceremony witnessed by more than 200 persons.

The building, of brick with granite and limestone trim, is in downtown Trail.

Canadian Democrats to Run 20 Candidates

Gerry Goejoun, leader of the Canadian Democrats, a new political party, said Wednesday the party hopes to run about 20 candidates in the June federal election.

"We're beginning to catch fire but we're still lacking supporters of candidate material," he said in an interview at New Westminster.

The 31-year-old law student at the University of British Columbia said the Canadian Democrats expect to have 18 candidates in B.C.

If they have that many—and Mr. Goejoun says "we'll be nominating candidates right up to the May 27 deadline"—they will surpass the Labor-Progressive Party. The LPP ran 18 candidates in B.C. in the 1953 election but, so far, has nominated only one and is expected to run no more than six at most.

Mr. Goejoun said the Democrats are "like the Liberals, but in opposition. Unity is our platform. That sums it up."

He said the party's slogan is "One Flag, One People."

The flag the party suggests for Canada has 10 gold bars—one for each province—on a red background with a maple leaf in the centre. There would be no Union Jack or coat of arms.

Even Toothpicks to China Would Help B.C.

Harry McQuillan, Progressive Conservative candidate in Coquitlam-Alberni, says that if "every one in China even used a toothpick, B.C. could benefit by supplying this vast population."

Mr. McQuillan made the statement at Campbell River in support of trade with Communist China as he outlined his election platform.

Canada must have its own foreign policy and should "not be forced to yield to the United States," he told a campaign rally.

He promised to work for expanded roads in the northern section of Vancouver Island and for a highway link between Campbell River and the West Coast through the Gold River valley.

Bob Prittie, CCF candidate in Burnaby-Richmond, told an election meeting at Steveston that the federal government should suspend the investigation of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union. He said the investigation was "a threat to all unions."

Mr. Prittie said the market for salt herring and chum salmon would be reopened if Canada recognized Red China.

Atomic Chief Denies Nevada Fallout Danger

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today brushed aside a charge by Reporter Magazine that thousands of Americans "may yet turn out to be victims" of nuclear tests in Nevada.

The commission said its tests are conducted under rigidly controlled conditions and all available evidence has "confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

The magazine made the statement in a copyrighted article, "Clouds from Nevada," which comprised most of its current issue. It said residents and visitors to Nevada and Utah have been exposed to radioactive fallout despite AEC precautions.

In response to a query from the United Press, the AEC said "precautions are taken to keep the amount of local fallout as low as possible, and to measure and record the radiation exposures which might be received by persons in the area around the test site."

"The many measurements which have been taken have confirmed that fallout from Nevada has not caused illness or detectable injury to health."

The commission also said it makes no attempt to keep secret information on radiation exposure levels in the Nevada test area or anywhere else in the United States. It said such information was available in the AEC's semi-annual reports and other publications.

Diefenbaker Criticizes Third Parties

Unity Threatened By Socred Moves

BROCKVILLE, Ont. (CP)—John Diefenbaker has said the CCF or Social Credit parties have no hope of forming the government at Ottawa and are contributing to undermine the parliamentary system.

Third parties had set up regional groupings in the Commons and ruined the two-party system, the Progressive Conservative leader said here Wednesday night.

"No Parliament divided in that way can function. Unity can only be maintained by preservation of the two-party system."

He raised the issue in referring to the recent entry of a Social Credit candidate in Leeds constituency here against a Liberal and a Conservative candidate.

SPLITS OPPOSITION

He said third parties have no hope of achieving power at Ottawa "within the ordinary period of contemplation." Only the Conservatives were able to form an alternate government to the Liberal administration and every vote for a third party "has the effect of assuring the return of the Liberal party."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who opened a six-day Ontario tour here, speaks today at Wallaceburg in Lambton-Kent and at Windsor, focal point of three Essex County ridings. All four were held by Liberals in the last Parliament.

His speech here referred to a recent Liberal party publication which listed federal government expenditures in each constituency for old age pensions, family allowances and disability allowances.

"That's Pied Piper philosophy," he said. "They gave nothing but what they took from you and me. That type of Roman holiday at the expense of the people will ruin democracy."

WOULD KEEP BENEFITS

He criticized what he said was a "whispering campaign" that a Conservative government would reduce social security benefits. All benefits would be maintained under the Conservatives.

The Liberal government had degraded Parliament in recent years and merely went to the people every four years to tell what had been spent.

"It would simply be easier to elect Mr. Howe as number one, Mr. St. Laurent, Mr. Gardiner and then as philosopher and pundit Mr. Pickersgill," he said with sarcasm. "There's no reason to elect the rest of them. These are the men who determine what Parliament does."

Socred Chief's Charge 'Downright Lie'—PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent has accused Social Credit Leader Solon Low of uttering a "downright lie" about undisclosed contents of telegrams Mr. St. Laurent sent to then British prime minister Sir Anthony Eden during the Suez crisis last fall.

He also offered — though it was more in the nature of a challenge — to have a Privy Council member, after reading the classified telegrams, assure Mr. Low that the prime minister is telling the truth when he says there was no threat to them.

He made his statements to reporters Wednesday night on his return by air to the capital from a 12-day campaign for the June 10 federal election that took him some 5,000 miles across Western Canada.

Today he attends an afternoon cabinet meeting, then leaves for his Quebec City home for the weekend. He is to speak there Monday.

The 75-year-old Liberal chief looked fit and vigorous as he was met by Resources Minister Lesage, Privy Council President Chevrier and some 20 others. But he left them for a few minutes when newspaper men approached.

It was windy and threatening rain. So he drew the reporters to a sheltered spot on the edge of the tarmac. Then he tugged a newspaper out of his coat pocket and read a Victoria report of an interview with Mr. Low last Monday.

The report quoted Mr. Low as saying Mr. St. Laurent "told Britain that if it did not withdraw its troops from the canal zone within a specified time some very drastic action would be taken—possibly Canada's withdrawal from the Commonwealth."

"I can't imagine any justification for Solon Low to make any

$20,000 COMMISSION
The winning finalist will be awarded the Centennial Committee's $20,000 commission for a major work for next year's celebrations.

Of his work, Mr. Siebner said: "Youth is free and growing and this I tried to express in the sculpture. I feel the expression of my feelings came out."

"You never can express exactly the feeling in a work of art because the materials used intrude."

RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL
VANCOUVER — Bank accountant Ronald Compston was released from hospital 53 days after he was shot in a bank hold-up chase, but his doctor said Tuesday it will probably be a couple of months before he can return to work.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, May 9th—I just have to tell you about my latest discovery! It's a completely new kind of coconut—BAKER'S ANGEL FLAKE COCONUT. Not shreds—but tender-thin, light, dewy-fresh flakes that melt in your mouth. As far as flavor—Baker's Angel Flake Coconut tastes fresh—as if you'd picked the ripe coconut and grated it yourself. Makes ordinary cakes exciting. And here's more enchantment! An exciting new "Cut-Up Cakes" book that tells how to make unusual party cakes without special pans. The Baker's Angel Flake Coconut package tells you how to get yours. I'd suggest you get a package of Angel Flake right away and send for your book. I already have mine!

MOTHERS USED TO THINK... that Diaper Rash was one of the "necessary evils" of babyhood. But not any more! The four DIAPARENE Products have changed all that. Use Diaparene Ointment liberally if baby's skin is already red—and it will clear up the most obstinate case of diaper rash. Diaparene Powder and Lotion medically prevent chafing and irritation. And if you'll just add a few drops of Diaparene Rinse in the final rinse water—baby's diapers will be pre-medicated—so that the little one can have full protection. Diaparene Antiseptics are prescribed by physicians.

ONE-THIRD OF A HOME—WASTED! That's what we've all seen time and again with an old-fashioned basement and out-of-date heating equipment. It's truly surprising how inexpensive it is to install a modern heating unit—and then modernize this valuable area of the house—for a recreation room, workshop and an attractive laundry. You can "live modern" right where you are—thanks to today's developments in heating and plumbing. I've written a book, which has been beautifully and colorfully illustrated, for the CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PLUMBING AND HEATING which they will send you FREE! I really think you'll find it most helpful. Just write C.I.P.H., Dept. 30, 550 Sherbrooke St. W., Montreal.

OUR COMING HOME is always a lively occasion for our beautiful budgie, Sir Isaac. He never fails to chirrup his delight and swing on his perches frantically. BROCK'S BUDGIE SEED, one of the 3 Basic Brock Products, keeps Sir Isaac in perfect condition, always. I wish every home could know the joy of a budgie!

PREVENTION may well be the best cure, but for many of us it's just a phrase that is more easily said than practiced. Unfortunately, the truth of it is fully realized only after misfortune has struck. "If only I had done this, that, or the other thing..." is the all-too-familiar substitute for lack of foresight. Suppose your own family income was suddenly cut off due to accident or sickness. If you're smart you have insurance to cover such emergencies. But what about the hundreds of other expenses that crop up when the breadwinner isn't earning? That's where a money in the bank could spell real peace of mind, and that's why thousands of far-sighted Canadian families today have special "emergency" Savings Accounts at the BANK OF MONTREAL. Start your "rainy day" savings fund today, at "My Bank". You'll like saving at Canada's First Bank.

LUCKY, LUCKY US! What a satisfaction to be able to have a pantry array of the pure fruit jellies made by SHIRRIFF... ready to give the final touch of perfection to meats... and desserts... grand on toast and crackers. Look at this tempting lineup of fresh-fruit flavors—each one so very clear, so very bright, and flavoured... Crabapple, Grape, Red Currant, Black Currant, Strawberry, Snow Apple, Mint and Cranberry Sauce. Each flavor is packed in an attractive drinking glass containing 3 fluid ounces of the purest jelly—no added pectin or flavoring. Shirriff's have long held women's admiration for the true, fresh-fruit flavor of their fine jellies. Order some today, do!

IT'S REALLY STUNNING! I'm writing about the new Royal Dutch Stainless Steel Flatware, that you can get at a wonderful saving, through LIPTON SOUPS. Save your packages from all the delicious varieties of these delectable soups—and ask your grocer about the big offer! You'll find that Lipton Chicken Noodle will become the favorite soup of your family—and your guests. It has the most delicate flavor—yet a hearty appeal, too. It's a dream served "straight"—or you can use it as the base for chicken sauces, and vegetable casseroles. Get some today—and ask your grocer about that exciting offer!

EVERYONE KNOWS THAT DOGS COME IN MANY BREEDS, shapes and sizes... but there is one thing every dog has in common—the need for a complete, nutritionally balanced diet every day. Poor feeding is the major cause of dog illnesses. Like humans, a dog must have a daily supply of vitamins, minerals, proteins and other essential food elements to keep healthy, happy and in good condition. DR. BALLARD'S CHAMPION DOG FOOD is the BEST way I know of providing your dog with all these things. This veterinarian prepared formula was developed to give your dog the best diet possible and nothing but the best is good enough for your best friend. So, next time you shop, better get Dr. Ballard's Champion Dog Food... Regular, Chicken and Liver flavours.

Quebec Universities
Return Federal Grant

QUEBEC (CP) — L'Evenement... Journal says four Quebec universities have returned to the Canadian Universities Conference cheques they received from the federal government. The newspaper says Bishop's College, in Montreal, and the Universities of Montreal, Sherbrooke and Laval returned the payments, which have been discouraged by Premier Duplessis as an encroachment on provincial rights.

TOP CADET NAMED FOR COLLEGE PARADE

Cadet Wing Commander Michael W. Stedman, West Vancouver, will lead the march past at the graduation ceremonies Friday for the Canadian Services College class of 1957.

He was selected best all-round cadet. Main academic honors will go to Peter J. Dawson, New Westminster; Donald Demerise, Kirkland Lake, and Mark A. McCavity, Toronto.

Defence Minister Ralph Campney will make the graduation address.

LAST RITES FOR PIONEER
FORT ST. JOHN—Funeral services for Robert Barker, 83, a pioneer homesteader in this Peace River area, were held Tuesday.

A bachelor, Barker was born in England and arrived at Fort St. John in 1905. The homesteader he staked has been turned into an industrial area by West-Pacific Petroleum Ltd.

TIN CAN TIDAL RETURN SPURS
CITY LANDFILL GARBAGE PLAN

Tin cans which apparently survive the garbage crusher are still floating back to Victoria beaches by the thousand, Y. P. A. Vesey, 1805 Crescent Road, reported Wednesday night.

He supports sanitary landfill operations for local garbage disposal. Oak Bay fire hall is built on a former landfill, he says.

City works officials are studying two plans for better disposal—increasing the distance of the tow to sea, or a sanitary landfill in Topaz Park area.

Forgery Charged— Heroism Genuine

MADRAS, Ore. (AP)—County Sheriff Jesse Woolridge has a special reason to ask the court to be lenient with one of his prisoners.

The prisoner, 21-year-old Norman Shepard, saved the sheriff's life, and helped rescue a California family of four from a flood.

Woolridge said that if Shepard is convicted on the forgery charge he faces, the sheriff will ask leniency because of Shepard's heroism.

The rescue came Tuesday when Woolridge was transporting Shepard from Chicago to jail at Prineville, Ore. When they were about 15 miles north of this Central Oregon town, a flood generated by a heavy storm rolled out of ravines and across the highway.

When he saw the water approaching, Woolridge stopped his car, took the handcuffs from one of Shepard's wrists and the two men started running for safety.

But Woolridge saw another car on the highway—the four persons in it apparently unable to run, because of fright.

Woolridge dragged from the car—Edgar Martin, 32, Delano, Calif., his wife Betty, 22, and their four-year-old daughter, Debra. Then the party again started to run for safety.

But Shepard—the handcuffs still dangling from one wrist—heard two dogs barking in the car. He ran back to the vehicle and found—huddled in the front seat—the Martins' two-year-old son, Danny.

Shepard grabbed the boy and ran, moments before a wall of water washed the vehicle down the highway.

As the sheriff led the party to higher ground, he stumbled into a swollen creek and was swept 30 feet downstream before he was plucked from the raging water by Shepard, who had raced after him.

... HAMMARSKJOLD

former Palestinian troops have entered the Gaza Strip disguised as "returning citizens."

Security precautions for Hamarskjold were unprecedented when he arrived at Lydda airport. The field had been blocked off for hours by police and only government leaders were allowed to get near him.

Hamarskjold's arrival coincided with plans in Jerusalem for the United States and Israel to issue a joint communique expressing Israel's support of the Eisenhower doctrine and ending its attempts at neutrality in the cold war.

Pro-Western Lebanon—first nation to accept the Eisenhower doctrine—meanwhile protested to Egypt against continuing Egyptian press attacks on the country.

Lebanon banned the import of Egyptian magazines and newspapers Wednesday night and it was disclosed the foreign ministry handed over a "soft" protest to Egypt against the anti-Lebanese campaign.

The Cairo radio and press has kept up a non-stop barrage of propaganda against both Lebanon and Jordan for their moves away from the Egyptian-Syrian pro-leftist "positive neutrality."

Other mid-east developments: Suez, Egypt—The 7,637-ton American freighter President Tyler arrived today for transit of the Suez Canal; the first Dutch ship transited the canal Wednesday since the canal was reopened.

Oslo, Norway—Reports received in Oslo said the Norwegian freighter Vernhill had been stopped at Suez in a dispute with Egypt over payment of canal tolls.

London—The Suez Canal Users Association today rejected Egypt's terms for operating the waterway as "insufficient," but the group cleared the way for member governments to let their ships use the canal.

$10,000 Given Safety Council. Drive By B.C.

The provincial government will contribute $10,000 to a B.C. Safety Council campaign this year.

The money was pledged by Attorney-General Robert Bonner after a four-man delegation from the council conferred with him Wednesday.

The council plans to spend $30,000 on promoting traffic safety this year. This is the first time it has received a direct government contribution.

Interest Rate Peak

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada interest rate rose to 4.03 per cent this week, .02 higher than last week's figure, the central bank reported today.

The rate is fixed at one-quarter of one per cent above the week's average yield for treasury bills, which rose to 3.78 from 3.76.

SIR WINSTON TO RETIRE IN 3 YEARS?

LONDON (AP)—The Daily Herald says Sir Winston Churchill plans to retire from the House of Commons at the end of the present parliament. Parliament has another three years to run. By then Churchill will be 85.

Food Prices Probe Promised By Tory Chief

Pledges Assistance
To Prairie Farmers

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP)—Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said today that if his party is elected June 10 the government will set up a royal commission to investigate price spreads on farm products.

In a statement issued aboard his campaign train, Mr. Diefenbaker said the royal commission would be asked to provide consumers with "full and complete information" on what happens to food prices between the farm and table.

He said farmers now receive a little more than 50 per cent of what is paid by consumers for food products, compared with a 58 per cent share a few years ago.

The promise to establish a royal commission was a major point in a summary of Conservative agricultural policy issued by Mr. Diefenbaker on the second of six days of campaigning in Ontario.

The statement reiterated the Conservative promise of flexible price supports to assure farmers "a fair price-cost relationship" on returns for their produce.

For Prairie farmers in particular it proposed that:

1. The federal treasury help farmers carry the loss when wheat is exported at below domestic prices to "good customers" in the Commonwealth and elsewhere.

2. Cash advances be paid on farm-stored wheat, since the Canadian wheat board was the only marketing agency for Prairie wheat and, in effect, owned it.

3. Develop "a more realistic crop insurance plan" for drought, flood and hail in co-operation with the Prairie provinces.

Strontium Boost In Wales Blamed On U.S. Tests

LONDON (CP)—A Welsh Labor member of Parliament claimed today that the incidence of radio-active strontium 90 has increased in Wales and suggested that American nuclear tests may be the reason.

The legislator, George Thomas, joined with other Welsh members of the Commons in a barrage of questions seeking information from Prime Minister Macmillan's government on the amount of strontium 90 in Britain.

Strontium 90 is a by-product of nuclear explosions. Some scientists claim it causes bone cancer and leukemia.

Malta: Integration Or Independence?

LONDON (Reuters)—Malta Governor Sir Robert Laycock conferred Wednesday with the colonial office on the threat of the Mediterranean island's premier to seek political independence instead of integration with Britain. Laycock arrived here last week and met Prime Minister Dom Mintoff said that if Britain did not treat the colony on equal terms it would seek independence.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe. Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Michaela Jennings, aged 10, of Columbus, Ohio, for her question:

What Is Sulphur?

Pure sulphur is a soft shade of canary yellow. It may be powdery, crystal or like a rock. In everyday life, we hardly ever see it in these forms. Yet it is one of the busiest elements behind the scenes in modern industry. You would never know, but sulphur is a necessary part of your body and also present in plants. For it is one of the elements necessary to make the protein foods which our bodies need to grow and repair themselves.

In our bodies, sulphur is hidden in tiny, invisible particles. We get our supplies from egg yolk foods and vegetables, especially cabbage and mustard plants. Sulphur also hides itself when it goes to work in industry. One way it hides is to combine with other elements to form entirely different compounds.

One of these compounds is sulphuric acid—a thick, clear liquid. This acid is strong enough to dissolve zinc and aluminum. It is used as a bleach and as a dissolver for cloth dyes. It plays a part in refining gasoline and bites into the metal plates for making lithographs and photoengraving. Chances are, it is present in a storage battery. It helps to make soap, glue and leather. And most of it is used to turn phosphate rocks into valuable plant fertilizer.

Another sulphur compound is the hypo used to develop photographic prints. Other compounds of sulphur play a part in making ink, germ and fungus killing salves, matches, fireworks, gunpowder and in vulcanizing rubber.

In olden days, sulphur was called brimstone—the burning stone. The yellow stone or powder begins to melt when heated a little above the boiling point of water. At about 480 degrees Fahrenheit, it becomes thick, brown liquid ready to burst into flame.

Brimstone was found long ago in Sicily. It came from the earth in the form of thick, suffocating gases. The gases finally settled into solid sulphur mixed with other volcanic compounds.

And so they do. A creamy colored ostrich egg weighs about three pounds. The nest must be big and strong enough to hold about 45 pounds of eggs. It is built by Papa Ostrich. He uses his strong claws to dig a shallow hole in the ground.

Papa stays close to the nest to see that the eggs are kept properly warm. He often heated a little above the boiling point of water. As a rule, he allows her to sit on the nest during the daytime while he takes over the job at night.

The sassy chicks do not have the soft, graceful plumage of their parents. When they are covered with spiky down and look like porcupines.

CONVICTS JOIN BATTLE AGAINST FOREST FIRES

BOSTON (UP)—Convicts joined firefighters today in a battle against runaway forest fires which have seared thousands of acres in parched New England.

The 48 prisoners joined National Guardsmen, firemen and volunteers in the fight as New England mobilized for the worst forest fire peril since 1947, when woodland blazes leveled more than 1,000 homes and killed 16 persons.

A state of emergency was declared in Massachusetts where, a state official predicted, "all hell will break loose" today. (See also page 8.)
